

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THURSDAY, September 20, 1883.

New Advertisements.

Received this Day.—S. S. Wolfe.
Chester Fair.—J. K. Henry, Secretary.
Insure Your Cotton Gins.—J. C. Caldwell, Insurance Agent.

Court.—The Court of Common Pleas was on Tuesday adjourned until to-morrow. Judge Fraser left on Tuesday evening's train for Columbia, where he expects to stay until Friday.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—We are requested to announce that services will be held in the Presbyterian church to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock—being Fast Day service; to-morrow night at 7 o'clock; and on Saturday night at the same hour.

Messrs. R. J. McCarley & Co. have an Elliott sixty-saw gin for sale, for which they will take Ninety Dollars—one-half of the original cost. The gin has only been used one season, and is in thorough repair. Call at once. *—Sept 18

Most of our merchants have returned from the North and the new stock of fall goods will soon be in the market. Some of them are cutting down their stock, owing to the cotton prospects, while others have purchased as largely as ever.

KEY FOUND.—A key to one of the lock boxes at the postoffice, No. 2,905, was found on yesterday in McIntosh's blacksmith shop, just back of Law Range. The key has been left at this office, and the owner can get it by calling and identifying it.

Enterprise.—The new machinery hall of Messrs. R. J. McCarley & Co. on Congress street is about completed. These enterprising gentlemen expect to open their new business in all kinds of machinery sometime in the early fall, and a brisk trade may be reasonably expected. The rapidly increasing popularity of improved machinery among the planters of the county is a noticeable fact.

THANKS.—We are indebted to the kindness of the secretary of the South Carolina State Press Association for a copy of the minutes of the eighth and ninth annual meetings—1882-83. The pamphlet is nicely gotten up by Messrs. Walker, Evans & Cogswell, of Charleston, and the acts and doings of our brothers in council prove to be quite interesting and entertaining. Our thanks to the secretary for his thoughtfulness.

SEPTEMBER FEVERS.—Physicians from all over the county report many cases of malaria and other serious types of fever. Severe colds attend the fever in almost every case, and some cases of pneumonia have resulted, and still others threaten. The damp, cool atmosphere during the nights, with the usual autumn impurities in the air, seem to be among the contributing causes to the present unfortunate health condition of the county. Prudence and care may nevertheless prevent many cases both of cold and fever.

THE COTTON MARKET.—The following is the report of cotton sold in this market on Wednesday:
Good middling.....10.00
Middling.....9.75
Strict low middling.....9.62
Low middling.....9.50
Strict good ordinary.....9.25
Market firm at these quotations.
New York spot cotton quiet at 10.37.
Futures barely steady: September, 10.40; October, 10.44; November, 10.55; December, 10.66; January, 10.77; February, 11.91; March, 11.04; April, 11.16; May, 11.26.

PERSONAL.—Mr. W. S. Rabb, of this place, left on Wednesday for Florida, where he expects to make his home. Mr. Rabb's friends will be sorry to learn of his departure. Our best wishes attend him in his new home.

An old friend and college-mate, Mr. L. A. Stuart, of Ninety-Six, S. C., made us a pleasant call on Wednesday. Mr. Stuart is traveling for a large machinery house in Baltimore, and we are glad to learn he is meeting with much success. His genial face and hearty laugh recall the memories of college life, and we shall always welcome him to Willsboro. Health, happiness and success to our friend and college chum.

"BUNKUM" LAWYERS.—Court-room scenes are amusing when high-flown attorneys figure upon the stage; and the following recent colloquy between two gentlemen of that fraternity rather tends to strengthen the assertion. A juror is objected to:
Mr. Blinn: "I object to Mr. Smith."
Mr. Emphious: "May it please the Court, we are willing, on the part of our client and we are pleased also to say that we concur in his act of kindness," to relieve Mr. Smith from the tedious, confusing and irksome duty of remaining in the inconvenient and contracted limits of the jury box while this present uninteresting case, in which he can have no imaginable interest or bias, is in progress."

FINE CATTLE.—Mr. W. H. Flenniken, of this place, now has a herd of cattle, for value, quality and condition, we venture to say, cannot be surpassed in the State. This may seem extravagant, but similar opinions have been expressed by some of the best informed men in the business, to say nothing of the fact that the established pedigree of all of them, prove them to be of the finest stock in the country. Mr. Flenniken has seven Jerseys and four Ayrshires. The Jerseys were purchased by him from a gentleman in Northern Maryland some time during the month of June, and the Ayrshires he has had for some time past. The Jerseys, it is claimed, produce the finest quality of milk, while the Ayrshires are widely known and valued for the fabulous quantity given. The value for the purposes under discussion will be readily appreciated when figures themselves are given. Mr. Flenniken is now milking three of his cows, and he furnishes butter regularly to four families in town, besides his own; and in addition he supplies ten families every day with milk. The food consumed by these cows, during this season of the year, is scarcely appreciable, or, at least, it may be safely said, that in this particular these new breeds of cows are no more expensive in feeding than the old scrub cows that roam over our hills and are indigenous to our climate. His largest Ayrshire took the premium to the amount of $45 at the State fair last year for being the finest in appearance and for giving the largest quantity and best quality of milk of any cow of similar breed in the State. This one now gives twenty quarts of milk regularly each day. Mr. Flenniken purchased his Jerseys with the expectation of selling their increase. There is but little chance or opportunity for imposition while dealing in this stock. The pedigree of each and every one of pure blood is fully recorded in the books of the American Jersey Cattle Club, with name and number, and parties purchasing can always write on to the secretary of the club, and in this way, to a great extent, prevent imposition. We earnestly hope that our people will soon realize that a change in this direction will be economy in the end. Take the figures given and they will speak volumes in support of our position.

BETHEL PRESBYTERY.

Churchmen in Council.—A Full and Instructive Meeting at Blackstock—Encouraging Condition of the Church, Seminary and College.

[REPRINTED FOR THE NEWS AND HERALD.]
Bethel Presbytery met in regular sessions at Blackstock on Saturday, the 15th inst. at 7 p. m., and adjourned on Tuesday to meet at Rock Hill on Friday before the first Sunday in April, 1884. The sessions were pleasant and full of busy work. The reports from the Church is shown that nearly all were supplied with the regular ministry of the Word of God. In several congregations there has been a gratifying increase in the number of communicants, and in many an increase in the number of attendants upon preaching and other public services. The whole prospect before us is hopeful. The executive committee were directed to arrange for the employ of an evangelist and report at the next stated meeting.

Members of the church living within the bounds of a different congregation from that in which their names are enrolled were urged to move their membership to the church in whose bounds their home is placed, and the sessions interested were directed to attend to the matter without needless delay.

The seminary at Columbia and Davidson College—both of which are in part under the oversight of this Presbytery—received due attention, and were both reported as doing a good and growing work for the Church, and both maintaining the high reputation they have gained. Resolutions were passed commending both to the fostering care of the churches.

The overtures sent by the General Assembly to the presbyteries were nearly all referred to special committees to report at the next meeting. An overture from the Fort Mill session asking "Can a church member be disciplined from dancing?" was answered in the affirmative.

The Rev. J. H. Thornwell was moderator and conducted the business of the body with much tact and skill. The sessions closed with a presbyterial prayer meeting, at which a large congregation was present and much interest manifested. The hospitality of the good people of Blackstock and of Concord church seemed to have no limit. The preaching was fine and very largely attended.

Its Praises are Heard by the Wayside and in the Busy Marts of Trade.
Messrs. Benson & Co., of Hartwell, Ga., Merchants, in conversation with the popular traveling salesman of the well known house of Cox, Hill & Thompson, Atlanta, Ga., said that Norman's Neutralizing Cordial was an excellent medicine and is giving satisfaction wherever used. They sell a great deal of it.

A gentleman representing the Rockford, Ill. Watch Co., told one of our customers that he heard Norman's Neutralizing Cordial highly spoken of by a host of railroad men, who recommended it to all whose duties called them to different parts of the country where they are subject to disorders of the stomach produced by changes of food and water of which this medicine is a specific counteractant.

THE NEW HIGH ARM

DAVIS.

DAVIS.

We want to tell you something about this new Sewing Machine, and we will tell it to you in a nutshell. To the point:

There is no under feed. It has fewer working parts than any other Machine. The old method of feeding below is entirely done away, and all the complicated connecting machinery dispensed with in this new Machine.

It is the easiest running, because it has the least number of parts to moss, and consequently, there is less friction and wear.

All its parts are made of the finest steel and tempered.

Steel rolls and pivots are used for bearings, to prevent friction and insure lightness of running.

All the work on this Machine is of the highest grade, and will compare favorably with the workmanship of a Winchester rifle.

It is a perfect model of neatness. It is a modern idea throughout. The mechanics are enthusiastic. The cranks and old foggies astonished. The ladies delighted.

Elegant styles of woodwork are made expressly for this "New High Arm Davis." Ladies, come and see it. Tailors, come and see it. Experts, come and see it. Mechanics, come and see it. Everybody, come and see it. AND LEARN WHAT IT WILL DO.

Twenty-five more of these Machines just arrived, and for sale by J. O. BOAG.

Machines delivered at your homes and full instructions given. A guarantee with every Machine sold. Over 450 of these Machines now in use in this country, and giving universal satisfaction after five years trial.

WATCHES.

A number of our customers are thinking of buying watches this winter, and where and what to buy are anxious questions with them. There are so many firms throughout the Union eager to make fortunes in a short time sending out their circulars and price-lists everywhere, that buyers become confused. Some buy because they are flattered by such attention from a distant party; others imagine they will get a watch at wholesale rates, if they send far off for it. If you will bring your price-list here, we can show you, in our stock, the same watch, if not a better, for the same price, I need not say. Besides there is a great advantage in buying from one who knows well, and one who is near by. You want your watches warranted, but what is the guarantee worth if the dealer is more than a hundred miles away? If he sells you an imperfect watch, it would be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, to have him make it good.

We keep quite a variety of watches of the best makers, in both Gold and Silver cases, which we sell at the lowest retail prices, guaranteeing to be as fine as any of the kind.

We keep also the Gold Standard Watch Case, which we recommend for its durability and strength. These cases are becoming very popular. We have on hand a sample of the Patent Duff Proof Case, which is rapidly gaining favor, because no dust or dampness can get in it. This watch will run under water.
