THE ENGLISH SPARROW.—The statement is made that English sparrows are responsible for the extinction of no less than six species of American birds in the last ten years. It has only been a few years since this bird has invaded our town in numbers, and in that time the absence of mocking and other native birds has been noticeable. They are peculiarly a town bird, and their pugnacious disposition makes them able to drive off all other birds. We trust that the war generally waged against them by small boys may be carried on with great vigor in Winnsboro.

PINE APPLES.—We were shown a twig from an apple tree on Monday which shows a curious development. On a twig about three inches long there was a cluster of small apples, most of them more or less developed, about twenty-five in number. They were very closely connected, and all of them showed full growth for the season. We believe this growth cannot be equaled in the country, and if further shown that Fairfield always "gets there" in fruit or otherwise. The apple tree was on Simpson Pickett's place, near Winnsboro.

THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE.—In view of the fact that this organization is about to be instituted in the county, we give these facts concerning it which were promulgated by the Commissioner of Agriculture of Georgia: It will be an organization to disseminate information, encourage home independence and self reliance, to resist extortion and to have concerted action in all matters of general interest to the agriculture of the country. It is to encourage any good results to be derived from changes that may be effected in their own systems and methods. It is better to do this than change the methods of others. The Commissioner further says that it is useless to attempt to bring the profession up by resolutions and pledges. There must be a conviction upon the mind of each individual farmer that a particular plan of action or radical change of system is better for him. The whole object of the Association, as announced, is to make all practical efforts to advance the interests of agriculture and to build up the prosperity of the farmers.

FOR DYSPEPSIA and Liver Complaint you have a printed guarantee on every bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. It never fails to cure. For sale by Dr. W. E. Aiken.

HAIR AND RAIN STORM.—A great hail and rain storm occurred at Winnsboro on Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The clouds to the northwest assumed a darkness about 4 o'clock that betokened a storm. At 5 o'clock the rain began to fall and was soon followed by hail. For fifteen minutes the rain and hail fell in torrents. This lasted for twenty minutes, and in that time the incredible amount of rain, 14 inches, fell. It was the greatest storm of the season, and did much damage to the crops. The hail stones were comparatively small in size, but even without them the growing crops would have been beaten down, for the rain was so heavy. As it was the rain and hail did great damage to the crops along the line of its route. The storm did not extend more than three miles in width and more than five miles in length, but wherever it reached it completely destroyed the cotton plant, besides doing great damage to other crops. Reports from the country show that the storm was equally as damaging wherever it appeared.

THE IX. ARTICLE AND THE DOTY DEBT.—The White Oak Club met this day in regular session at 4 o'clock, p. m., President Johnston in the chair. The minutes were called for, read and approved. 2. That a committee be appointed to take the matter in charge.

The following is the committee: J. H. Neill, W. T. McDowell, J. W. Bankhead and J. G. Brown.

At the call for new members Mr. W. J. Kelly and Samuel Johnston were proposed and elected members of this Club.

THE WINNAPOLIS TRAINING SCHOOL.

It will be observed that a notice appears in this issue respecting the examination of applicants for State scholarships in this school. We hope that the young women who have teaching in view, will take advantage of this excellent opportunity to fit themselves. No graduate of the school will have any difficulty in securing first-class positions as teachers. The school was incorporated by the last Legislature with an appropriation of fifty-one hundred dollars. Its object is to educate and train persons desirous of teaching. All persons satisfactorily completing the prescribed course of study and training receive diplomas and are entitled to teach without further examination in any of the public schools of the State as first grade teachers. Annually one young woman is to be appointed from each county to a beneficiary scholarship. This appointment is made by the State Superintendent of Education upon a competitive examination. The requisites are that each beneficiary shall not have the necessary means to obtain an education, shall have attained the age of eighteen, and shall teach one year, provided a position can be obtained, in the county from which she may be appointed. This scholarship is granted for only one session. The beneficiaries receive one hundred and fifty dollars per annum, which is paid in installments. The examination will be held on arithmetic, grammar, geography, U. S. history, reading, writing and spelling, and will be similar in character to the usual county examinations. Of the one hundred and fifty dollars, thirty dollars will go the Winthrop School for tuition, text-books and other school expenses of the beneficiary. The remaining one hundred and twenty dollars will be paid to the beneficiary to assist in defraying personal expenses. Board will be in private families $15 to $18. The session opens Sept. 1, and continues for nine months.

The course of study in the school includes the following studies and methods of teaching them: Reading, spelling, English language, arithmetic, geography, physiology, history of the United States, lessons on form and color, lessons on minerals, plants, and animals, elements of physics, writing, drawing, vocal music and calisthenics, psychology, history of education, school organization, management and practice in teaching.

Any one not understanding the scheme will be cheerfully answered by us on application.

WAR RECORDS.

The Percentage of a Fairfield Company—Comparison of Losses with those of Union Companies.

Messrs. Editors: In the May number of the Century Magazine there is an article by Col. Fox, giving the casualties of different regiments, both Federal and Confederate during the late war. And shows that they far exceeded those of the German-Franco war, though in this both sides were armed with improved breech-loading guns. While the infantry in the American war used the same rifle, the muzzle-loading Enfield and Springfield.

After giving statistics showing the numbers and percentage of losses in certain regiments, both for the war and in particular engagements, he says: "Company losses show still greater percentage in certain cases, and that the maximum of company losses is reached by Company I, 83rd Penn." This company carried 193 James on its roll including recruits, out of which number 47 were killed, or something over 24 per cent. number of wounded not given.

I can give some statistics of a Fairfield Company that are ahead of this.

Company G, 6th S. C. Infantry, was reorganized for the war in April, 1862, numbered 88 men rank and file, and received at different times 19 recruits, or a total of 107.

Of this number 33 were killed and mortally wounded, or nearly 33 per cent. and 61 or 57 per cent. wounded.

He further says that in the Union army the deaths from disease were nearly twice as many as from battle.

He shows that the regiments whose battle casualties were greatest lost to sickness by disease, and he inclined to think that pluck in withstanding disease had a good deal to do with this. The deaths by disease in the above-named company for the same time were only eight.

BEAR CREEK NOTES.

Since my last very little of interest has transpired in this community. We have had one homicide, referred to in your columns, and what came very near resulting in another between two negro families living on adjoining plantations.

The farming interests are rather below par just now. Rains so wet to work, but not so wet the grass would grow. Besides, hicc hands are not equal to demand.

Grain crops are not nearly up to anticipations, owing to drought in early spring. The gardens in some instances are very good. Your correspondent had the pleasure a week ago of eating potatoes, beans, onions, carrots, etc., (not at home though).

We have the champion huntsman down here. Mr. Arthur Abell, who shot an alligator in the creek last winter, succeeded recently in bringing down an enormous eagle, measuring 7 feet 2 inches from tip to tip, with talons fully the size of a man's hand, and much more effective.

Our Democratic Club met Saturday night, and transacted routine business. Owing to small attendance and lack of definite information as to what offices would be embraced in the proposed change to the Constitution, Art IX. was not adopted, but will be acted on at the next meeting, which will be two weeks from last.

A very pleasant event in the shape of a picnic occurred May 12 at Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Cooper's. At an early hour vehicles began to drive in, and the picnic grounds were soon thronged with the alarm for dinner was sounded fully one hundred responded to the dinner in the good things laid out on the table. Before and after the important part of the work was done, dancing, promenade and flirting, (I guess). The older and more soberly inclined lounged about in the piazza and shade, spending their time in conversation. The music was a pleasing feature of the occasion. This was furnished by an impromptu band, composed of Messrs. Heius, Williams and others, with violins accompanying. Any one not understanding the scheme will be cheerfully answered by us on application.

THE COUNTIES OF FAIRFIELD, RICHMOND and Kershaw were represented and every one took their leave fully satisfied of having spent a delightful day, and with best wishes for their kind, and genial host and hostess.

THE IMMIGRATION QUESTION.

Messrs. Editors: Col. Butler's letter, concerning the late immigration convention held at Hot Springs, N. C., is conclusive on all matters of which he speaks from personal knowledge. But in matters of inference it is not impossible for him to err. I am willing to admit—indeed no admission is needed—that they who think differently may also err. But in an enterprise of such importance we must think for ourselves. And there are certain facts which have been brought out in this discussion, and which serve to point to a different conclusion from that reached by Col. Butler. Surely they need explanation at least. These are the facts to which I refer.

1. Bishop Becker, of Savannah, I believe, set to work some time ago to bring into the South Roman Catholic immigrants in large numbers.

2. In the prosecution of his plan, he proposed it to a prominent railroad official who declined helping, but offered to take part in a wider scheme which should be non-sectarian in character.

3. Bishop Becker and other Roman Catholic bishops and prominent clergy in large numbers went into the scheme. They were at the convention, and were very prominent. Cardinal Gibbons was there and took an active part in it.

4. Did they give up the scheme of Bishop Becker, or did they set to work to carry it out by means of the organization, which was begun at that convention?

Perhaps an answer may be found in these statements which have been widely published, have been emphatically asserted to be true, and so far as known to me have not been denied.

1. They have the lead in organizing the association, Maj. Kelley is the chief director of the association. I believe it is not denied that he is a Roman Catholic.

2. The statements have been made by several of their members that their object is to inaugurate a new plan to bring Roman Catholics into the South before others get in and fill up the best openings.

3. The association is to be "under the charge of one of the best of our people, of one member from each Southern railroad, State county, city or town, or other corporation, trade industrial or other organization, situated east of the Mississippi river, that will contribute the sum of one thousand dollars toward the expenses of the said association on or before the 2nd day of July next."

The words italicized above open the door to religious organizations. Will any Protestant church be represented in that directory? Will the Roman Catholics fail to be represented with a chance before them?

I said that it was the plan of Cardinal Gibbons and his counselors to capture the Hot Springs Convention and the Southern Immigration Association, it is hard to see how the work of the plan could have been improved.

In this connection it may not be amiss to say that I have recently seen it stated that an organization has just been formed in Italy with a Roman Catholic bishop at its head for the purpose of promoting immigration to this country; and in another place from a Georgian, who is a Roman Catholic, that Bishop Becker has been at work to induce immigration from Southern Europe to the Southern States of America. Does not this look as if concerted work was going on at the two ends of the line—in Europe and here among us?

D. E. JORDAN.

How Men Die.

If we know all the methods of approach adopted by an enemy we are the better enabled to ward off the danger and postpone the moment when surrender becomes inevitable. In many instances the inherent strength of the body suffices to enable it to oppose the tendency toward death. Many however have lost these forces to such an extent that there is little or no help. In other cases a little aid to the weakened lungs will make all the difference between sudden death and many years of useful life. Upon the first symptoms of a Cough, Cold or any trouble of the Throat or Lungs, give that old and well-known remedy—Bosche's German Syrup, a careful trial. It will prove what thousands say it to be, the "benefactor of any home."

D. E. JORDAN.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems at first only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you that he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at McMaster, Br
