

honor among students in their relations to one another and to the faculty. No form of untruthfulness among themselves or toward the faculty (such, for example, as cheating at examinations), was for a moment tolerated. Any student suspected of such practices was cut by his fellow-students and compelled to leave. When a student was brought up before the faculty for any offense, no other question was asked but: "Did you have anything to do with the affair?" The answer was 'yes' or 'no,' and he was condemned or acquitted on his own statement. Sometimes a student might, on some technical ground, refuse to answer, but no one ever lied."

FROM OUR SOCIETIES

EUPHRADIAN

CHAS. S. SIMPSON, Editor.

Society work is well under way. Allow the editor to say just here that it is the duty of each and every member to attend society regularly and to do his duty whenever he is given any work, literary or otherwise, to do. Men, don't shirk your duty. When you are assigned to read, to declaim, or to debate, come up and do the best you can—nobody could ask more of you, and this is all your society expects of you. The benefit of the training in a literary society is inestimable, and need not be dwelt on here—suffice it to say that, though you may not see the importance now, of this training, the day will come when you will perhaps be hopelessly aware of it. Men, do not wait until it is too late—begin now.

Mr. J. F. Carter, '05, and Mr. Henry T. Bouchier, '08, members of the Euphradian Society, paid the society a visit last Saturday night.* Both addressed the society in a few well chosen remarks. The society is always glad to welcome its alumni within its walls.

The debate last Saturday night on the query, Resolved, "That the qualifications for voting in the Democratic primary should be the same as those in the general election," was won by the negative, represented by Messrs. Rich and McDonald.

Following are the appointments for the literary exercises for one and two weeks hence:

For October 17, 1908.
Readers—W. S. Bolt, A. McIntyre, D. C. Heyward, Jr.

Declaimers—McColl, Sligh and Haynesworth.

Orator—J. J. Bush.

Debate.

Affirmative: Carter and Ashley.

Negative: Hammond and Cooper, J. H.

Query: Resolved, That the pledge against hazing will work for the ultimate good of the University.

For October 24, 1908.

Readers—Perkins, Geirsch and Redwood.

Declaimers—Thomas, Hamer and D. B. McIntyre.

Orator—W. H. James.

Debate.

Affirmative: Lee, J. D., and Carter.

Negative: Izlar, Murdaugh.

Query: Resolved, That the United States should relinquish all claims to the Philippine Islands.

Dr. S. C. Mitchell, Prof. Frierson and Prof. Keith were elected honorary members of the Euphradian Society on October 10th.

Georgia Rides on a Rail

(Tune: "Ride Old Fresh on a Rail.")

Oh, we'll ride old Georgia on a rail,
Oh, we'll ride old Georgia on a rail,
Oh, we'll ride old Georgia on a rail,
Oh, we'll ride old Georgia on a rail!

Oh, Georgia, you had better lie low,
Oh, Georgia, you had better lie low,
For we'll ride old Georgia on a rail,
For we'll ride old Georgia on a rail.

Hika! Hika! Hika!
Sis! Boom! Bah!
Carolina! Carolina!
Rah! Rah! Rah!

CLARIOSOPHIC

W. B. KLUGH, Editor.

The following men have joined the Clariosophic Society: Messrs. J. A. Knight, C. W. Harper, J. B. Rawl, J. A. Mace, Joseph Murray, J. O. Crout, J. C. Duncan, H. C. Wilhelm, L. E. Sullivan, T. S. McMillan, E. N. Carns, T. E. Rector, D. C. Heustess, W. H. McMurray, E. B. Gary, Jr., H. L. Rembert, C. M. Sanders, J. K. Russell, L. C. Sanders and C. M. Boling.

The Clariosophic Society has taken out a policy on the hall for $3,000.00.

Saturday night is the time for the election of officers in the Clariosophic Society, for the first term. All members should be present.

Program for October 17, 1908:

Declaimers—Jayroe and Crout.

Reader—Jackson.

Orators—Forbes and Lumpkin.

Debate:

Query, Resolved, That the jury system should be abolished.

Affirmative: McDonald, Miller, Rector, V. J.

Negative: Beverley, Mellichamp, Ritter.

Program for October 24, 1908:

Declaimers—Warren and Gary.

Reader—Youmans.

Orators—Quattlebaum and Moody.

Debate:

Query, Resolved, That the qualifications for voting in the Democratic primary should be the same as in the general election.

Affirmative: McCarthy, Ferguson, Johnson.

Negative: Blake, Kinard, Officer.