Winthrop, we are wholly thine!

Carolina-A. & M., 19-10. Carolina-Clemson, we should figure!

With Winthrop here we can appreciate the term "Fair Week."

If that bunch expects victory, we would call them blind Tigers.

Peaches is our favorite fruit. We are going to like that aggregation at the game Friday.

Silence sometimes gives discontent.

A fellow thinks mighty highly of his friends to write to them from Pike's Peak.

The objection to automobiling is that one must re-tire so early.

FAIR WEEK

Fair week is always a gay time for the Carolina students. We have friends and relatives in town who have come, perhaps, to be with us. It is our duty to do everything for them that we possibly can. Let's make their trip pleasant.

Of course, no one will be rude to another purposely, but let us remember that whomever we meet might be a relative or friend to one of our best friends. So we should make it as pleasant as we can for all strangers in the city. By this means we can raise in the minds over the State the moral and social standards of the University. It may bring to our midst some of the best youth of the State.

And we might remind the faculty that those who send us here expect us to show them some attention. We cannot do this if special long assignments are given, or quizzes are held during the week. However, we have always found that a majority of the faculty are aware of this fact and have shown their feeling for humanity.

"LOVE'S LABORS LOST"

It has been an old, old practice after hard fought victories for the Carolina student body to hold parades, and serenade the women's colleges. After receiving the report from Thursday's game the Gamecocks proceeded in a body up Main Street, and then to Chicora College for Women. We regret to relate that no response was heard. Never before, so far as we know, has the Gamecock crowd failed to elicit a response.

Friday a note of appreciation and regret that they could not greet us came from the Chicora student body, and was heartily welcomed.

We do not know the reason for the reponse unheard, therefore, we refrain from any comment. But we would like to explain that the cheers were offered with the highest respect to the institution, its students and faculty; that the action of the students came from a feeling of the friendliest relations; and without a thought of evoking the slightest breach of the discipline of the college.

We know from the letter received that the students did not follow the dictates of their own hearts and minds. Furthermore, we believe that they will have the privilege in the future of welcoming the Carolina students and return their cheers.

FORCED UPON US

We apologize for this scant issue which we are forced to produce. We blush with indignation.

CAPITAL CITY LAUNDRY

THE race ain't always to the swift. VELVET is way ahead of those quick-cured tobaccos, even if it does wait two years for agein'.

University of South Carolina

Founded by the State in 1801 in the Capital City

The University is organized with the following divisions:

I. School of Arts and Science, with various courses of study in Languages, History, Science, etc., leading to the degrees of A. B. and B. S. Eight General Scholarships worth from $100 to $150 each.

II. School of Education, which seeks to prepare persons to serve the State as teachers, principals and superintendents of schools. In this course the A. B. is the degree conferred.

III. Graduate School, with advanced courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts.

Graduates of the colleges of South Carolina are admitted to the University in all courses except Law, without charge for tuition.

IV. School of Engineering, Civil and Electrical, leading to C. E. and E. E. degrees.

V. School of Law, with a course leading to the degree of LL. B. The presence of the various courts and the use of the State Law Library afford exceptional facilities.

Collego fees for the year, $18, including medical attention. For women college fees are only $12. For those paying tuition, $40 additional. Room, with light and service, $8 a year.

Active teachers have the advantages of the University without any charge whatever. Loan funds available. Dining Room Scholarships with board free at Steward's Hall.
