

IMPORTANT BUSINESS AT FACULTY MEETING

Regulation and Resolution Passed — Committees Appointed

A very important meeting of the faculty was held on February 21, at which matters of vital interest to the student body were passed on.

Mr. Christie Bennet reported on a meeting of the Inter-collegiate Intelligence Bureau held recently in Washington, at which he represented the University. The object of this bureau is to keep the national government in touch with college graduates who are trained along any line, and may be of service to the nation in time of war or peace. Also to keep positions out of politics, and to secure really competent men. Mr. Bennet is very enthusiastic over the bureau, and thinks there are prospects of great good, both to the government and to the universities in the organization.

President Currell appointed a committee composed of Professors Carson, Keith, and Mills to consider ways and means of putting the scheme into practice.

A regulation was passed requiring all students to take at least, eighteen hours in some major subject during their sophomore, junior, and senior years. This will force students to specialize on some one subject, thereby assisting them to choose their life's vocation.

A committee was appointed to supervise the indebtedness of the various student organizations.

Resolutions were passed on the death of Prof. W. K. Tate, formerly a member of the faculty.

GAMECOCKS HAVE MOST DISASTEROUS ROAD TRIP

most their own way in the first contest of the Gamecocks' road trip, winning 73 to 19. Going directly from Carolina's large court to the Newberry court found the Fosterites' team work far from its usual standard. Added to this Talley was forced to retire from the game on account of sickness. Weston, who took his place, played an excellent game, but had not played enough on the varsity five to aid much in the team work. Newberry scored almost at will during the entire game, sending in many substitutes toward the last. f Taylor was the individual star or Newberry, and Renkin also did excellent work.

Sims at guard and Captain Bowen at forward played the best game.

Presbyterian College.

The second game of the trip was far closer and faster than the first—resulting in a 34 to 28 victory by P. C.

P. C. got the jumps on the Gamecocks, scoring almost at will until Carolina got used to the floor and style of play. At one time the score was 15 to 1. In the last half, however, the Fosterites came back strong, scoring 20 for the Blue Stockings, but the lead was too great to overcome. The final score being 34 to 28.

Belk and McMillan were the stars for P. C.

Bowen and Waring doing the best work for Carolina.

Wofford.

Wofford defeated Carolina in the fastest game seen on the Spartanburg floor this season by a score of 41 to 28.

The game was hard fought from start to finish. Familiarity with the floor and superior goal throwing gave Wofford the advantage. The result was very much in doubt until the last few minutes.

Turner was the particular star for Wofford, throwing all but one of Wofford's free throws, and scoring many field goals. Hammond also played a good game, caging several very difficult shots.

For Carolina Waring and Martin played the best games.

Clemson.

Clemson outclassed Carolina in the last game of the road trip by the score of 54 to 27. Just before the game Captain Bowen had the misfortune to fall, hurting a finger so badly that he could not play. The outcome was never in doubt, but true to their name, the Gamecocks battered and patched, fought from start to finish. Clemson put up a strong, clean game, and deserved to win. Colbert, Garraux and Robertson playing an unbeatable variety of ball.

For Carolina Waring and Sims were the stars.
