

CAROLINA SCRUBS TIE
CLEMSON'S SECOND TEAM

Weird Exhibition of Football
Staged Before Large Crowd

The game Saturday between the Clemson and Carolina Scrubs was probably the most freakish game that has been seen on Davis field this year. Dame Fortune was liberal with her luck, but showed no partiality. Both teams made a touchdown on fumbles, and another on accidentally completed forward passes, over the goal line. Each team failed to kick one goal, but made good the other.

The first quarter was scoreless, the ball see-sawing about the center of the field. The Carolina backs, however, made big gains thru the line at times, while the Clemson team was unable to make first down.

The second quarter began with the ball on Carolina's 30 yard line after Clemson had kicked. The Gamecock Scrubs again began their heavy line plunges by Richards and Gressette. In an attempt to make an off tackle play, Richards was thrown backward for a loss by a Clemson man breaking thru the line, and at the same time lost the ball. Boggs, the Clemson man, quickly recovered, picked up the ball and raced the remaining 25 yards for an easy touchdown. Goal was missed.

Scarcely three minutes later Clemson fumbled on her 60 yard line. Gressette, breaking thru the Tiger line, picked up the fumble and out ran the Clemson quarterback for a 60 yard run to a touchdown. Gressette kicked goal. The half ended with the Gamecocks on the offensive.

The second half opened with a kick off to Clemson. The Tigers, failing to make first down, kicked. The Carolina backs made long gains thru the line by well executed line plunges, but were often thrown for losses due to the Tigers breaking thru the line. However, a steady drive down the field brought the ball to Clemson's 15 yard line. From here Gressette made a successful forward pass to Lambright over the goal line. Two Clemson men broke thru and nearly prevented Gressette from throwing the pass, but the big Carolina scrub merely pushed the Tigers aside, took a step backward and threw the ball successfully to Lambright. Failed to kick goal.

In the last quarter the Clemson Tigers played their best. Having intercepted a forward pass, they advanced the ball by repeated gains thru the line and by end runs to Carolina's 10 yard line. Here the Gamecocks held like a stone wall against three repeated attacks. Seeing that it was impossible to pierce the line the Clemson quarterback dropped back to attempt a forward pass. Richards knocked the ball into the air, but the Clemson end caught it and made a touchdown.

The game, tho ragged, was interesting thruout. Neither side was penalized and no time out, for injuries were called for either side. Gressette, Richards and Layton starred for Carolina in the back field while Thomas, Brown and Gelser did well in the line. Lambright played well on right end. For Clemson Capt. Sams and Poe featured in the back field. Cann and Cannon gave the best exhibition in the line.

The line-up:

Carolina (13)	Clemson (13)
LambrightLE.Langston
ThomasLT.Cannon
BrownLG.Thomason
C. McMillanCCann
GelserGR.Keyserling
CateRTBiales
WrightRESwetenburg
CokerQBCrisp
RichardsLHBoggs
GressetteRHPoe
LaytonFBSams

Score by periods:

Carolina Scrubs0	7	6	0—13
Clemson Scrubs0	6	0	7—13

Touchdowns, Carolina, Gressette and Lambright; Clemson, Boggs and Crisp. Substitutions, Carolina, McGohtlin for Gelsen and Gelser for McGohtlin; Clemson, Thomas for Boggs. Referee, "Rut" Osborne (Woffard); umpire, "Plub" Osborne (Woffard).

Dr. Gee Returns from Chicago

Dr. Wilson Gee of the University's department of Rural Social Science, has returned from Chicago where he attended the second National Country Life Conference, held Nov. 8-11.

This was the second conference of its kind held in the United States. The remarkable amount of work done by the association which was reported on at this conference demonstrates its usefulness for bringing together the various national and state organizations and agencies engaged in the improvement of country life. The program this year was built around the subject of rural health.

Among the speakers were the Hon. A. F. Lever of South Carolina, member of the Farm Loan Board; Dr. George Vincent of the Rockefeller Foundation, and other noted men interested in rural improvement, from various colleges and organizations thruout the country.

SHEPPARD'S STUDIO

1423 Main Street

Capitol Cleaning and Pressing Co.

1211 1-2 Main St. Opposite Liberty National Bank Building

WER EALLY PRESS'EM AND RETURN THEM ON HANGER

SUITS PRESSED WHILE YOU WAIT

Peone 1394

J. M. MACK, Prop.

Clemson Agricultural College

W. M. RIGGS, President.

(a) Agriculture—Majors in: Agronomy, Botany, Chemistry, Animal Husb. & Dairying, Entomology, Veterinary Science, Horticulture, Soils.

(b) Agricultural Education.

(c) Agriculture, (d) Chemistry, (e) Chemical Engineering, (f) Civil Engineering, (g) Electrical Engineering, (h) Mechanical Engineering, (i) Textile Engineering, (j) General Science. (Agri. & Ind. Arts Elective, Natural Science Elective, Physics & Chemistry Elective.)

This Space Reserved for

The Liberty
National Bank

MARMAC HOTEL

European

DINING ROOM

Special Sunday Dinners

Open Until Midnight

Gervais Street

Opposite Capitol

F. D. McNULTY, Prop.

Coles'

THE NEW MEN'S SHOP

1213 Gervais Street, Facing the Capitol, Next to New Post Office

WE HAVE a new complete shop for men and catering to the wants of COLLEGE STUDENTS, carrying the finest in Men's Furnishings and the exclusive designed and tailored Stratford Clothing. Our importations of Silk Shirts and Neckwear cover a large range of Exquisite patterns, in addition carrying Men's Hats and all other gentlemen's accessories.

YOUR INSPECTION IS EARNESTLY DESIRED

Coles'