BONEY SPEAKS BEFORE PRESS CLUB AT MEET

"In my opinion," he continued "the great source of journalistic power lies not in the daily press, strange as that may seem but in the country weekly, for after all they are the publications that reach the majority of the voters and their strength as formers of political opinion can not be underestimated.

In discussing the problem of free advertising, Mr. Boney said, "Free ads should not be granted unless it is for the public's good.

"I think that the fewer rules a newspaper has the better will be that particular paper, for rules only tend to confuse and to confound. My advice to a prospective journalist," said Mr. Boney, in finishing "is this: get into the game as soon as possible and above all stick to it, otherwise one might as well go into some other line of endeavor."

Professor McKissick then introduced state Senator W. W. Smoak, editor of the Walterboro Press and Standard. Mr. Smoak spoke very briefly on the advisability of going into the weekly field. "There is no better field of journalism for a young man just starting out than this one," said Senator Smoak. Senator West of the Abbeville Press and Banner was also present, but he did not talk as he excused himself early in the evening because of a business engagement. Mrs. Patrick, a prominent South Carolina newspaper woman also made a brief though timely talk.

After the talks, the club retired to Professor McKissick's apartment where Mrs. McKissick took the leading part much to the gratification of all of the club members. With the aid of the coeds present Mrs. McKissick served delicious refreshments which proved that journalism isn't the only art known to the McKissicks.

Don't ever call anyone a model person. Dictionary definition goes thus: Model:—A cheap imitation of something of real value.

Remember that February 22nd. was the birthday of the father of this free country, they say it's free but who the H— wants to be free nohow? George Washington. He's th' guy who ain't ever told a lie. In fact, he never had a cause to tell a lie—He lived before prohibition came into effect and he never went to college. That reminds me of the one I heard on a well known "campus character." He is known for the monstrosity of his prevarications when in the presence of taciturn listeners. The talkative one was asked why it was that he had traveled so much and never seemed to want to settle down. His answer was something like this: "The wanderlust is in the blood, in fact, my dad moved so much that every time he hitched the mule to the wagon all the chickens flopped over on their backs and held their feet up to be tied."

In the background of all their personal vanity, women themselves have still their impersonal scorn—for "WOMAN" F. W. Nietzsche.

Woman's vanity is not caused by beauty they possess, but by beauty they believe they possess.

"It ain't the school I don't like," said the little boy, "It's the principal of the thing."

If I had the strength of Hercules, the daring of Achilles, the forensic ability of Demosthenes and the learning of Socrates, I would reach to the far Norwegian shore and pluck there from a tall and stately pine and thrusting it into the bowels of Vesuvius—draw it forth and paint in tall glowing, luminous letters across the blue majesty of the ethereal dome, these immortal words: "Will Rogers for next president of the United States.

RICHMOND AND OREGON HAVE DEBATE HERE

and Wofford have met and defeated numerous institutions. Their latest win was over a team from the University of West Virginia, who with A. T. Daniel they defeated the past Saturday night.

Both contests, if not otherwise indicated, will be held in the chapel. The contests start at 8 o'clock. According to the debating council, one or both of the contests may be held either at Columbia College or Chicora College. If such is the case, notices to that effect will be posted in prominent places upon the campus.

This sheet is heartily in favor of the companionate type of marriage. We have seen too many of the other type go on the rocks. Don't you think that a man and his wife should be on speaking terms, should be seen together occasionally—not too often tho', should be friends and that no one should be married to a person they have known for only a few minutes before the "tie-up." It's a great idea, but who is going to burn the beans, assume the responsibility of curing the Janitor and washing Junior's face before he is packed off to some institution? Shades of Ben Lirdsey.

Gentlemen:

I am a veteran of the Edgeworth army, still in active service.

I make this claim, challenging all comers, to have smoked Edgeworth and nothing else but Edgeworth (when it was possible to get it) for a longer period than any other person within the scope of your territory.

I have smoked Edgeworth for twenty-one years and will soon start on the twenty-second.

I'll admit to having tried other brands, including so-called high-class, high-priced blends and mixtures, enough to appreciate and satisfy myself of the superiority of Edgeworth.

In all these years I have never had one can of Edgeworth that varied in flavor or otherwise.

Yours very truly,

For Young Men who take Nothing for Granted

ON THE CAMPUS of every college, in the conference rooms of every business house young men are standing up and rejecting time worn ideas. They are going to work thing out for themselves,—and those young men of the much abused generation are the hope of this nation! To them we dedicate Nottingham Fabrics,—clothes designed without fear of tradition or regard for precedent. You'll want to see the new spring showing.
