SOCIETY TAKES IN NEW MENTaylor, Wilbur, Crane and Heyward Join Euphradian

Nathaniel Heyward, Charles C. Wilbur and Arthur Crane were elected into membership of the Euphradian Literary Society at its meeting on February 12th. In their initiatory speech, all three gentlemen expressed themselves as being pleased to be members of the Euphradian.

The feature of the literary part of the program was a declamation by M. L. Hicks. Witticisms, given by Bland Hammond, were unusually good. The matter of the opening of the society library was brought up by Wilson O. Weldon, chairman of the committee in charge. It was decided to appoint a librarian who would dispense the keys to the room at the rate of 15c a piece, and who would also open the room to members desiring to use it. This position was given to M. L. Hicks.

MRS. A. C. MOORE DIES IN ALABAMAWIFE OF LATE PROFESSOR*News of Death Received Here—Will Be Buried In Spartanburg

News of the death of Mrs. Vivian May Moore, widow of the late Andrew Charles Moore, has been received on the campus. Since the death of Professor Moore last September Mrs. Moore had moved her residence from the campus and at the time of her death was visiting her sister in Mobile, Ala. Mrs. Moore's demise came early Sunday morning as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered some three weeks ago. The body was sent to Spartanburg, S. C., to take its place by that of her devoted husband, who last September was laid to rest in the old family burying ground at Moore, S. C., where for generations the illustrious family has interred its dead. The Moore family has played an outstanding role in the history of upper South Carolina since the earliest days of its settlement, and its contributions to the welfare and advancement of the state are innumerable and invaluable.

The passing of Mrs. Moore and that of her husband in so short a time removes from the Carolina campus one of its most venerable and beloved couples. For the last thirty years their interest in the students and their genial hospitality to everyone have built for them an imperishable monument of love in the hearts of the students.

OFFICIAL ENROLLMENT REACHES 1,625 MARK

The figures for the present semester are not quite complete, but it is not thought that there will be any more specials or irregulars to register. It has not yet been determined just how the enrollment is divided among the different schools or the final number for the year, but it is not likely that there will be any change in the above figures.

The large number of co-eds in the University make it about the second largest school for women in the State, Winthrop being the largest. It will be noticed that in the registration for the semester that the proportion of women is greater than men. In the number of men the University is about on a par with Clemson, the largest boy's school in the state.

Lanham Speaks Sun. Y ServicesGave Forceful and Practical Talk To Students

"Benefits of the Sunday School," was the subject discussed by T. B. Lanham, secretary of the State Y. M. C. A. meeting last Sunday evening in the University chapel. Marked by sound ethical advice and fitting illustrations, the discussion was thoroughly enjoyed by the small but attentive audience.

In the beginning Mr. Lanham asked "How many went to Sunday School this morning?" and endeavored to show how interesting and impressive the lessons have been lately.

Next he reviewed several of the recent Sunday School lessons, taking up first "The Purpose of the Bible." He said he believed with John when he said that we must study the Bible in order to believe in Jesus Christ.

"The individual who is wrong is always a coward," the speaker next said when discussing the subject of "Forgiveness." By the use of a fitting illustration he showed that one of the hardest things in the world to do is to go to someone and ask him to forgive you for something you have done.

"When did you last pray?" and "Do you believe in prayer?" were the questions next asked by the speaker when discussing the subject of "Prayer." He said that we depend on prayer when in trouble or distress but forget it at other times.

In closing, Mr. Lanham said that the three essentials for Christian growth were "Prayer," "Knowledge of the Bible," and "Service," and urged his listeners to always remember these and try to fulfill them.

Young ladies from Chicora and Columbia Colleges were the special guests of the members. The only thing wrong was that they had to leave too early, in the opinion of their "dates."

Dr. and Mrs. Havilah Babcock, and their son, left for Appomattox, Va., on the morning of February 16 to attend the burial of the former's younger brother, Edward Houston Babcock. Mr. Babcock was a student at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and was spending a few days at his home in Appomattox following the close of the first semester of his school work. He was planning to leave for Columbia this week, in order to enter the University of South Carolina shortly after the opening of the second semester.

At the present writing, all details are not known of the sad death. However, it is known that Mr. Babcock and a young friend left their automobile in front of a filling station while they went inside to make a small purchase. As they were reentering their car, a heavy car driven by an intoxicated man crushed into them, killing both boys.
