POWERFUL L. S. U. TIGERS ARRIVE FOR GAME BOXERS ANSWER CALL ON 15th

ALLISTON TO ISSUE INITIAL CALL ON 15th

Few Candidates Back From Sophomore Team of 1929

MANY TO TURN OUT FOR

Watts, Brailsford, Scott, Others
To Form Nucleus For Bird
Mittmen

Coach Jack Alliston will issue the first call for the University of South Carolina boxing candidates on the 15th of the month. Most of the candidates have all been visiting the gymnasium periodically getting in shape for the ring season but the prospects for the various berths on the team will get down to serious work within the next week.

Many men are back from last year's squad, but even at that, the majority of the prospects out of which the 1930 team will be formed, is of young material. Last year, the Birds succeeded in winning two out of five meets with an entire sophomore team swapping blows for the Garnet and Black. Carol Easler, Tommy Scott, and Poliakoff are all back for the bantamweight call, and J. W. Woods, Jimmy Brailsford, who fought in this division last year, Haywood Clarkson, and Carl Brown give Coach Alliston a strong nucleus around which to build his featherweight contender.

"Red" Watts and Sam Fail are the outstanding candidates for the light-weight berth. Watts will probably represent Carolina in this division if he continues his good work of last year. The welterweight class is offering something of a problem to the coaches. Harold Wilson would ordinarily cause any coach to cease worrying over a welterweight fighter, but Wilson suffered an arm fracture during the summer while attending a swimming resort, and it is doubtful if he will be available to this year's squad. Other candidates out for this division are J. W. Green, John Scott, and Stony Hartin.

In the middle weight class, W. C. Callahan and Alvin McCravy, each of whom represented Carolina last year, are expected to battle it out for the honor during the coming season. Riley Gettys will be among those out in the light-heavyweight division and DeVaughan is favored for the heavy-weight honor.

In addition to these many others will probably answer the call.

New Quarter

Hap Edens, who will relieve Bru Boineau of his quarterback duties against the Louisiana State University Tigers. "Happy" has been Bru's understudy all year, but his splendid work when called on for reserve service has won for him a place as a regular. Boineau has been shifted to his old post of halfback and it is hoped that the change will bring out some of Bru's fine work of 1929.

CROSS-COUNTRY TRACK TEAM HERE

Coach Norman Desires Long-Distance Men to Report

After a two-year lapse, South Carolina is going to have another cross-country track team.

Plans are under way for the arrangement of cross-country runs with Davidson and Presbyterian College with the dates being Davidson at Davidson on November 15 and P. C. here on November 22. Neither date has definitely been passed on.

The most recent cross-country track team of the University was in 1928 when the Gamecocks met one opponent, Furman, over a 3-mile course. The course was from the field house out toward the fair grounds and back.

Since the early '90's when Carolina had an annual cross-country running outfit, the sport has not been popular here, but track candidates, especially the long-distance runners, will welcome its return here.

GROSS CHOSEN UTILITY MAN ON ALL-SALLY TEAM

Making the all-star team your first year in professional baseball is not a bad beginning. Jay Gross, a former student at the University, made his debut in pro ball last summer with Columbia in the Sally League. Gross was chosen as the utility man on the all-star team selected by the managers

The era of dope upset is upon us, and, judging from the early start, it seems that we are going to have a bumper crop this season. First, there was Carolina's easy defeat of Duke. Then Duke came back on the following Saturday to maul Virginia's Cavaliers, who in two previous encounters had scored 82 points, by a one-sided margin. Our own Gamecocks, doped not more than three touchdowns worse than the Golden Tornado and given by many so-called experts an excellent chance of an upset victory by virtue of having played two games to Tech's none, resigned their fate to the gods of ill luck as freak breaks coupled with the ability of a powerful football team to rout the Birds by a top-heavy score and make Tech's opening date a whooping success.

When Russ Cohen trots his Louisiana Bengals on Melton Field tomorrow, fans will be given a peak at the nation's high scorers. Captain Walter "Dobie" Reeves and his mates have been pitching one big celebration since the opening of the season, piling up 232 points in three engagements to date. Alabama is second with slightly over a century's worth of points. Louisiana State is said to have the same type of team that Clemson has, big and with plenty of reserves. A strong indication of how Carolina will fare with her traditional rival at the state fair this year will be given when the Birds stack up against Louisiana tomorrow.

Louisiana State not only boasts of the highest total of points registered this season by a single team, but also of the nation's leading individual scorer. Joe Almokary, sophomore full-back for the Tigers, has crossed the goal lines of opponents nine times in addition to kicking eight extra points. Almokary, the successor to Jess Tinsley, who in 1928 and 1929 was chosen on all-southern teams, has filled his place in great fashion. He is a hard line plunger, an excellent forward passer and a punter of fair ability and already he has attracted attention of southern sports fans.

Tiger Tackle

Bill Allen, L. S. U. junior, who ranks as one of the Southern Conference outstanding tackles. Allen weighs 195, is big, fast, a hard fighter, and a tireless worker. He has plenty of spirit, and, according to Coaches Cohen and Bernie Moore, is one of the main reasons why the Tigers have done so well in their early-season walk-aways. Allen will be seen at one of the tackles when the Birds and Old Lou line up on Melton Field tomorrow.

BIG DEMAND FOR CLEMSON TICKETS

According to Dr. R. K. Foster, director of student activities, the ticket sale for the Clemson-Carolina game at the State Fair on October 23 is much greater than in 1929 at this time.

Orders have been fairly pouring in and all indications point to another overflow crowd to see the Gamecocks battle their arch rival, Clemson, for the last time as a State Fair classic. Carolina and Clemson will meet next year on or after Thanksgiving day.

The heavy demand for pasteboards this year has about the same setting as last year. It may be gleaned from a peek at the schedules of the two teams that the probability is very great that both Clemson and Carolina, as last year, will be undefeated in the State by the time of the big game. Clemson's only State opponent between now and October 23 is Newberry, which shouldn't cause the Tigers to call any secret practices in the way of preparation, and Carolina rests as far as State opposition is concerned, taking on only L. S. U. before doing battle with Josh Cody's eleven.

OULLA ANNOUNCES FALL TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD SOON

Jack Oulla, captain and star player of the 1929 state champion South Carolina netmen, who has consented to assist as coach in the making of the 1930 Gamecock court five, announces that a fall tournament will be held within the next ten or twelve days. All members out for the tennis team will take part in this tournament. The purpose of the tournament will be primarily to get a line on the material at hand.

If plans go through right, Carolina will have, for the first time in quite a while, a freshmen tennis team. There are many good prospects available and definite action along this line is expected to take shape within the next few days.

SKINNER BROTHERS ATTENDING BROWN

Friends of the Skinner brothers, W. M. and O. E., who were freshmen at Carolina in 1928, will be glad to learn that they are both doing well at Brown University. They are outstanding candidates for the two tackle berths on the Brown football team. W. M. Skinner is said to weigh 215 pounds now and O. E. Skinner about 205, both being about 15 pounds heavier than when they attended South Carolina.

HIGH SCORERS OF NATION TO OPPOSE BIRDS

Laval Changes Lineup By Placing Edens At Quarterback Post

BRU BOINEAU AT HALF

Gamecocks To Meet Real Test In Heavy Louisiana-State Eleven

With the hope that some of the lost prestige scattered around Grant Field last Saturday can be regained to some extent, the South Carolina Gamecocks have ended a week of secret practice and now await the whistle of the referee as a signal to begin attack on the Louisiana State University Tigers.

The Tigers from over in Louisiana are the nation's leading scoring aggregation and a victory over the Bengals would appease, to a large extent, the crushing victory administered to the Birds in Atlanta last week.

One notable change is expected to take place when the Birds line up against Russ Cohen's men—Hap Edens will probably be at the quarterback position and Bru Boineau running at his old position of halfback. With this change it is hoped will come a return to 1929 form of Boineau. Relieved of his signal calling responsibilities, Bru is expected to step out as in old times.

This is probably the only change which Coach Billy Laval will make for the L. S. U. game. The Gamecock mentor seemed quite pleased with the showing of the Bird linemen in the Tech game, blaming the run-away score on the breaks of the game and the poor showing of the backs. The Birds should line up as follows against L. S. U.:

Hughey	left guard
A. Correll	center
Freeman	right guard
Shand	right tackle
Gressette	right end
Boineau	half back
M. Blount	half back
Edens	quarter back
Hicks	full back

Golden Tornado Routs South Carolina Birds

Aspiring to their second conference victory of the year, the South Carolina Gamecocks suffered a crushing setback at the hands of Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado last Saturday in Atlanta by the score of 45 to 0.

Aggressive and alert football on the part of the Georgians enabled them to take advantage of the breaks which Carolina so often made in behalf of the Tech scoring and piled up seven touchdowns on the South Carolinians.

Carolina really played a much better game than the score would indicate, at times sweeping through the Tech defense only to fumble and lose the ball once a scoring position was reached. Four of the touchdowns made by the Tornado were direct results from fumbles and intercepted passes.

Ed Dunlap and Pat Barron were the outstanding stars for Georgia Tech while Captain Bob Gressette played a smashing game for the Gamecocks. The game was witnessed by
