Will Open Bids Soon For War Memorial

Construction On Building To House Archives To Begin At Early Date

The building committee of the South Carolina war memorial commission will meet at 11 o'clock on the morning of November 14 in the office of Governor Blackwood to open bids on the construction of the war memorial soon to rise on the University campus. The contract will be let as soon as possible after the opening of the bids. The bids will be opened in the presence of the entire committee, of which Governor Blackwood is chairman.

The building is to stand on the corner of Sumter and Pendleton streets on the site formerly occupied by Flinn Hall. It will house the archives of the South Carolina Historical commission and will be open to the general public and to all University students. It is expected to be an invaluable addition to the research facilities of the University and will provide access to a large amount of research material on South Carolina history nowhere else available.

The commission has approximately $118,000 for the structure; of this, approximately $33,200 is a grant from the federal government and the balance, $85,000, has been raised principally through the commission's efforts.

The material out of which the building is to be constructed has not yet been definitely decided upon. The specifications which will be given prospective bidders provide for bids on four different

Gamecock Moves To New Office

The Gamecock offices will be moved to room 1, tenement 16 this afternoon. All business of the paper in the future will be transacted from the new office.

The offices will consist of a regulation three room dormitory suite and it is felt will considerably relieve the need for space which has been felt in the old offices.

The move was made imperative by the fire hazard in the Extension building. University authorities have regretted this hazard because of the valuable records stored in the building and are moving all offices out of the building that can be housed in any other place on the campus.

It is planned to board up the lower part of the Extension building as soon as possible.

FERA Students Receive Pay Friday

All students who are receiving FERA aid are urged to go to the treasurer's office as early as possible Friday morning and receive their pay checks.

Salaries ranging from $10 to $20, depending upon the number of hours that they work, will be paid to 152 students. The pay roll, which is the first of the semester, will total $2,250.

The funds available for the payment come from the federal government and have been placed in the hands of University authorities.

Yale And Princeton Set Styles For Collegians

Yale and Princeton set the fashions for men in America, according to Leonard Heuslein, advertising manager for John David company, New York, in the American Campus, national collegiate publication.

Distinguishing between style and fashion, Mr. Heuslein said that style was an individual idea that might or might not become a fashion. Fashion, he said, was a generally accepted manner of dress. Because they wear their customary campus attire at home on vacation, Yale

Societies Hold Joint Session

Delegates Get $35 Expenses Of Representatives To Rock Hill Subject Of Warm Discussion

Meeting in joint session to select delegates for the coming intercollegiate debates in Rock Hill, and to provide funds for the trip, members of the Euphradian and Clariosophic literary societies kept the Clariosophic hall in an uproar for an hour Tuesday night. It was finally decided that the debating council would furnish the delegates with thirty-five dollars to defray all expenses.

Ernest Stokes, treasurer of the debating council, declared that funds at his command were very low, urging the societies to provide the money from some other sources. This led to a discussion of expenses debaters had incurred on trips to New Orleans and New York City, with Ira Koger declaring that it cost approximately forty cents per word for each person in a debating audience out of the state.

The debater who will represent the University at Rock Hill will be chosen within a few weeks by a contest held by the two societies.

Pep Meeting Held Tonight

Rivers Is In Charge To Wake Sleeping Spirit Is Object Of Huge Pep Meeting

That the old Carolina spirit is not dead, but merely slumbering will be the object of the huge pep meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the chapel.

Backed by the co-ed K. S. K., who early this week inaugurated a drive to secure attendance of all girls at the meeting, the cheerleaders headed by Tiny Rivers plan to make this pep meeting the biggest of the year. Co-operation on part of the men's K. S. K. is expected to make the student body turn out in a record breaking number.

"The object of the pep meeting is not so much to cheer the team on to victory against V. P. I., as to prove that Carolina students can take in the face of defeat," said head Cheerleader Tiny Rivers, in urging every student to attend the pep rally this evening.

No Train To Furman Game Announced By Foster

No Requests Have Been Made For Special Train To Greenville

"No requests have been made for a special train to Furman," said Dr. R. K. Foster, director of student activities, this morning. "And consequently, no attempts have been made to do anything about it."

With the Carolina-Furman game a little more than two weeks away, there is little prospect of chartering a special train for the Furman contest because of the late date. Student demand was not great enough to even consider the

Men Chosen For Law Club

Brown Makes Selections Williamson, Spencer, Hawkins And Funderburke Named Chairmen

Members of the Law Federation were selected for the four law clubs by J. Wiley Brown, president of the federation, and the temporary chairman of the clubs at a meeting last Tuesday in the law building.

The four clubs are: Woods Law club, L. A. Williamson, chairman; Rutledge Law club, C. W. F. Spencer, chairman; Petigru Law club, W. B. Hawkins, chairman; and Marion Law club, H. W. Funderburke, chairman.

The above-named chairmen are temporary, having been appointed by Mr. Brown for the purpose of selecting members for the clubs. A chairman will be elected by each club at its first regular meeting.

The law federation, of which all law students are members, is divided into four clubs so as to facilitate the administration of the moot court, an institution formed in order that law students may get practical experience in the preparation of briefs.

Gamecock Not In S. C. P. A.

Expense Bans Entrance Officials Decide Membership In Press Association Not Worth Money Involved

The Gamecock, following a precedent set last year, will not enter the South Carolina Press association this year.

The decision was reached after a conference of student officials of the Gamecock last Monday. It is felt by the officials that membership in the association is not warranted because of the expense involved and because of the difference in the policy of the Gamecock with that of other college newspapers in the state. Most of the other college papers in the state are under some form of faculty supervision and for this reason it is felt that a fundamental difference in policy exists which would make the discussions at the annual convention of little value to officials of the Gamecock.

It is also felt that the contests held each year by the association to deter-

Games Now At Two All

Fifth Contest Saturday V. P. I.'s Hard Fighting Team Resembles The Work Of Clemson This Year

With the count standing two—all the Carolina Gamecocks and the Virginia Tech Gobblers oppose each other tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the Municipal Stadium at the fair grounds.

The two teams have won alternately since their first encounter in 1925. The Gobblers won that year to the tune of 6-0. The Birds came back in 1926 with the overwhelming win of 19-0. With increasing anger the Gobblers next time unexpectedly slaughtered their feathered foes 35-0. Maintaining the practice of give and take the locals, led by Harold Mauney and Earl Clary, last year overcame the first half stand Tech made and captured the scoring 12-0.

Carolina faces in V. P. I. a team that so far this season resembles very much the work of Clemson. Tech has gone down fighting before Florida, Maryland, and Washington and Lee this year. Each time it was a last quarter rally on the part of her opponents that wrested victory from her.

"My boys have been playing some good football and I expect them to keep it up this week," says Henry Redd, Va. Tech mentor. "I look for a close, hard-fought game between two elevens that look to be evenly matched."

Coach Laval has been shifting both line and backfield this week in an effort to achieve more offensive power.

Co-eds Approach Venus De Milo

Carolina girls compare very favorably with the original Venus de Milo and 25 selected movie stars, it was found in a recent survey conducted through the University infirmary.

The Carolina co-ed is just a bit larger than the Hollywood queen and a mite smaller than the ancient beauty. The survey shows the height of the three to be the same.

Following is a table of comparison:

	Actress	Venus	U. S. C.
Weight	115	115	115
Height	5' 4"	5' 4"	5' 4"
Bust	33"	34"	34"
Hips	35"	37"	36"
Calf	12"	13"	13"
Ankle	7"	8"	8"

Constance Bennett, Hollywood, fits the movie actresses' measurements to a perfection, with the exception of the ankle, which is one-fourth of an inch smaller.

Formal Opening Held For Community House

A community house project of the school of social work of the University of South Carolina, was formally opened Monday, October 29. The house adjoins the Columbia children's clinic.

The opening was accompanied by a concert given by the FERA band, introductions by Miss Betty Brooks, and talks by Dr. Croft Williams and Mr. Palmer.

This school is to be utilized by student case workers for field study with Mrs. Douglass as student director.

Submit Your Balloting In All-American Contest

Officials of the Collegiate Digest All-American contest are urging all University students to cast their ballots now and each week following until the end of the competition. These should be clipped at once and mailed to the Collegiate Digest, P. O. Box 472, Madison, Wisconsin.

According to the contest rules, each student may submit one team each week; this provision is made so that votes can be changed should some player, by spectacular performance, deserve a place on the team that he has not heretofore held.
