

Gamecocks Take Gobblers Into Camp, 14-0

Birds Win Third Game

Dearth, Urbanyi Score

New Team Against
V. P. I.

Playing before a crowd of around 6,000 people, the Carolina Gamecocks defeated V. P. I. 14-0 last Saturday in the local stadium and avenged their 27-0 loss to this team last year.

Foots Dickerson, All-Southern fullback who scored all 27 points for his team last year, failed to show any sensational running as the Bird linemen held him to a total gain of eight yards during the game. Henry, a Gobbler halfback, was the chief trouble maker as he carried the ball for 60 yards from scrimmage.

Coach Don McCallister, wishing to try out a new combination, started off an entirely different team from the one that had usually begun the games. This eleven was composed of Myers and Craig, ends; Robelot and Bramlett, tackles; Tobias and Makovic, guards; Kiss, center; Lit Durham, quarterback; Hughes and Lyon, halfbacks; and Urbanyi, fullback.

V. P. I. threatened to score early in the game when they carried the ball to the Carolina 20 yard line on a series of end runs and passes. Here Coach McCallister rushed in a new team, and they took the ball on downs.

Again in the second period the Gobblers came close to making a touchdown. Recovering a fumble punt in midfield, the visitors passed their way to the Carolina three yard stripe. After losing two yards on as many plays, Jones attempted a field goal which went wide and gave the Birds the ball.

Carolina did not show any consistent attack, being content to let their opponents tire themselves first. Ed Clary's punting gave the Gamecocks a decided edge in the play. Just before the end of the first half, Frank Urban, right end, was injured and had to be carried off the field. However, it was learned that he was not seriously hurt and would be able to play against the Clemson Tigers Thursday.

Near the end of the third quarter, Captain Bob Johnson intercepted a Virginia Tech pass in midfield and ran with it to the visitors 4 yard line. Art Urbanyi carried the ball across for a touchdown, and Ralph Dearth kicked the extra point to make the score 7-0 in favor of the Birds.

In the fourth quarter, Ralph Dearth shot through left tackle, and cleverly evading would-be-tacklers, sped 66 yards for the second touchdown of the game. Again his try for the extra point was good, raising the score to 14-0.

U. S. C. Noted For History

By Act Of Assembly
First College In United States To
Be Supported By Public
Funds

South Carolina is noted as being the first State in the United States to have a University entirely supported by public funds, the college being made possible by an act of the General Assembly, December 19, 1801.

South Carolina's sister states, Georgia and North Carolina, have placed a claim to this distinction but it has been proven that their institutions were only partially supported by public funds.

During the first 40 years of the school's existence, uniforms were worn by the students. A prized old picture of the college in 1820 shows students proudly marching about the campus in high hats, tight trousers and short-waisted coats with long tails.

Carolina once even boasted of a military company who were called the "College Cadets." The company which went to war under this name was not the same organization.

Armanent Race Imperils Europe

Wienefeld Declares That Situation
Parallel To Peril Prior To
World War

"The great powers of Europe, Russia, Germany, France, England and Italy plus the minor states are now engaged in an armament race," Prof. R. H. Wienefeld of the history department pointed out this week.

"Germany is as well prepared today as she was when she entered the World War," Prof. Wienefeld declared. "Russia's power is also rising rapidly and in the last three years, the identical steps have been taken as prior to the World War. If the armament question was responsible for the World War, the same is true today."

In giving his views of the present crises that is impending in Europe, Professor Wienefeld stated that this is nothing new and that the entire matter arises directly from the World War.

The plan set forward in the treaty was that the defeated countries would be put under such rigid restrictions that the other nations would have a chance to disarm. However, this did not work out in actual practice.

When the time came for the disarmaments to take place, several nations demurred. France said that due to the unstable conditions in Europe, she

Gym Available For Dances

The University gymnasium and field house will be available to student organizations for dances upon the payment of $10 to the treasurer, according to John A. Chase, Jr., registrar and dean of administration. This fee is charged to cover janitor service, lights, and depreciation of the buildings.

If the gym is to be used, the group makes application to W. H. Harth, student activities director, who either approves or disapproves, and refers the matter to Mr. J. A. Crawford, who keeps the calendar of events to prevent conflicts. If the desired night is open, payment is made to the treasurer and the receipt filed with Mr. Crawford. It is then the obligation of the University to have the hall clean and in order. Mr. Harth alone approves applications for the use of the field house, after which the payment to the treasurer is made.

All dance decorations must be removed from the gym on the following morning, or they will be discarded so that gym classes may be held, Mr. Chase said.

Sell Out Looms For Fair Tilt

The biggest crowd in the history of the State Fair tilt between Carolina and Clemson is expected this year as 10,000 tickets have already been sold.

The game which will be played tomorrow in the municipal stadium will have an important bearing of the state grid race. The Tigers will be favored, due to their experience and record so far this season.

In last year's tilt, Clemson swamped the Birds under a score of 44 to 0 before an almost complete sellout of seats, the crowd being held down as the Tigers were the reigning favorites.

"Ten thousand tickets for the Carolina-Clemson game have already been sold and I expect a complete sellout," William H. Harth, athletic director, stated this week.

The improved Carolina stadium has a seating capacity of 17,400 and Mr. Harth stated that if this did not accommodate the fans, temporary bleachers would be constructed.

Seats for the game will be reduced, the price being $2.40 per ducat.

Students To Get 200 Dictionaries

Two hundred dictionaries with names engraved in gold letters have been ordered for students in the English department through the University Book Store.

Dr. Havilah Babcock, head of the English Literature department, selected the dictionary. In ordering such a large number, the price will be only $2.65, whereas it would be $3.50 elsewhere.

Squad Dubbed By Sports Writer

Back in the first years of the present century, when sheer brute strength counted most in football, the University of South Carolina had a squad of small players who made up in fight and aggressiveness for what they lacked in size.

Fittingly, a sports writer dubbed the team the "Gamecocks." Today, Carolina is the only college eleven in the country bearing that nickname.
