

Phi Epsilon Nu Party Tonight

Phi Epsilon Nu, journalism fraternity, will give a party for its members and for all other students in the school of journalism tonight at 7:30. The party is to be of the drop-in type and it is to be held in the newly furnished journalism study on the third floor of Legare college.

Tom Price, president, announced that an interesting program has been planned for the occasion. The entertainment is part of a program being launched to stimulate interest in the fraternity. Refreshments and cigarettes will be served and a radio will be on hand for listening to the Carolina-George Washington football game. All journalism students, their friends, alumni, newspaper men, and friends of Phi Epsilon Nu are cordially invited to attend. Price said that the purpose of the party is to stimulate the feeling of good fellowship among journalism students and to show off the progress being made by the school of journalism.

Phi Epsilon Nu meetings are held regularly on Thursday nights in the journalism building. Guest speakers are on hand from time to time to give talks on all phases of journalistic writing and demonstrated lectures on related subjects are presented occasionally.

Part of Big Thursday

Here are some of the "Big Thursday" displays that decorated the campus last week. At the top left, the Phi Kappa Sigma Gamecock feeding a Tiger to the Biddies won first prize in the Inter-Fraternity council competition. At top right, "Uncle Rex's Count Fair," built by Pi Kappa Phi, which won second prize. At the lower left, the display constructed by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, which was not eligible for the Inter-Fraternity council prize, shows a sawmill with a Gamecock pushing a Tiger into the saw. At the lower right, the display of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers shows a Gamecock "prodding" a Tiger with a bolt of electricity. This display also was not in the competition for the fraternity prize. (USC Photos by Manning Harris)

WUSC Station Breaks

By HARRY SMITH
We wish to thank Marshal Stradley and his staff for the excellent job they did replacing our floors here at the station. It is certainly an improvement.

Our programs were slightly interrupted during this renovation process but starting Monday all programs will be on regular schedule. And after such a glorious week of excitement, we are sure that everyone is willing to settle down to his radio for some pleasant listening along with his studies.

We hope that you people have been listening to the show remoted from Flinn Hall. It is heard Wednesdays from 10 to 10:30. This show is done by the talented people of our campus and anyone wishing to participate should call Philip Pinkney at the station or Tenelement One. Our mystery singer is still keeping everyone guessing. She is really a sweetheart and we are glad so many of you like her. Every week we want to salute a member of the station who works conscientiously and helps to improve the station. This week we wish to salute Tex Massey. She is

Mock Trial Held By Honor Board To Show System

The honor board held a mock trial in the chapel Wednesday, October 18, to acquaint freshmen with the way the board works at Carolina.

Terrell Glenn, chairman, introduced the members of the board to the assembly. After a brief sketch of how the board and council work he began the trial.

Duncan Breckenridge and Anne Ready, both members of the board, posed as the offenders. They were brought before the council and allowed to plead their cases separately.

Breckenridge admitted his guilt and incriminated Miss Ready. When she was brought before the board she at first refused to admit that she had cheated on a quiz. The council offered to give her a re-test to allow her to prove her innocence. Then she admitted that she had cheated.

Breckenridge, because of his better attitude, received a lighter sentence than the girl. Terrell emphasized that each case is judged on its own merits and not by precedent.

After the program Prof. Christopher FitzSimons, faculty advisor to the board, told the students his interpretation of honor.

about the hardest worker we have and an excellent secretary. We are proud of you, Tex — keep up the good work. Remember our wonderful disc jockey shows... everything from sweet to sour, whatever your tastes desire you will find it at WUSC, your station of variety on the campus, 640 on your dial.

Frosh YM-YWCA Hear Talk By ARP Minister

Rev. C. E. Jones of the Associate Reform Presbyterian church spoke to the freshmen 'Y' last week on "Life at Its Best." Mr. Jones advised the students that the main thing in life above their social activity was their honor and faithfulness to God.

'The Love Parade' To Be Presented By Film Society

"The Love Parade," fifth in the series of films to be shown at the university, will be presented Monday. Made in the United States in the late twenties, the picture stars Maurice Chevalier, the French actor. Season tickets are still available at the university information office.

Tongue In Cheek

A kiss that speaks volumes is seldom a first edition. —Mis-A-Sip

Soph: "What's the difference between a kiss and a bottle of olives?"
Senior: "Aw, they are just exactly alike. Get the first one out and the others come easy." —Mis-A-Sip

The modern wallflower is the girl who dances all the time. —Mis-A-Sip

"What are those cops watchin'?"
"That revolving door. It's been going around with the wrong people." —Mis-A-Sip

"Why do you wear your stockings inside out?"
"My feet are so hot I just turned the hose on them." —Mis-A-Sip

Co-ed (home on vacation): "Oh, Father! Why didn't you tell me you had those benches painted?"
Lynn and I sat on one and Lynn got paint on his trousers." —Mis-A-Sip

H-SHE GAGS
He: "What's your favorite hymn?"
She: "Why you, silly!"
He: "May I kiss you?"
She: (Silence).
He: "May I please kiss you?"
She: (More silence).
He: "Say, are you deaf?"
She: "No, are you paralyzed?"
He: "Your head is like a door-knob."
He: "How come?"
She: "Any girl can turn it." —Pepsi-Cola

"Well," sighed the farmer as the summer boarders began backing and turning their cars all over his front yard, "it won't be lawn now." —Mis-A-Sip

The talk going around Broadway is that women may change their hemlines and their styles, but their designs will always remain the same. —Mis-A-Sip

A long skirt is like prohibition —the joints are still there but they're harder to find. —Mis-A-Sip

"How did you happen to oversleep this morning?"
"There were eight of us in the house and the alarm clock was only set for seven." —Mis-A-Sip

When a girl is young she cries for an all-day sucker. When she gets older, she just wants one for the evening. —Mis-A-Sip

A NO MAN: This lament comes from Stevens Institute of Technology:
I don't talk with the prof after class.
I don't recite in class until called on.
I don't ask questions in class.
I don't speak to the profs in the halls.
I don't write a book when I can answer a quiz in four sentences.
I don't complain that a mistake was made in grading my paper.
I don't make excuses when I've been absent.
I don't laugh at the prof's jokes unless they are funny.
I'm on probation.
