

COCKTALES

By LEROY

If we had another semester break, registration again, or RE Month, and four more inches of snow, we'd have enough to talk about until next June. But as it is, these topics with a few (very few) other tidbits will last only till next week.

Along the registration lines . . . A determined coed: "I'm not moving till you sign me up for this course!" . . . A grad student keeping the door: "I feel like a bouncer." . . . An English prof: "You're in here before nine, you must have come in through the latrine!" . . . and the old adage, "All's fair in love and war and registration."

Quotes in the campus shop: "You say that's $21.00 just for one course? . . . How long do ya'll hold these checks? . . . And the total comes to $58.00! . . . Don't I get a discount 'cause I'm a student?"

Found in the flyleaf of a statistics book: "Call Marge at Lander" . . . "Margaret from Charleston, XO" . . . "get outline for chapters 2 & 5" . . . Eight female names struck through . . . "C2" . . . "apt. 142." . . . and 49 names, addresses, and phone numbers of the most eligible girls on campus (comment: girls, don't you wish you knew who the 49 were, and do you ever feel rejected when your name isn't among the many!)

TIDBITS: Northern basketball players crash the language barrier to impress southern belles . . . R. G. Bell Camp temperature rises to 94 . . . false alarm in the treasurer's office . . . fire in the Campus Shop . . . Donut Does Double Flip . . . Gamecock Room convocation was well-attended . . . February 14 (not you, Bobby—it's the deadline for Student Union-sponsored photography contest) . . . two new coded license plates—"GG" for Gamecock Government and "SS" for Super Sig.

Greeks Vie For Pledges In Spring Rush Season

Fraternity rush began Thursday, Feb. 10, 8 p.m., with a mass meeting in Russell House auditorium.

Dean of Men L. Eugene Cooper presided, and Intra-Fraternity Council representatives and fraternity presidents were introduced.

IFC Rush Chairman Haynes Kendall gave an outline of rush rules and schedules. Mac Johnston, president, and Ed Tucker, secretary, discussed advantages of being in a social fraternity and their various functions. Gary Poliakoff, treasurer, outlined financial obligations for rushees.

At the close of the meeting, eligible students were allowed to register for the official rushing period for a fee of $2. A 2.0 or above grade point on 12 academic hours constitutes eligibility for returning students. New students must have attained a score of five on the College Board test.

An additional registration period has been scheduled for Friday, Feb. 11, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on the ground floor of Russell House.

Fraternities will hold open house on Friday night from 7-10 p.m. Rushees will pick up rush cards for these parties at 4 p.m. in the Business Administration auditorium. Rushees are required to visit all fraternity houses during these three hours and to have their rush cards stamped by each fraternity. If a rushee fails to visit a fraternity, he will be dropped from IFC rush.

Rush cards will be turned in to IFC and invitations for Saturday night will be picked up on Saturday from 4-6 p.m. in the B.A. auditorium. Saturday and Sunday parties will be stag smokers to be held from 6-8 p.m. on the fraternity quadrangle. Invitations to the Sunday events may be picked up in the B.A. auditorium from 4-5 p.m. on Sunday.

On Monday, Feb. 14, off-campus parties begin, and invitations for the week will be available to rushees from 5-6 p.m., also in the B.A. auditorium. Several parties will be given each night for rushees and their dates.

On Friday, Feb. 18, from 5-6 p.m., invitations for the final stag smoker may be picked up in room 114 of the B.A. building. Friday night stag smokers will begin at 7 p.m., and will be followed by the "silent period" during which rushees may not talk to fraternity members. Violations of the silent period could result in a rushee's being dropped from rush and in serious disciplinary action against the fraternity involved.

Bids may be picked up on Saturday, Feb. 19, from 2-3:30 p.m. in room 205 of the Russell House. Rushees should go directly to the fraternity house to which he wishes to pledge. Failure to visit his preferred fraternity house will result in a 60-day ineligibility period.

During rush, IFC officers will visit fraternity houses during party hours.

Kendall expressed IFC's hope that Carolina men will consider going out for rush. He commented that fraternities serve to build worth-while friendships in a spirit of brotherhood. He further stated that fraternity participation helps to build valuable leadership qualities and aims at developing a mature, well-rounded student.

He added that fraternities support the University in their increasing emphasis on academics, as is evidenced by the fraternity overall average, which has for several years been higher than the all-men's average.

Panhel Holds Second Rush Informally

Sorority informal rush began Feb. 1 and will end Feb. 17, according to Frannie Daniels, president of Pan-Hellenic Council.

Three sororities will participate in the open rushing, as other sororities have reached their limitation for the year.

Informal rush will consist of informal gatherings such as dutch treat dinner meetings, but planned parties are against Pan-Hellenic rules.

A continuing USC rushee must have a grade point ratio of 2.25 or better, and a new student must obtain a five or above on her College Board scores.

New pledges will be announced on Feb. 17.

Coed Submits Winning Story To Magazine

Judy Morgan, a USC junior majoring in English, has been selected to serve on Mademoiselle magazine's college board.

In December Miss Morgan submitted an article concerning projection into the future to the annual Mademoiselle competition. In January she was one of some 1,500 nationwide college coeds notified as a winner.

The contest is designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, editing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising, retail promotion or advertising.

Each girl will remain on the College Board until she graduates, and during the time she has an opportunity to contribute to the magazine and to help it keep up with college trends and fashions.

As a College Board member, Miss Morgan is eligible to become one of 20 guest editors. To apply for this position, an article showing above-average aptitude for magazine work must be submitted. The winners will spend the month of June in New York as salaried employees of Mademoiselle, interviewing noted personalities, working with the magazine's regular editors and attending parties as their guests.

Fraternities Begin Semester By Electing Officers, Giving Parties

no limits!

There's no limit to the good a man can accomplish through reliance on God. But it takes humility and a deep spiritual commitment. You learn to depend on the divine Love that makes possible every worthwhile act. You're invited to hear this subject explored further at a one-hour public lecture by William Henry Alton of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. The lecture title is "Man Unlimited." Everyone is welcome to come and listen.
