

Third recycle day-Sept. 25

1,000 trees saved already

The paper collected on the first two recycling days postponed the harvesting of over 1,000 trees, according to Scott Holtzclaw, president of ECO 70's.

ECO 70's is the environmental action group on campus.

The third Recycling Day will be held this Saturday, Sept. 25, in the parking lot behind the Coliseum, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"We need manpower to help unload the cars that come from all over the city to donate the materials they have saved," Holtzclaw said. Volunteers can sign up at the ECO 70's office, room 302-A Russell House, or call them at 3150.

Recycling is changing solid waste into reusable products, Holtzclaw said. "Newspapers, magazines, boxes, IBM cards and other paper items can be shredded and then used to make new paper products. For every ton of paper recycled, 17 trees are saved," he said.

"Glass products are melted down, according to color, and then used to produce new glass products," he said. "This whole process consumes less energy than creating bottles from scratch. Thus recycling pollutes less and uses less fossil fuel to create the necessary energy.

"The aluminum and scrap metal are also melted and used to create new products," Holtzclaw said. "There is a finite supply of minerals and without reclamation of metals, we will someday consume all our precious metals," he added.

Pleading for panties

Panty raids apparently still appeal to some students. About 75 students begged for frilly feminine things Wednesday night.

News briefs

'Speak Out' - free speech

"Speak Out," an open forum for free communication, will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. every Wednesday on the front patio of Russell House.

"Speak Out" is sponsored by Student Government and participants may use speeches, music, skits or "off-the-head raps," a Phil Sharpe coordinator of "Speak Out" said.

He said the purpose of the forum is to give any student a chance to express himself and to provide a mechanism for him to communicate.

"No one will tell the speaker what to do or say," the Sharp said. "It will be completely unstructured and organic. You need freedom of expression to make any university an educational experience."

COCKFEST

Bob Fulton, voice of the Gamecocks, and Dave Wright, WIS-TV announcer, will emcee the Cockfest Program, according to Ed Craig, Cockfest committee chairman.

Craig said Fulton and Wright would guide participants through formal ceremonies and present the Homecoming Queen and her court. Although she will be presented at the Cockfest, the Queen will be crowned during halftime at the Maryland game.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMING
Registration is still being accepted for three courses in computer programming being offered this fall.

The non-credit courses are sponsored by USC's College of General Studies and Department of Computer Science.

Introduction to data processing for personnel beginning to work in computers begins Tuesday (Sept. 21) at 6:30 p.m., and will be taught by T. Luther Gunter.

COBOL programming, beginning Thursday at 6:30 p.m., will be taught by James E. Morris.

FORTRAN programming, taught by Allen P. Corbett, will have its first meeting on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Further information and registration forms are available from the College of General Studies, telephone 777-8155.

ORGANICS

The short course on Organics will begin Thursday, Sept. 23. Those interested are urged to attend the course in room 308 Russell House at 8 p.m.

APO RUSH

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, is holding rush this week. Registration will be on the first floor of Russell House, Monday through Wednesday.

There will be a party Friday night with live entertainment. For further information, call Bill Tyson at 3504.

SPUR ENTERTAINMENT

Tammy Hall and George Nawful will premier the act which they will take to the NEC Regional Convention in October. They will perform Wednesday and Thursday nights from 8 to 10 p.m. There is no charge for the show.

Student section to stir Gamecocks to victory

The University Union Spirit Committee and the Student Government Athletic Committee are trying a new idea to pep the USC team on to victory at home a games by planning a student card section for all home games.

The Spirit Committee and SGA are looking for enthusiastic Carolina students to be in this section. There is a need for some real noise makers who are willing to cooperate.

To join the card section, go to the Coliseum on regular ticket distribution day between 8 a.m. and 12 noon; there will be a special table set up for the card section.

Bring your treasurer's fee receipt card and, if you have a date, another fee card date book ticket or $7 for card section tickets. Plan to be at the game at least half an hour before kick-off.
