

In the three-year period which followed the murder of President Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald, eighteen material witness died—six by gunfire, three in motor accidents, two by suicide, one from a cut throat, one from a karate chop to the neck, three from heart attacks, and two from natural causes.

An actuary, engaged by the London Sunday Times concluded that on November 22, 1963, the odds against these witnesses being dead by February, 1967, were one hundred thousand trillion to one.

In a fight-filled game, the Carolina rugby team closed out its season on a winning note as it defeated the Atlanta Renegades 15-3 Saturday at USC.

At the halfway point in the first half the Gamecocks came alive as Mike Crawford broke away on a 15-yard scoring run to put the Gamecocks in the lead to stay. Kicker Charlie Calhoun, replacing injured Warren Muir, added the conversion to give the home team a 6-0 lead.

Atlanta made a bid to come back early in the second half as they converted on a 25-yard penalty kick to close the USC lead to 6-3.

Calhoun scored for Carolina to widen the margin as he hit on a 30-yard penalty kick to make the score 9-3.

Midway through the second half, fighting started to break out between the two teams. In talking about the fighting Ed Hughes the captain of Carolina's team said after the game, "Fighting is part of the game in rugby. When a team such as Atlanta tries everything and nothing works, they get so frustrated that they resort to fighting. This is what happened today."

Tim Brophy clinched the game away for Carolina as, with only a few minutes left in the contest he took off on a 50-yard scoring jaunt. There was one man between Brophy and the goal line but the 6-5 forward put his head down and ran right over the defender.

The impressive win over Atlanta enabled Carolina to close out its fall season with a 9-3 record. Asked if he was pleased with the record, Hughes said, "I was very pleased with our record this season. We had a very young scrum and it showed at the beginning of the season. We lost a few games in tournament play at the beginning of the season, but we came on strong in the second half after we gained much needed experience."
