Gamecocks win, tie
in Met Life Classic

By RICHARD W. ROWELL
Staff writer

USC played host this past weekend to the Metropolitan Life Soccer Classic at The Graveyard.

The Stanford Cardinals, the Indiana Hoosiers, the Air Force Falcons and USC were the four teams participating in the two-day event.

The fans were treated to two overtime matches, which ended in ties as the talent was evenly matched this year. Only Air Force lost matches in the tournament.

Match one, on Saturday, pitted Indiana against Stanford. Defense dominated the game, with neither team scoring in regulation or the two overtimes.

Saturday's second match saw USC take on Air Force. John Joust put the Falcons on the board first at the 14:35 mark in the first half when he took a pass from teammate Chris Foster and drove it in the goal.

The Gamecocks evened the score with 11:03 gone in the second half. Billy McMullan threw the ball to Pat Walsh, who in turn sent it to Phil Seidenburg. Seidenburg put a shot past the keeper to record the goal, tying the score.

USC scored the winning goal with 7:20 left in the match off a free kick from midfield. Jeff Love crossed the ball to Walsh, who headed it to Jonas Gudjonsson. Gudjonsson drove a header into the net for the win.

In the first match Sunday, Air Force took on Stanford. The first half was a defensive struggle for both teams as they tried to find their rhythm.

A one minute letdown in the second half by the Air Force defense cost the Falcons the match. Stanford's Chris Porch scored two goals, one with 20:01 remaining and the other with 19:05 remaining in the second half, to secure the win.

Sunday's second game matched No. 7 USC against No. 8 Indiana. The Gamecocks struck first at the 23-minute mark of the first half.

USC's Mike Gosselin drilled a shot off a Hoosier defender Pat Walsh, shot the rebound, and it too was deflected. Finally, off the second deflection, Phil Seidenburg found the goal open for the score.

With 32:42 gone in the half, Hoosier Ken Snow tied the match. On a pass from Michael Correia, Snow looped the ball into the upper right hand corner of the goal.

The Gamecocks had several opportunities to score again, but the Indiana goalkeeper, Juergen Sommer, made several saves to keep the match a 1-1 tie after double overtime.

The final standings of the tournament were: Stanford 1-0-1, USC 1-0-1, Indiana 0-0-2, and Air Force 0-2-0. By using a tie-breaking system based on goal differential, Stanford was declared the winner of this year's Met Life Classic and USC was the runner-up.

The All-Tournament Team selected by the coaches to the 1988 Met Life Classic Team were from Air Force, Chris Foster and Glenn Melia; from Indiana, Juergen Sommer, Ken Snow and Han Roest; from USC, Scott Henderson, Tommy Loeber and Mike Gosselin; from Stanford, Chris Porch and Luke Garrott. USC's Seidenburg was named the tournament's most valuable player on offense, and Stanford's Semioli was named the defensive most valuable player.

Take that!

USC junior middle blocker Stephanie Pflughaupt spikes the ball in Saturday's match against Cincinnati. USC had a rough weekend, losing Friday to Louisville, 4-15, 10-15, 9-15, and falling to Cincinnati Saturday, 15-9, 13-15, 14-16, 13-15. The losses broke an eight-game winning streak for the Lady Gamecocks and dropped their record to 21-10, 4-2 in the Metro Conference.
