ABC lands most in top 10; NBC remains leader

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - ABC had seven of network television's top 10 programs this past week, but NBC narrowly rode "The Cosby Show" and the baseball playoffs into first place in the A.C. Nielsen Co. ratings.

ABC finished within 0.8 point of NBC, and its "Roseanne" was the highest rated program of the ABC has the contract to carry the World Series between the Oakland Athletics and San Francisco Giants.

The last such regional contest in 1985, between the Kansas City Royals and St. Louis Cardinals, went seven games and was a ratings winner for ABC. But the A's-Giants contest has the disadvantage of being on the West

That means all the games will have to start two hours before prime time, at 5 p.m. in their respective cities, so East Coast viewers can catch the first pitch at

NBC led the three networks for the 68th consecutive week, with an average rating of 15.2 to ABC's 14.4 and CBS' 12.5.

The ratings are the percentage of the estimated 90.4 million homes with television sets in the United States.

Here are last week's top 10 shows: "Roseanne," ABC; "The Cosby Show," NBC; "The Wonder Years," ABC; "NBC Monday Night at the Movies: A Cry for Help: The Tracy Thurman Story"; "Who's the Boss?" ABC; "NFL Monday Night Football, Philadelphia vs. Chicago," ABC; "Chicken Soup," ABC; "Growing Pains," ABC; "Head of the Class," ABC; and "Murder, She Wrote," CBS.

Fall Fashions

'Schoolboy' look tops season's list

By ERIKA JOHNSON Staff Writer

The expanse of men's fashion on campus is neither wide nor deep, but it is there.

"The schoolboy look is back in," senior political science major David Fleckenstien said. He describes the look as guys wearing their hair short on the sides and long on top, bermudas, polo shirts, leather rope belts and deck shoes.

"Dressy" attire includes the standard khakis, red tie and blue sport coat.

Casual dress includes jeans, T-shirts and shoes. The most identifiable of these are cut-off jeans or Duck Heads, logo T-shirts and bucks with white socks, Fleckenstein said. This year, Duck Head pants are worn with as much versatility as jeans. They are cut off and worn with a coat and tie at football games and topped with a t-shirt for class.

Rain weather includes "duck shoes," brown lace-ups that are worn in rain or snow. "They keep out the rain, but you tend to slip once you get inside of the buildings," senior criminal justice major Stephen Lewis said.

When it's not raining, USC men are sporting suede oxfords, commonly known as bucks, and fashionable Nike's, Fleckenstein said. Mountain climbing shoes have also been prevalent on the tough campus terrain.

Birkenstock sandals are worn with shorts, pants, socks or no socks. These men are celebrating the '60s by wearing cut-off fatigues, tie-

Media arts senior James Langford models a cardigan, turtleneck and loafers, while broadcasting freshman Dave Wilson sports a leather jacket, mock turtleneck and black

> Black is really popular and flourescent is out.

Edward Boham of Macy's

dye T-shirts and shoulder-length hair with and without their sandals.

The fashion forecast from area department stores looks predictable, with a few curves thrown in for good measure.

Mock turtlenecks are promised to be big items this fall by Rich's men's department manager Tammy Duchene.

"They are the basic that everybody will have," she says. Colors are muted this season, and the most popular are dark greens, purples, mustard and naturals, Duchene says.

"Men are dressing up more, partly because they have jobs," Duchene says. They are wearing pleated cotton slacks, without a lot of detail, she Macy's is also showing dark colors for fall. "Black is really popular and flourescent is out," sales associate Edward Boham said.

Rugby shirts are in and T-shirts are a "definite," said Macy's sales associate Somkiert Thepbantoeng, but, "Izod is out."

Stores are also showing cardigans this year, featuring dark colors, with stripes and texture, Du-

Claiborne, Polo, Guess, Bugle Boy and Duck Head are the most popular names to buy this year,

Where do you get all of these fashionable items? Along with the major department stores, men are shopping at Oops, Deals and Bum's Bummers, junior finance major Rick Frazier said.

University groups continue to help hurricane victims

By KATHRYN JEFFRIES

Staff Writer

It isn't over yet - not the devastation caused by Hurricane Hugo or the work done by university students, faculty and staff to help its victims.

"We have basically served as a clearinghouse for providing students to the Salvation Army and the American Red Cross, primarily . . . I have lists and lists of student groups that have done work," Gail McGrail, coordinator of the Office of Community Service Programs, said.

As needs have changed, the response has continually grown, McGrail said. "We've had update flyers at the information desk and the ASKUS phones so that when we get a call we can tell people what the current need is.

"Now the list is short enough that we've been giving phone numbers of the other offices and hotlines so they can give pair up one on one. We've gotten lots of calls from students wanting to work two hours here,

Nursing professor Sally Weinrich organized trips that allowed nursing students in clinical classes to substitute class time with relief work in Summerville, McClellanville and Moncks Corner. Students and faculty provided direct care and temporarily replaced other nurses who needed time off. They have also begun writing letters to Medical University of South Carolina students to show support.

Nursing senior Angela Chinners worked in McClellanville. "We walked in and saw the water level on the ceiling. That's how high the water came," she said. "I talked to one couple who said they had gotten on the roof in the middle of the storm with their one-month-old baby because their second floor was flooded."

Another group that has helped rebuild is Partnership Among Lutherans and Methodists. For them, the devastation is new, but not the rebuilding. Every year, PALM members spend a week helping repair a house, often on Johns Island.

Other groups have raised money such as Preston Hall, which sponsored a car bash Sept. 28.

"Originally the money was supposed to go to multiple sclerosis, but we thought it was more needed in Charleston, and that it would be more useful there," hall President Ben Massey said. The car was donated by City Garage and Body Shop, and the bash

 Carolina Cares has placed change cans around campus and publicized the need for volunteers at the coliseum. President Heather Koval said the change cans would probably be collected in a week.

 Pi Kappa Phi fraternity sold tickets to Cockfest this year for the first time ever. All ticket sales were donated to Hurricane Hugo relief efforts, director Aubrey Hawes are urgently needed to aid in the manufacture of the Mono test kits. If you have Mono, or have had Mono within the past two weeks, you may qualify for for only 3 hours of your time.

MONO? PEOPLE WITH MONONUCLEOSIS

For Further Information Call or Come By:

SEROLOGICALS, INC 2719 Middleburg Dr. Suite 105 Columbia, SC 254-6537

WINGS ON WHEELS

DELIVERED HOT, FAST & FREE!!

COUPON - COUPON - COUPON - COUPON - COUPON - COUPON

with any Med., Lg. or X-Lg. Order of Wings.

One Free Order of Mozzarella Sticks IT'S FREE!!

This is the last day to pick up your 1988-89 Garnet & Black Yearbook! Distribution will be from 9am to 5pm on the second floor of Russell House. If you're not sure if a book was pre-ordered for you, come by our table and we'll check. A limited number of books will also be sold. For additional information, call Student Media at 777-3888.

Sundays Too!

