TWELVE IMPECCABLE EXCUSES FOR NOT GIVING BLOOD.

1. I think I have lumbago.
2. I'm type Z negative.
3. I'm on the grapefruit diet.
4. I gave six months ago.
5. I just got back from Monaco.
6. The lines are thirteen blocks long.
7. My mother won't let me.
8. I didn't sign up.
9. I'm going out of town.
10. Asthma runs in my family.
11. I forgot to eat this morning.
12. I'm allergic to flowering magnolia.

Each one's a doozy, but we're hoping you won't use any of them. Give blood through the American Red Cross. Please, don't chicken out.

THE GAMECOCK GENERAL STANDARDS FOR ADVERTISING

To protect the interest of its readers and advertisers, The Gamecock has established these basic principles or general standards for advertising. These standards also serve to maintain reader confidence in the medium in the advertising which it carries:

Advertising is not acceptable which tends, in the opinion of this newspaper, to destroy the confidence of readers or advertisers. This includes advertising that is misleading, inaccurate, fraudulent, deceptive, or ambiguous.

The Gamecock reserves the right to reject advertising that makes misleading claims or uses art or words that impugn or degrade sex, sexual orientation, race, national origin, creed, color, disability, or age.

The Gamecock reserves the right to reject advertising that promotes illegal activity detrimental or damaging to the University and its educational mission. It further reserves the right to reject any advertisement which it deems objectionable due to subject matter, illustration, phraseology or set-up.

The Gamecock supports the Better Business Bureau's Code of Advertising. All advertisers are subject to review by the Better Business Bureau.

Advertisers in The Gamecock agree that they will not represent themselves in any way as being endorsed by the University of South Carolina or The Gamecock.

Advertiser agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the University of South Carolina, its Board of Trustees, and its officers, agent and employees from and against any and all loss, cost and expense, including reasonable attorney fees resulting from the publication by The Gamecock of advertiser's advertisement.

Complete information on current policies is available from The Gamecock Advertising Office or your Account Executive.
