insurance agent. Contact anybody and everybody you know. Tell them you are looking. Continue to touch base with these people about once every two weeks for at least seven times.

9. NEVER CONFESS. NEVER COMPLAIN.

When interviewing, always try to picture yourself in the interviewer's place. If you were conducting the interviewing what kinds of answers would you like to hear? What questions could a job seeker ask you that might impress you?

10. ALWAYS SEND A THANK-YOU NOTE.

Have you ever received an unexpected thank-you note? How did it make you feel? How did you feel about the person that took the time to write it? If that person ever needed your help would you refuse it?

ness majors have a humanities minor because employers want well-rounded people.

She also recommends graduate school because, "It's so difficult now to get a job — everybody's got a bachelor's."

Cosby said if she could do anything differently, she'd get more sleep and listen to the "boring subjects" more. "You can do anything you want, no matter how complicated or out of reach it may seem If you prepare yourself, you can get anything you want," she said.

Daniels said he wouldn't change much about his college career. "The experience I had at Carolina set the tone for my later years in life," he said.
