

ACCENTS

Bedlam Hour To Perform At Rockafellas': Bedlam Hour, a band known for its insane snack food anarchy on stage, will be making a rare Rockafellas' appearance on Tuesday, April 21. Seven League Boots from Boston, Mass., will open. Showtime is 10 p.m.

The local band has many musical influences, including hardcore punk, industrial music, speedmetal and progressive rock. The end result is a bone-crunching wall of sound with gut-wrenching lyrics.

Bedlam Hour leaves on a North American tour in May in support of its upcoming LP entitled "Porcupine."

Need Something To Do Easter Weekend? How About a Frog-Jumping Contest. For those students looking for some excitement this Easter weekend, one might consider a small festival in nearby Springfield featuring a frog-jumping contest, egg-striking competition, horseshoe pitching, parade, dance and beauty pageant.

Most of the events take place on Saturday. An Easter egg hunt for children will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, followed by the frog-jumping contest and other competitions. Old-fashioned pit-cooked barbecue dinners will be served, and there also are carnival rides, arts and crafts to enjoy. A street dance will end the activities Saturday.

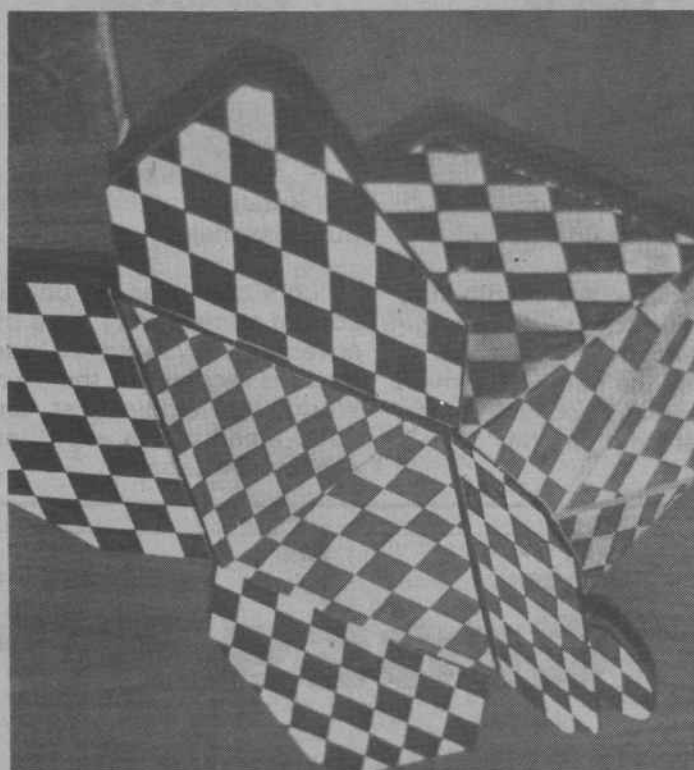

For more information about the festival, call Byron Williams at 254-4651.

Greeks To Sponsor 'Sleepwalker' Fund Raiser: Delta Delta Delta Sorority and Lambda Alpha Fraternity will join in sponsoring a benefit for Carolina Children's Home, the Richland Memorial Hospital and the Cancer Research Fund. The two groups will sponsor a midnight showing of the movie "Sleepwalker" at Litchfield Theatres next Wednesday.

The groups will be selling tickets for $3.50 the rest of this week. For more information, call Kenny Upton at 544-1936.

Five Years Ago At USC: (from the April 16, 1986 issue of The Gamecock) Black and white fraternities and sororities participated together for the first time in the traditional Greek Week, according to Greek Week adviser Marcie Semerad.

Before 1986, two separate Greek Weeks were held. White fraternities and sororities started the event in 1961, while black fraternities and sororities started a similar event in 1971.

Art For Sale

Left, a Black and White sculpture sits in a Capstone room on exhibit Tuesday. It will be auctioned today. Bottom, these paintings are among 90 pieces of art from students that will be auctioned.

Festival time! International cuisine, music highlight fair

By LEE CLONTZ
Assistant Carolina Editor

International cuisine, fashion, live music and much more will be part of the International Festival on Greene Street today from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The street festival is one part of USC's International Spring Fling, a week of events recognizing the different nationalities represented on campus.

USC has 1,136 full time international students representing 105 different countries.

In addition to the festival, an International Dance will be tonight from 8 to 11 p.m. in the Russell House Ballroom. All events are free, and all students are welcome to participate.

Mark Eckert, programming coordinator for the International Programs for Students, said he expects several thousand people to attend the festival.

"We've had between 1,000 and 1,500 people in the past, and we're hoping that the reggae band will bring in even more," he said. "This is an opportunity for students to meet the rest of the world."

Thursday's events include a presentation on "Germany in the Twentieth Century" at 4 p.m. in Gambrell Hall room 152, as well as a movie presented by the Baha'i Club, "A Symbol of Unity for India," at 7:30 p.m. in BA Building room 364.

The week is co-sponsored by the James F. Byrnes International Center, International Programs for Students, the USC Career Center, the International Student Association, the Department of History, the Baha'i Club and the Carolina Program Union.
