Information Sessions to be offered on 1995 Scholarships, Fellowships and Grants

The Office of Summer Programs and Scholarships will be offering Information Sessions on prestigious opportunities for advanced academic study. To learn more about criteria and application process for the following fellowships, plan to attend an Information Session. Faculty and staff members will be present to explain the merits and requirements of individual programs.

All Information Sessions will be held at 4pm in the Gressette Room on the third floor in Harper College on the Horseshoe.

Fulbright Grant Tuesday, September 13

Grants are available to graduating seniors who propose a clear program of study to be carried out in a particular academic setting abroad. The location must be essential to the research project proposed. Fluency in the host language is preferred and a strong background in American culture and host country current events are critical for selection. Grants are calculated based on the costs of travel to and from the US and cost of living. Also included are settling-in allowances and tuition waivers, where applicable.

Mellon Fellowship in Humanistic Studies Thursday, September 15

The Mellon is a highly competitive scholarship for graduate work leading to a career of teaching and scholarship in a traditional humanistic discipline (not including creative or performing arts, social sciences or professional fields such as law, library science and social work). Successful candidates must present not only a high GPA and a high GRE score, but also a philosophy of both teaching and learning and a capacity to communicate extraordinarily well. Awards include travel, tuition, medical coverage and a monthly stipend.

Attention Juniors! Truman Scholarship Monday, September 19

Juniors are encouraged to apply for this very competitive scholarship. The Truman is awarded to students who have outstanding leadership potential, plan to pursue careers in government or public service and wish to attend graduate school to prepare for their careers. Allowances include a maximum of $30,000 for up to 4 years: 1-2 years of undergraduate study (junior and senior years), plus 2 or 3 years of graduate study.

For more information...
