THE FOOTBALL SEASON

With a Light Team Carolina Played Remarkable Ball--Prospects For 1908.

With the Thanksgiving game in Charleston closed one of the most "successful" football seasons in Carolina's history, not so much because of her good team or wonderful success, but more on account of the restoration by the Trustee's of the much-loved game.

After the season of 1905, the Trustee's abolished football, consequently the fall months of 1906 were greatly lacking in "college spirit," and everything seemed listless. But, to the great enjoyment of the entire student-body, the game was reinstated during fair week of 1907.

Carolina at once got down to hard practice and put out a remarkable team, notwithstanding the fact that she was greatly handicapped for experienced men, there being only one old "varsity" man in college and a few men of the 1905 "scrub team."

"Buck" Perrin was selected to guide us, and under his leadership a strong team was put against the College of Charleston on November 16th, after scarcely two weeks of practice. This team, nevertheless, showed the ever-predominating "Carolina spirit," and by a hard, fast game we were able to win by a score of 14 to 4. Much praise in this game is due to Captain Perrin, Sligh, Cartwright and Gibbes.

After this game the team practiced even harder than before, profiting by the weaknesses shown in the first game, and by November 21st was again ready to vanquish the strong Georgia aggregation. This team, from the Medical University of Georgia, was remarkably strong, being composed of many old Southern stars. Captain Perrin was out of the game on account of injuries received in the Charleston game, but his place was admirably filled by Captain Gibbes. The good playing of Gibbes, Sligh, Gonzales and Cartwright figured materially in the victory.

The Thanksgiving game in Charleston against the Citadel ended the season. It was in this game that Captain Gibbes accomplished the great feat of making three beautiful drop-kicks from the field, one of which was from the 45-yard line.

Thus closed a splendid season, having played and won three games in as many weeks. Professor Smith and Mr. Douglas McKay deserve much credit for their efficient coaching.

Carolina has no doubt put many stronger teams in the field, but never before has a team been put out with a better spirit of determination. Coach Smith said: "I have seen many better teams North and South, but never have I seen an all around faster team." The financial part was most pleasing, and especially to Manager Lumpkin.

Of this year's team, Gibbes, Belser, Reeves, Murdaugh, Dargan, Parrott, Crouch, Greydon, Cooper and Cartwright will return. Mr. Robert E. Gonzales is the '08 captain, and of him much is expected.

Mr. Henry W. Hughes, of Trenton, has been elected manager, and already he has about completed his schedule for the coming season.

The management has engaged the services of Mr. Christie Benet as coach. Carolina is to be congratulated getting him, for no better man could have been found. He has a wide reputation as an "able coach, and such institutions as the University of Virginia have been trying hard to get him.

To the management and entire team of 1908, THE GAMECOCK wishes much success.

DR. JOYNES HAS RESIGNED

Distinguished Educator Retires From Faculty On Carnegie Fund.

The announcement of the resignation of Dr. Joynes was received with deep regrets by all of the students. Yet we are glad to see him receive the honor which he so well have had the association of his name with this institution for so many years, and we earnestly hope that he will be a frequent visitor to us.

Dr. Joynes is one of our old friends and advisors, and certainly will be greatly in need of a guide without him. It is hard to think of one's leaving who has for so long been the supporter and coworker of every movement for the advancement of the University. Our beloved professor was one whose heart was in close touch with the work of the University, and indeed he has accomplished much for its good.

The State very aptly said: "When one's friend, ripe in years, that have been devoted arduous work, rich in results for his fellows, receives in the afternoon of life, along with honor for merit, the material recognition that enables him to retire from the field of labor and spend the evening years free from the vulgar cares, one should rejoice. That has happened to our friend, yet we cannot display enthusiasm.

"After giving more than half a century of one's life to the grand work of teaching, and performing that work as a scholarly master, one is surely entitled to rest. And in our opinion no part of the immense fortune of Andrew Carnegie has set aside for different purposes is so well bestowed as that which empowers a committee to call upon conspicuous educators that have from youth to middle age and on into the winter of life, done well the great and noble work of spreading light by training minds and character and say to them: 'Well done, benefactors of your time, rest while serenely contemplating the full fruiting of the trees you nurtured and pruned.'

"Yet we cannot rejoice at this act of generous justice, because the University of South Carolina without Dr. Joynes in the faculty will never seem the same to us. He will be missed in the lecture room, and he will be missed upon the cam-deserved. The committee of the Andrew Carnegie fund certainly have selected the man who merits such distinction. We are proud to

Information Sessions to be offered on 1995-96 Scholarships and Fellowships

To learn more about criteria and application processes for the following scholarships, grants, and fellowships, plan to attend an Information Session. Faculty and staff will be present to explain the merits and requirements of individual programs. Applicants must be U.S. citizens for the following awards. First year students and sophomores are encouraged to attend the sessions to begin the process of becoming a scholar. All Information Sessions will be held at 4:00 p.m. in the Gressette Room on the third floor of Harper College on the Horseshoe.

Fullbright Grant Wednesday, August 30 at 5:00pm

Grants are available to graduating seniors and graduate students who propose a clear program of study to be carried out in a particular academic setting abroad. The location must be essential to the research project proposed. Fluency in the host language is preferred and a strong background in American culture and current events in the host country. Grants are calculated on the cost of travel to and from the U.S. and cost of living. Also included, settling-in allowances and tuition waivers.

British Marshall Scholarship Tuesday, August 29

A highly competitive scholarship, the Marshall provides for two years of study at any university in Great Britain for graduating students. Candidates must have maintained a GPA of 3.7 or better, possess a record of service and leadership, be well informed on global issues, and no older than 25 years as of October 1995. Allowances include tuition, fees, cost of living expenses, books, and travel to and from the U.S.

Rhodes Scholarship Wednesday, August 30

The Rhodes presents an exceptional opportunity for a full fellowship for two, possibly three years of study at Oxford University. Candidates must have literary and scholarship ability and a strong GPA, possess a record of service and leadership, be well informed on global issues, physically vigorous, and no older than 24 years as of October 1995. Awards include tuition, fees, living expenses, books, and travel to and from the U.S.

Truman Scholarship Tuesday, September 12

Rising Juniors are solicited to apply for this very competitive scholarship awarded for graduate school preparation for a career in public service. 1995 Truman Finalists had a 3.78 median GPA. Scholars are selected for leadership abilities, academic performance and potential, community service records, and demonstrated commitment to the public service. Allowances include up to $30,000.

Mellon Fellowship Monday, September 18

This fellowship is for graduate work leading to a career of teaching and scholarship in a traditional humanistic discipline (not including creative or performing arts, social sciences, or professional fields such as law, library science, and social work). Successful candidates must present a high GPA and a high GRE score, and a philosophy of both teaching and learning. Awards include travel, tuition, medical coverage, and stipend.

National Science Foundation (NSF) Graduate Fellowships and Minority Graduate Fellowships Tuesday, September 19

NSF awards are for study and research in the sciences or in engineering leading to master's or doctoral degrees in the mathematical, physical, biological, engineering, behavioral and social sciences, and in the history and philosophy of sciences. Applicants must have a high GPA and high GRE scores in the General Test and the Subject Test in the field most closely related to their chosen area of graduate work or the area of their greatest or most relevant expertise.

Goldwater Scholarship Attention Sophomores and Juniors! Tuesday, September 26

Rising sophomores and juniors pursuing bachelors degrees in natural sciences, mathematics, or engineering and intending to earn a graduate degree in these fields and pursue a career in research and/or college-level teaching are eligible to apply for this $7,000 scholarship. Applicants should have a strong GPA and research experience.
