

Cockstock

the '96 recap

all photos by robert walton, photo editor

John Bell, above, of Widespread Panic performed to the crowd of more than 3,000 Cockstock attendees. Widespread Panic, an Athens, Ga., based band, was the event headliner and ranks as one of the college music scene's most popular groups. The band has a definite Southern rock sound, much like, Sourwood Honey, the Allman Brothers inspired band that also performed at Cockstock, Sourwood Honey Jennifer Hutson, above, dances to the tunes of Mountain express, which was one of the four bands that performed at Cockstock Friday evening in the Carolina Coliseum. Mountain Express performed on the causeway at the Coliseum along with Shades of Grey.
