Sit back, relax. We'll take care of the rest.

The National Science Foundation (NSF) Graduate and Minority Graduate Scholarship awards are for study and research leading to a master's or doctoral degree in the sciences or engineering. The awards are for $70,000 each and cover three years of graduate study and research and a yearly stipend of $14,400. Five USC students won these coveted awards in the past two competitions. We'll tell you how to be a winner at the 1997 NSF Workshop.

1997 NSF Graduate and Minority Graduate Fellowship Workshop
Wednesday, April 9 at 4 p.m.
Harper College 107

For more information, call the Fellowships Office at 777-0958.

Would You Believe that Someone Is Willing to Pay You to Study Abroad?

It's true. Each year the Fulbright Grants allow graduating seniors and graduate students to carry out a particular program of study for one year in a foreign country. This year, two USC students have been named Fulbright finalists. The 1997 Fulbright Grant Workshop is designed to introduce you to the application process and it's requirements. Interested?
