

Garnet defeats White in Spring Game

play and give a good performance," Penn said.

Scott was generally pleased with Penn's execution.

"I thought Vic Penn, obviously, played very well for a first-time freshman. [He's] a guy that makes some plays and certainly has a bright future. [He's] very accurate throwing the football, and I was happy to see that," Scott said.

With Penn's performance, Quarterbacks Coach John Reaves was also satisfied. "Vic Penn showed he's a player. He made some plays that laid some questions to rest," Reaves said.

Wright, the White team's QB, had a difficult time getting his offense going. Wright threw the ball 13 times with two completions for 45 yards and no interceptions.

Wright was somewhat hampered by his "hands off" status, which restricted his mobility because every time a defender was near, he was considered sack. This was done to prevent an injury to the only quarterback with experience.

"It was frustrating when I couldn't run," Wright said.

Wright's status was also frustrating for the defense. "It kind of made me mad when Coach Scott said we couldn't hit him because he's been talking trash and we can never hit him," senior linebacker Darren Hambrick said.

But Wright doesn't blame the defeat on his immobility.

"So much of our talent was spread out we couldn't really do anything out there. Plus we were pretty much going against the one defense," Wright said.

Coach Scott thought that the White's loss wasn't completely Wright's fault.

"[It's] unfair to judge Anthony's performance tonight. He took his game up a notch this spring. There were a lot of dropped balls," Scott said.

Reaves said he is optimistic about Wright.

"We're not discouraged because we've had a great Spring. Anthony had a great Spring. Even though it doesn't show tonight, he's going to have a great year for us," Reaves said.

Despite the low offensive output, the game went well, Scott said. "We're beginning to look like an SEC football team. [I'm] generally pleased with the effort," Scott said.

"The next chance to see this squad as a whole will be on September 6 as the Gamecocks take on Central Florida in Columbia.

Moritz stars in Spring Game out slow this Spring and really decided that he had to step up his play with the injury to Hambrick and use this Spring Game as a chance to showcase his talents.

"I wasn't having a really good spring," Moritz said. "This past week and a half, I kind of woke up and starting practicing like I should be practicing."

Moritz has not always been in the Gamecock spotlight, but he said that his hard work and dedication has carried him far.

"When I first got here, I was brought up late for a scholarship," Moritz said. "Over the four years, I did not redshirt, I played special teams when I got up here. The coaches always thought that I played hard, and I have always thought that I played hard. This past year, when Duce got hurt, I got a chance to show what I can do a little bit, and now Duce is not here no more. So now it is my turn. I waited for it like everyone else."

If Moritz continues to work hard during the summer like he has the past four years, his future at tailback will be bright as the Gamecocks hope to replace All-Star Duce Staley in the Fall.

USC takes two making the score 6-0.

The score stayed 6-0 until the eighth, when Poston allowed the first batter to get on, and then allowed a deep home run to left field. Tanner brought in freshman second baseman Mac Baroody to pitch the rest of the way, but Baroody quickly allowed a home run and two singles. Brent Moore finished the game, as the Gamecocks held on to win, 6-4.

USC plays its next home game Tuesday against Wofford. Carolina then travels to Clemson Wednesday for the third of four games against the Tigers this year.
