

DIRECTORIES

When asked why we should print a phone book at all, since by the time they come out most students already have the phone numbers they want, Brewer said, "People are going to meet new people all year. If you happen to need to get a hold of someone in class, you can use the directories."

The new phone books have an artist's rendering of the new Greek housing that is planned for behind the Strom Thurmond Fitness and Wellness Center, Brewer said, construction of which won't begin until next year.

For next year, Brewer said that it's not yet final if USC will try to get the books done before students arrive at school. But like always, he assured, student feedback will be taken into consideration.

Brewer said that in the future, it might be possible not to print the directory at all.

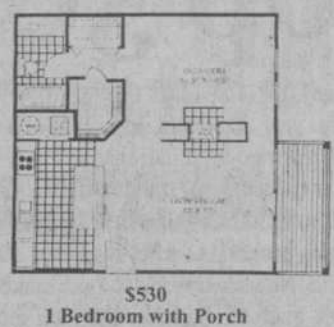

"There are a lot of things we can put on the Internet and save money by not printing, but for now there is no plan to stop publishing the directories."

Tuesday, Sept. 12

Assistance rendered and assisting other agency, Abraham Meminger, 24 years old, stated that he was walking down Sumter Street southbound when an unknown person in a beige-colored 4-door vehicle struck him on his left side with the bumper/hood. Meminger also stated that the vehicle came out of the Blossom Street Garage. After being hit by the car Meminger managed to get to the P.E. Center and call an ambulance.

Possession of marijuana and disorderly conduct, Williams-Brice Stadium. Reporting officer witnessed Louis Hurley, 30 years old, attempt to enter the stadium from the Bluff Road side without a ticket. When the officer stopped him, he discovered that Hurley had a strong smell of alcohol on him, and after searching his pockets the officer found a plastic bag containing what is believed to be marijuana.

Monday, Sept. 11

Larceny of money, Thomas Cooper Computer Lab. Balentine Baptist stated to police that unknown person (s) removed the following unsecured items: a wallet, $60 cash, keys, a VISA credit card, USC ID and a laundry card. Estimated value of items stolen is $80.

Disorderly conduct, Williams-Brice Stadium. Reporting officer observed Daniel Gunderman, 22 years old, causing a disturbance near the stands by shouting obscenities at certain members of the audience. The officer escorted Gunderman out of the stadium and arrested him.

Simple assault and battery, Williams-Brice Stadium. Jerry Rhodes, 51 years old, reported to an officer that Kevin Gillian, 32 years old, struck him in the face after arguing about a seat at the stadium. The altercation was witnessed by three other who all reported that Rhodes was indeed struck in the face. After interviewing Gillian to get his side of the story, the officer noticed that Gillian had been drinking that day.

Disorderly conduct, Williams-Brice Stadium. Reporting officer, while stationed at the north endzone attempted to inform Walter Standish, 23 years old, not to pull the bushes. At that point the suspect told police an obscenity and to leave him alone. The officer did notice the strong smell of alcohol on Standish and afterwards arrested him.
