Columbia City Ballet celebrates 40 years

BY ERIN O'NEAL
THE GAMECOCK

The Columbia City Ballet will be celebrating 40 years of dance performances this Friday and Saturday at the Koger Center for the Arts.

"40 Years in the Spotlight: Anniversary Celebration" is a retrospective look at some of the company's memorable productions.

Company alumni will join the Columbia City Ballet to perform excerpts from original ballets such as Dracula, Beauty and the Beast, Swan Lake and A Tribute to Fred Astaire.

Former members will revive their previous roles, and guest appearances will be made by Marcelo Gomes, recently named one of the top 25 dancers to watch by Dance Magazine, and alumna Tabitha Gerner, who now dances in Disney World productions.

Original productions aren't the only performances planned for the anniversary celebration. More upbeat routines will also be performed, including a recent piece, Blackberry Winter by Marie D'Angelo, former associate director of the Joffrey Ballet of Chicago. This routine blends classical dance techniques with those of modern, folk and breakdancing.

Gov. Jim Hodges' wife, Rachel, will chair a special black-tie Opening Night Gala at the Adam's Mark Hotel immediately following Friday's performance. The event will feature dinner, cocktails, dancing and music provided by the band Second Nature.

To reserve seats for the performance, call the Coliseum Box Office at 251-2222, or contact any Capitol Ticket Outlet. For information on corporate tables or individual tickets to the Opening Night Gala at the Adam's Mark Hotel, call the Columbia City Ballet at 799-7605.
