◆ Managing enrollment and enhancing scholarships by increasing average SAT scores to 1200-1350 and maintaining the freshman class size at "strategic levels."

◆ Expanding Honors College enrollment by a minimum of 25 per year until it reaches 1,500 from its current enrollment of 1,000.

◆ Combining the College of Journalism and Mass Communications and the College of Library and Information Science because of the similarities of their research interests and to increase scholarships.

◆ Proposing the College of Health Sciences as a "fifth cornerstone" in addition to the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Science and Mathematics, Business, and Engineering and Information Technology.

Provost Jerry Odom, who chaired the committee, added, "This is not going to be easy."

"When John Palms, President Palms, charged the committee in June, he said, 'You know, we have come so far as a university in the last decade, what we need to do now is to think about how we can position this university to move to the next step,'" Odom said.

"And I think, if these recommendations are implemented, and we move forward in this report, that you'll find five years from now we'll be a different university."

The next step is for Palms to go over the report and decide which recommendations will be brought to the board of trustees.

"We'll have a meeting as soon as we can arrange it to go over some of this and to continue the dialogue as to what can be implemented right away and how that's transformed into the budget process of the university," he said.

Herbert Adams, from Laurens, S.C., was the sole representative from the board of trustees on the SDIC. Odom said Adams was to be a "conduit to the board" and keep it informed of the committee's meetings.

Adams said the board is "pretty much aware" of what's in the report and expects the response to be positive. He urged that the report "doesn't go on the shelf" but becomes a way of action.

Palms discussed the possibility of another budget cut in the coming year, and said, though the governor's budget doesn't call for a cut, "it is very difficult to imagine not getting some cuts."
