moved two years ago.

"Aesthetically, this project may be a good idea, but practically, it's not. USC needs more parking," said second-year art studio student Melody Waller.

Although the university had intended for the renovations to be completed before the start of classes, Jeffcoat said it should be done within the next six to eight weeks.

The university currently has no plans for other similar projects, but it does intend to provide more parking along the edge of campus.
