Solutions

Quigmans ♦ By Buddy Hickerson

"What they don't tell you is between Skull Island and the Empire State Building, experiments were done. Basically, I'm the love child of King Kong and a guinea pig."

HOROSCOPES

ARIES The odds of success are better for you earlier in the day. Complications will arise, so get where you're going and stay there.

TAURUS The more authority you take on, the more you'll be able to provide security for yourself and your family. Don't be afraid.

GEMINI Take care — there are lots of barriers you could run into. The overall outcome is good, but may be different than expected.

CANCER The more planning you do in advance, the easier the job looks. Don't get stuck in the paperwork, though, or you'll be unable to move.

LEO You're on a roll, but take care. New problems always arise when you get into new territory. Watch out.

VIRGO Just when you're almost overwhelmed, you'll remember a nifty trick. Looks like something you learned from your mom, or another close relative.

LIBRA The more questions you ask, the more magnificent secrets will be revealed. Treat each as a treasure, especially if it's from somebody you love.

SCORPIO Be careful as you figure out how much things will cost. Prices are variable though, so don't take your numbers too seriously.

SAGGITARIUS Continue to concentrate your attention. You're especially good with technical data. Soak it up.

CAPRICORN The money's still favored to come in. Suggested sources: something in your closets or hidden close by.

AQUARIUS Present your position clearly. Try not to be confusing. The skeptics will be having enough trouble understanding a new concept, but they can.

PISCES The work you've done before is bringing you in additional points. Behind your back, old co-workers are saying nice things about you. But some hate you.

system sold 5 million units in 13 months, making it the fastest-selling video game system in Japan. The system was sold out in Japan following Christmas.

The system is to be released in Japan on March 2 at an estimated price of $140 USD. An American and European launch was not announced, but it is speculated that the redesign will see a release in these areas in the late spring.

for culture shock, for novel situations," said Elaine Raybourn, a video-game expert at Sandia who developed the "Adaptive Thinking and Leadership" program. It was tested at the Army's John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center and School at Fort Bragg, N.C.

"Our goal is to create an environment where they can practice skills and learn for themselves, in community with others, what their strengths and weaknesses are," she said.

"You can take soldiers into a virtual world where it's too dangerous and expensive to do live training," Wardynski said.

Civilian agencies, such as the Secret Service and the Department of Homeland Security, also are using video game training technology.
