Customers, First, Last and Always

"I'll buy that!" That's a pretty common phrase but there's a world of meaning in it—it means that whoever is saying it is convinced that what he's buying — an idea, a service, or a product — will do the job for him. It means he satisfied.

One of our main jobs is turning out the quality of cloth that will keep our customers saying, "I'll buy that." Since we live in a competitive society, there's plenty of room for our customers to move around — they can look, inspect, try, pick, and choose the best cloth available at the lowest possible price.

We sell our customers when we turn out that kind of cloth. We continue to sell them when our cloth maintains high quality at low cost. When a company sells, it means that production, jobs, homes, and families all grow stronger. That's why customer satisfaction is the concern of everyone here.

The only way we can sell is by turning out the quality of cloth that keeps customers saying, "I'll buy that." It's a fact that when customers stop buying — we all suffer. We hope in turn "you will buy that."

"Let George Do It!"

Our nomination for the number one citizen of the world is George. Our distinguished, yet somewhat elusive nominee has many qualifications. His chief claim to fame is his ability to keep the world turning without our help.

While we are making nominations, let's all rally behind our favorite candidate with the ever popular slogan, "Let George Do It". There is little question that he can do it—why, he has been doing it for years.

Let's look at the record. George has been protecting our nation's highways since 1900 and 1,189,414 Americans have lost their lives in automobile accidents. He was chief advisor to Red China when the Chinese marched into Korea. His deft hand clutched the handle of the voting machine that brought dictatorship into power. Yes, George has done quite a job. He is our favorite son because he will assume our responsibilities and make up our minds for us. He isn't always right, but he has a positive attitude that always gets the job done, right or wrong. George is quite a guy.

We of Clinton and Lydia have tasted the fruit of George's generosity in our accident prevention program and it is high time we barked at the bitter flavor. Let's face it, George is a bungler, unworthy of leadership, incapable of deciding our fate. It is time we decided to do the job ourselves, and leave George out.

"Patience - - A Valuable Virtue"

It has been said, "You can accomplish anything if you have patience. Water can even be carried in a sieve—if you wait until it freezes."

This idea has been expressed by a number of famous people:

William Penn — "Patience and diligence, like faith, removes mountains."

Benjamin Franklin — "He who can have patience can have what he will."

J. G. Holland, well-known writer and editor of the 19th century — "There is no great achievement that is not the result of patience working and waiting."

As the world becomes more and more densely populated and industrialized, people have to live and work closer together. In the busy world in which we live, nerves, naturally, are more likely to become frayed — temper aroused.

Impatience while working or driving, or walking along the streets and highways can result in accidental injuries or death. Whereas, impatience often gives rise to discord on the job, in the home, in the church and community.

Often, friendships are broken when those involved in them are hasty in passing judgments.

In short, patience is of tremendous importance to everyone in their everyday lives. However, a person cannot just sit back and wait for his goals and dreams to come true automatically. Yet, if one combines work and efforts with patience, he can, within reason, expect to, win friends and achieve success in life.
