World's Fair Opens In Knoxville

"An International Adventure": The 1982 World's Fair, Knoxville, Tenn., May 1-October 31. It will give you a glimpse of faraway lands and lots more with events and features planned around the theme "Energy Turns The World."

It is the first international exposition to be signed in the Southeastern U.S. since 1895, when Cotton States International Exhibition was set in Atlanta.

Major industries, nations and associations from all over the world will be represented. Daily events will include parades, celebrity appearances, games and arcades, amusements and a World Festival series of sporting events.

You can "Taste the World's Fare"—food from around the world: sidewalk cafes, specialty restaurants and many quick-service locations.

THE SUNSPHERE theme tower, with a restaurant on top, is the anchor attraction. The Fair, focusing on development of energy technology at the University of Tennessee, Oak Ridge and other nearby research facilities, is on a 72-acre site between downtown Knoxville and the University. Eleven million visitors are expected during the 6-months schedule.

The Fair promoters report "adequate" lodging facilities within a 200-mile radius of Knoxville, but demand will be great. If the Fair is in your travel schedule, here are some sources of information that will be useful for planning:

Accommodations: Knoxville-Official Hotel/Motel Housing Bureau. Call 615-971-1030. Lodging Services at 615-971-4000. Additional information: Write or call World's Fair Group Sales, P.O. Box 1982, Knoxville, TN 37901. Call 615-971-1600.

Campsites in Great Smoky Mountains National Park in NC-Tenn. can be reserved for Fair-goers. Make reservations through Tickertron, Box 2715, San Francisco, CA 94126.

Tennessee State Parks north of Knoxville offering camping facilities are Cove Lake, Big Ridge and Norris Dam (also has cabins). Reserve cabins by contacting park directly. For more information on these and other Tenn. State Parks, write Parks Division, 2611 West End Ave., Room 103, Nashville, TN 37202.

For a free copy of "Camping in Tennessee" booklet (lists national forests, state and private campgrounds and facilities near Knoxville and across the State) write Tourist Development, Box 23171, Nashville, TN 37202.

Information and list of locations and facilities at several campsites in Western NC's Pisgah and Nantahala National Forests, write Box 2750, Asheville, N.C. 28802.

Willis Pittman, right, instructs operators Jesse Roberson, Brian Shealy, and Herman Williams in various safety features on a fork lift.

Employees Receive Fork Lift Training

Thirty-three Clinton Mills employees recently participated in a Fork Lift Life Operator Training course. The two hour program, conducted by Willis Pittman, Jr., Training Coordinator for the South Carolina Department of Labor, was designed to instruct lift truck operators in the recognition, avoidance and prevention of unsafe conditions while working with their lifting machines. Those participating in the classroom instructions were:

Walter Moore, Willie Moon, Glen Prather,

Teddie McLendon, George Moore, Sammie Richards, Robert Cobb, Alexander Reeder.

Also, Bobby Mason, Henry Higgins, Boyce Tapp, Claude Ward, Sammy Lanford, Ben Kelly, Marshall Vaughan, Silas Campbell, Jim Switzer, James Buchanan, John

Copeland, James Garlington, Hall King, Michael Shealy, Charlie Blufford, Herman Williams, George McMorris, Ulysses Watts.

In addition, Charles Mabry, Jessie Roberson, Jessie Brewster, Johnny Pinson, Billy Watkins, John Gary, and Phil Owens.
