School Girl and a Young The News' Work for Good Man Disappear--Probably Married.

High Point special in the Observer: Last night in the wee small hours Miss Hilda Royster, a handsome 16-year-old schoolgirl, left her room and has not been seen since. At the same time George Burns, a young man of this city, also made his disappearance and it is believed the young people hied themselves away to South Carolina, on the early morning train, where they were married, today. Miss Roy ster slept in a room at her home last night with two other young ladies and, in the stillness while other two were asleep, eloped with her lover, it is believed.

Streets.

From the Rock Hill Herald.

Lancaster congratulates Rock Hill on the success of its cement payement movement. Too much cannot be said in praise of the work done to advance the good cause by the enterprising newspapers of that town .- Lancaster

Many thanks to Brother Connors for his kind words. We notice that The News has been get the people of Lancaster interested in building better streets and pavements, and if editor Conners sticks to his guns, as he will no doubt do, we are confi dent he will win the tattle yet.

The Mysterious Marvin Abduction Case.

Wilmington, Delaware, Apr. 5 .- Governor Lea will go to Do ver today and take the present status of the Marvin abduction case. The state's appropriation, the father's deposit of $2,000 in gold and several other rewards have failed to bring any trace of the missing child. It is believed be offered by the state, which can be taken from various con tingent funds. Pinkerton detectives are still here trying to get some clue, and will remain till some conclusion is reached. The case is the most perplexing in criminal history. Even tearing down an old barn today failed to reveal any evidence of the mis-
