

LOCAL DOTS

—As already published in The News, Court convenes here next Monday.

—Mrs. Charles B. Smith, wife of the Methodist minister at Bishopville, died Friday night.

—Mr. M. B. Rabon has resigned as a member of the dispensary board in Kershaw county.

—The L. & C. Railroad is building an embankment to take the place of its long trestle at Cane creek.

—The price of cotton has advanced to 13½ cents and many predict that it will reach 15 cents before next fall.

—Mr. C. R. Yoder has been appointed postmaster at Vanwyck, to succeed his father, Mr. J. M. Yoder, who resigned.

—The Rev. C. P. Carter, pastor of Grace Methodist church, delivered an address to the Chester Odd Fellows last Friday night.

—Mr. Kenneth D. McCaskell has been appointed postmaster at Cassett, in Kershaw county. He succeeds Mr. J. C. Price, who resigned.

—Mr. Alexander Bradford was kicked by a mule and his leg broken while at work this morning on Mr. J. A. Latta's farm a few miles from Yorkville.—Yorkville New Era.

—The Williams Hughes Co., the A. J. Broom Co., E. E. Cloud and Geo. F. Ferguson have new and attractive announcements in today's paper, to which your attention is invited.

—The beautiful Confederate monument unveiled at Yorkville last Saturday is of Lancaster county granite. The stone was furnished by the Southern Granite company, from its quarry at Magill.

—The Rev. R. M. Marshall, in charge of the Rock Hill and Lancaster Episcopal churches, is chaperoning a party of young boys encamped on the banks of the Catawba this week, near the Jones mill, in York county.

—At a meeting yesterday of the trustees, Col. A. R. Banks was re-elected Superintendent of the Graded Schools, and Mr. B. F. Allen, of Dillon, principal of the Central school. Mr. Allen is a graduate of Furman University.

—Mayor R. E. Wylie and Secretary and Treasurer W. C. Thomson, of the Lancaster Cotton Mills, attended the meeting Monday at Great Falls of the Engineering Society of the Carolinas. The Southern Power company was the host of the occasion and all the guests, about 100 in number, were given a royal time.

—Mr. A. J. Clark has left at this office the dimensions of some remarkable hail stones that fell at Fort Lawn Monday afternoon.—The measurements were made by Mr. W. F. Ferrell, chief engineer of the Catawba Valley R. R. and were given Mr. Clark by the Hon. Mat Hough, of Landford. The stones were elliptical in shape.—The large die measured 3 5-16 inches, and the small, 2¼ inches. Round, 2¼.

—Bill Cunningham and others who have been twitting the editor for urging other people to repair and beautify their homes while doing nothing in that direction himself, will please take notice that he has at last covered a hole in the roof of his shack with new shingles, put new steps to his backdoor and had Parson Brown's whitewash brush sawing the air for a week.
