

The Newspaper Man.

How dear to my heart is the steady subscriber,
 Who pays in advance at the birth of the year;
 Who lays down his money, and does it quite gladly,
 An casts 'round the office a halo of cheer.
 He never says: "Stop it, I cannot afford it,"
 Nor "I'm getting more papers than now I can read,"
 But always says, "Send it, the family enjoy it;"
 In fact, we all think it a real household need.
 How welcome he is, when he steps in the sanctum;
 How he makes our heart throb; who he makes our heart dance.
 We outwardly thank him, we inwardly bless him—
 The steady subscriber who pays in advance.
 But may the Lord give us action, on the side show attraction,
 Who takes out our paper, for year after year,
 And then when we meet him, and kindly entreat him,
 To give us our money, he gets on his ear
 And tells us to stop it, and never more drop it
 In the postoffice box, with the rest of his mail;
 And refuses to pay us and dares to array us
 With swindlers and "con" men who should be in jail.
 Yes, Lord, make us able, by a turn of the table,
 To get what is due us, from this slick old, hoo-doo;
 And we'll stay on the "level," in spite of the devil;
 And pay all our bills before they are due.
 —Cotton Journal.
