Comments on Judge Hydrick's Charge to the Lancaster Grand Jury.

Yorkville Enquirer: That is an interesting charge that Judge Hydrick delivered to the Lancaster grand jury the other day and it contains a good deal of food for thought. The purpose of the judge seems to be to impress the paramount necessity of upholding the majesty of the law, and his remarks are eminently sound. The thing that brings the law into the greatest disrepute is failure of enforcement, and when Judge Hydrick says that the responsibility for this failure, or alleged failure, rests upon the people, he tells nothing but the blunt truth. Of course there are those who blame the judges and lawyers, and in placing the blame here they are sincere; but mistaken. However it may be in theory, in practice the lawyer is merely the representative of his client. Generally speaking he considers it his business to pull his client through, and often, it will have to be admitted, he does not much care how. As to whether his client is guilty makes no odds to him, as a rule. That is a fact that must be established by the other side, and he will not give any more assistance than he can help. It is up to the jury to represent the people in the matter and if the jury does not represent the people, the people are not likely to be represented. If a lawyer succeeds in getting the best of a jury, then the lawyer is that much ahead and that is about all there is to it. We do not think that in absolving the lawyers from responsibility for alleged miscarriages of justice, Judge Hydrick desires to create the impression that they are altogether without guile. He merely seeks to emphasize the fact that no matter how shrewd the lawyer may be, it is up to the jury not to allow itself to be outwitted. But with it all, and with the shortcomings wherever they may be, there must be absolutely no detraction from the majesty of the law, and the people must understand that whatever goes wrong with the administration of justice, they and they alone, are responsible. And while, as Judge Hydrick points out, the people have it in their power to do what they will, they should not fall into the mistake of thinking that they can do injustice without paying the penalty. Whether the direct injustice, through sins of either commission or omission be properly chargeable to judge, jury or lawyer, there is no escape from the consequences and those consequences generally fall on the whole people.

Two Battleships Complete Voyage of 35,000 Miles.

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 19.—The U. S. battleship Maine, after making a circuit of the globe, arrived here today. As the battleship was warped into the dock the "jackies" on board and those stationed in the yard gave vent to prolonged cheers. The battleship Maine, on swinging to anchor at the Portsmouth navy yard today, ended, together with the battleship Alabama, which arrived at New York today, the most spectacular around-the-world cruise ever made by a first class modern warship. During the voyage, which was started from Hampton Roads and which consumed 308 days, the two vessels covered over 35,000 miles.

Sad Condition of Rock Hill Man in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 18.—E. H. Fulenwider, of South Carolina, the brother-in-law of Dr. John Miller Moore, has arrived here, is making arrangements through Ambassador White and the American consul general, Frank H. Mason, to have Dr. Moore, who is still suffering from hallucinations, taken home.

The case of Dr. John Moore has occupied the attention of Consul General Mason off and on for the past two months. Dr. Moore, who was for a long time a surgeon in the United States navy, was sent to an asylum for the insane. Later he was examined by experts, including Dr. Babcock, superintendent of the Insane Asylum at Columbia, S. C., all of whom agreed that Dr. Moore was suffering from delusions and that it would not be safe to liberate him.

A Rock Hill special in the News and Courier says:

Dr. J. Miller Moore mentioned in the Paris dispatches, is a native of this city. He is the eldest son of the late B. Lawrence Moore, one of the pioneer citizens of Rock Hill, and his wife was a Miss Miller, of Shelby, N. C.

News in Chester County—Two Deaths and a Fire

Chester Reporter: Mr. Jos. P. Yandle, the contractor, died at his home on Elizabeth street this morning, after an illness of several months. The funeral services will be held at the house this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. D. M. McLeod and the remains taken to Waxhaw, N. C., tomorrow morning for burial. The interment will be under the direction of Hopewell Lodge, No. 43, I. O. O. F., the deceased being a member of this order. An escort from Chester Lodge, No. 177, F. U. A., with which Mr. Yandle was also identified, will also accompany the remains.

Mr. Yandle was 53 years of age. He was born and lived the early part of his life near Monroe, N. C., moving later to Waxhaw, N. C., from which town he came to Chester about eight years ago. He leaves a wife and ten children, three sons and seven daughters.

Mr. Robert Davison, aged about 73, died at his home on Fishing Creek near Fort Lawn Wednesday evening and was buried at Cedar Shoals the following afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. J. H. Wilson. Mr. Davison leaves two sisters, Miss Esther Davison and Mrs. Minerva McCorkle, these two being the last surviving members of a large family. Two brothers, W. A. and J. H. Davison, gave their lives for the Confederacy, the former dying of typhoid fever in Richmond in 1862 and the latter falling at Second Manassas, Aug. 30, 1862.

The barn on Dr. J. G. Johnston's plantation near Armenia was destroyed by fire early yesterday evening. The stock, wagons and other agricultural implements were saved, but about 4,000 bundles of fodder went up in the flames. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. J. D. Sanders and family live on the place.

MR. EDWARD FLYNN.

Marked Success that the Young Lancastrian Has Achieved in the Lumber Business in Alabama—Tale of the Sea.

Mr. E. D. Flynn, one of Lancaster county's bright and rising young men, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Flynn, of New Cut, who for several years has been the traveling representative of the McIntyre Lumber & Export company at Jackson, Ala., with headquarters at Mobile, is now a large stockholder and prominent official, being a member of the board of directors, of a large lumber company recently incorporated in that State, known as the Mobile, Jackson Lumber company and capitalized at $100,000. The new corporation has taken over the plant of the old McIntyre company, the mill of which has a capacity of 100,000 feet a day.

The Mobile Herald of the 5th instant contains a graphic account of the wreck off the Bahama Islands in a hurricane on Sept. 15th of the schooner Beulah McCabe with a cargo of lumber, 500,000 feet, belonging to Mr. Flynn's old company, the McIntyre, which was being shipped to Porto Rico. All the members of the crew were lost save one, who was picked up at sea after floating for ten days on a raft without food or water. When rescued the body of a companion who had been dead for four days was lashed to him and the little raft, he being too weak to untie the knots in the rope that bound them together. The vessel and her cargo were both covered by insurance.

A Remarkable Case—Young Wife Twice Kidnaped.

Huntington, L. I., Oct. 19.—After spending a night of terror, hiding in a barn from friends who were searching the woods for her, Mrs. Abbie Meeriongola, who was twice kidnaped by two men and kept a prisoner in the woods, returned to her sister's home in this village today. She was so frightened and dazed by her experience at the hands of the kidnapers that she could tell no connected story of her ill treatment.

Mrs. Meeriongola is 17 years old, the daughter of a well-to-do farmer and a wife of a contractor, to whom she was married six months ago. She was first dragged from her home on Oct. 10. A neighbor saw her being led to the woods between two armed men. Three days later, after her father and husband had sought for her in vain, she staggered into her father's home and said that she remembered little that had happened during her absence except that she had been kept a prisoner in a swamp by two men.

A few days later another attempt to kidnap her from her father's house was made, but was frustrated by the appearance of her husband.

Again last Saturday afternoon the two kidnapers raided her father's home and, frightening her mother with a revolver shot, again dragged the young wife away. The help of the police again was summoned and yesterday afternoon two officers found her in the custody of two men in the woods near Huntington. The girl was lying on a pile of brush, while her captors were playing a game of cards. The kidnapers gave battle to the police, but were overcome and arrested. Alarmed and apparently half crazed, the girl fled into the swamp. The police pursued her for a short distance, but soon lost track of her.

Court Proceedings—Two Damage Suit Cases Heard.

The Court of Common Pleas convened here Monday morning, Judge Hydrick presiding. His honor first gave to all the jurors a lucid explanation as to what is meant by the preponderance of the evidence, by which rule jurors are governed in deciding issues on the civil side of the court. He also impressed upon them the importance of their findings being in accordance with the law and the evidence—the law as given them by the judge and the facts as testified to on the witness stand, they being the sole judges of the latter. He also instructed the jurors not to allow any one to talk to them outside the court room about a case undergoing trial.

On sounding the calendar the following cases were continued: John A. Bridges vs Heath Banking & Mercantile company, money demand. J. C. Hilton & Sons vs Equitable Fire Ins. Co. Wm. Hagins vs Mack Stinson and Nighten Brown, action to recover real estate. Heath Banking & Mercantile Co. vs J. L. Reed, suit on note. T. J. Strait vs British and American Mortgage Co., contract. J. E. Creed vs Piedmont Mutual Ins. Co., suit on contract. A. A. Caskey, admr., J. B. Caskey, vs Lancaster Cotton Mills and C. B. Skipper, suit for damages.

The case of J. Harry Foster vs Charlotte R. Foster, et al, for partition, was discontinued.

The first case tried was that of Alice E. Beckham, admrx., of estate of E. J. Beckham, vs Lancaster and Chester Railroad company, an action for damages, growing out of the loss of plaintiff's husband's life while coupling cars of defendant company in Chester. The remainder of the day was occupied in the hearing of the case, the jury rendering a sealed verdict yesterday morning, which was in favor of the plaintiff for $2500. The plaintiff was represented by Mr. J. Harry Foster, and the defendant by Messrs. Williams & Williams, of Lancaster, and Mr. S. E. McFadden, of Chester. Defendant's attorneys gave notice of motion for new trial.

The case of Lee J. Payne, by guardian ad litem, against the Lancaster Cotton Mills, an action for damages for injury sustained in the mill machinery, was tried yesterday. A verdict was rendered in the afternoon for plaintiff for $500. A motion for a new trial will be made by plaintiff's attorney, Mr. Foster. The defendant company was represented by Messrs Williams & Williams.

There are a number of jury cases yet to be disposed of.

Deadly Tornado in New Mexico

Clayton, N. M., Oct. 19.—Four persons were killed in and near Clayton last night as the result of a tornado and cloudburst. Twenty persons were injured, three of whom may die.

The new Union county court house, which cost $40,000, was wrecked and a score of houses were demolished or torn from their foundations.

Big Cotton Fire in Rock Hill ---Several Hundred Bales Destroyed.

Rock Hill special in Monday's News and Courier: Seven or eight hundred bales of cotton, valued at $35,000, estimating with the local price of cotton as a basis, were destroyed in a fire which consumed Edward Fewell's ware house here at an early hour today. The loss on the building is placed at three or four thousand dollars. Speculating, much more was lost, because the cotton was for the most part stored because the owners were not willing to take the market price. The cotton was insured upon the above basis. On the building Mr. Fewell had about three thousand dollars' insurance. This ware house was badly damaged by fire on the 13th September, and two hundred bales burned.

Winthrop College Crowded.

Winthrop College, Oct. 19.—Since the work incident to the opening of college over the office force has had time to make up the statistics in regard to the number of applications and the enrollment. The total number of applications to Oct. 1st is 1,162, the greatest number in the history of the college and more than any college in the state has received so far as we are able to learn. By the end of August the college had received 1,047 applications. Since that time 115 more have applied. Among this number are included girls living in town who did not apply till the opening of college. In addition to these 1,192 who filed applications are quite a number who wrote inquiring about the possibility of being admitted, who on being informed that the dormitories were full made no formal application. None are included among the number of applicants unless a formal application is filed in the college office.

Gov. Ansel in the Bryan Campaign.

Columbia State of yesterday:—Gov. M. F. Ansel will leave today for New York, where he will take part in the Democratic campaign. The fight in that State is waxing warm and reinforcements are being called in from all over the country. It has been rumored that a great deal of swapping is going on in New York, that the Democrats are intent upon electing Chanler governor while they are not so active in behalf of Mr. Bryan. This does not appear to be the case when such a pleasing campaigner as Gov. Ansel is called upon to help in the cause of Mr. Bryan.

Mrs. Johnson Hoke Dead.

Rock Hill Record of Monday: As we go to press we learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Hoke, wife of Mr. Johnson Hoke, of the River Bend section, which occurred this morning. Funeral services will be conducted at the home in the morning (Tuesday) at 10:30, and the burial will take place at Neely's Creek.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is used nearly everywhere, because it not only heals irritation of the throat and stops the cough, but it drives the cold out of the system through its laxative principle by assuring a free and gentle action of the bowels, and that is the only way to cure a cold. You can't cure it as long as you are constipated. Insist upon Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Sold by J. F. Mackey & Co. w-8
