Clean Up For Spring Time

Brighten Up Things About the Home and Make Your Place One of Which to be Proud.

The Progressive Farmer.
One of the things you must not neglect this spring is the "cleaning up" about the home and yard and around the barn and other buildings. Of course, there is cleaning up to be done all the year round, and it should be the policy of every farmer to keep things just as neat and orderly at all times as he possibly can; but even when this is done—and how much more when it is not done—there will be a lot of old jobs to be done in the spring—jobs that are all too likely in the press of work to be neglected, and which yet add much to the comfort and the charm of farm life.

SOME THINGS TO DO FOR THE HOUSE AND YARD

To begin at the house, there is likely to be some painting that needs to be done—there is, we are sorry to say, about most Southern farm homes. If your house needs anything along this line, right now is the best time to do it. If it doesn't, let us congratulate you, and then fix up the surroundings so that they will be in harmony with the house. On many buildings which cannot for various reasons be painted, a good coat of whitewash will answer the purpose. Stables, smoke-houses, chicken houses, pig pens, and fences can all be treated to a new white suit much oftener than they usually are with great profit all around. The yard and the garden fences and the one about the barnyard should be carefully looked after, too, all broken places fixed securely right now, and all the gates put in good working order. There is no use in waiting until the chickens get into the garden and scratch it up or till the pigs root up the front yard to do these things.

You will want, of course, to look after the grass in the yard, and the shrubbery and the flower beds, and the shade trees, to clean up all litter of any kind, to set out some new shrubs and perennials, perhaps, to put out some late flowering bulbs, to cut out any dead branches or do any other pruning that may be needed in the shade trees. Let us beg you right here not to whitewash the trunks of your shade trees. That is all right in your orchard if you wish to kill the oyster shell bark louse; but on a shade tree in the yard it is an abomination.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Then about your well or spring or cistern—don't deliberately court sickness and death by neglecting these. Clean off the soil about your well or spring, and fix it so that there can be no possibility of any surface drainage into it. Insist that no kitchen waste or other refuse be thrown out near, or where by any possibility it can drain into, the well or cistern, and do not allow the pigs or chickens to run about the source of your water supply. Do not permit any decaying woodwork to remain about or over the well or cistern, and do not allow any water to run into the cistern until the roof has been well washed off.

All this may seem a great deal of trouble, but ordinarily it will not be so much as it seems; and, in any case, it is cheaper than to run the risk of typhoid and other diseases.

IN THE GARDEN.

There should have been no dead weeds, dry corn stalks or other litter left on the garden last fall; but if there was, gather it all up and burn it before you do any more garden making. We do not approve of the burning of vegetable matter as a rule, but this is an extreme case. You will have insects enough without providing special harbors for them. Besides you want the garden free from all obstructions of every kind so that you can cultivate it with the least trouble and in the best manner.

CLEAN UP THE STABLES, TOO.

Around the barn, in the stalls, pig pens, chicken houses, and from the barnyard, you want to get all the manure and other refuse and get it on the land. You can well afford to delay planting a day or two to do this; for you do not need this accumulation about the premises, and—unless you are very much of an exception to the general run of farmers—you do need it on your crops. Any old cornstalks or other such litter should be taken to the fields, too, unless needed for bedding. A clean barn with a well kept yard about it is always attractive, speaking, as it does, of thrift and energy. A clean barn is not an empty one, but one that is filled out with good feed for the stock, and not matted up with waste, dirt of all kinds, and a heterogeneous mass of old broken and worn-out tools and miscellaneous rubbish. A barn may be kept so that one can go into it without looking like he had been dragged through a dust heap; and can also be kept free from unpleasant and unwholesome odors.

So clean up this spring and get things in shape. Make the place look like somebody lives there, have it neat, wholesome and attractive. You can do it; and it will pay in dollars and cents, in added satisfaction, in renewed ambition and increased self-respect.

Mr. F. G. Fruts, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Kidney Remedy is most for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine as it cleanses the system and cures the complexion. Negro Given 25 Years for Mistreating White Woman in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 7.—Twenty-five years' imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary and a $2,000 fine was the sentence imposed by Judge Barratt here today when George Washington, a negro, was convicted of holding Mrs. Ella Curtin, white, a prisoner in his room and ill treating and robbing her. Mrs. Curtin went to the negro's home to make arrangements to have her trunks moved to a storage house. She alleged that Washington kept her a prisoner in his room from March 25 to 29. She was rescued by the police who had been notified of the matter by another negro roomer in the house. The woman, hospital physicians testified today, is a physical wreck as the result of her experience. Several times while testifying today to the revolting nature of her experiences she collapsed on the stand. The jury quickly convicted Washington and he was given the full penalty of the law.

You should not delay under any circumstances in cases of kidney and bladder trouble. You should take something promptly that you know is reliable, something like DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are unequalled for weak back, backache, inflammation of the bladder, rheumatic pains, etc. When you ask for DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, be sure you get them. They are antiseptic, accept no substitutes; insist upon getting the right kind. Sold by J. F. Mackey & Co.

Man Worth Ten Million Kills Himself.

Philadelphia, April 7.—Charles E. Ellis, president of the Citizens' Passenger Railway company and one of the wealthiest men in Philadelphia, shot and killed himself today at his home in this city. He was discovered lying in a pool of blood in his bed room by his wife, who heard the report of the revolver while she was at breakfast. A physician who was hastily summoned pronounced him dead.

The dead man was 74 years old and had been a sufferer from neuralgia and rheumatism for some time. Mr. Ellis's wealth was reported to be above $10,000,000.

Eat What

You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak. You must eat in order to live and maintain strength. You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach. The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.
