

DISPENSARY INVESTIGATION.

Commission Resumes Work. Attorney for Liquor House Lets Big Claims Go by Default. The Lanahans Again.

Columbia Record, June 16: The dispensary commission and its attorneys are determined to force the Lanahan people to produce the books wanted and their compounding superintendent. Their local attorney, Mr. W. A. Clark, said he would put this up to them and they'd have to stand the consequences of failure. Col. Felder said a way had been found to force this. This new move was not explained. Its outcome will be watched with great interest.

There was a sharp tilt today between Messrs. Felder and Mordecai about the alleged destruction of the Wilson Distilling company's books in the Baltimore fire. The State claimed it could prove that this concern was not affected by the fire. Mr. Mordecai claimed he could prove otherwise. The commission postponed the case till Friday for the production of the books. Mr. Mordecai admitted that commissions of $1.50 a case had been paid to J. S. Farnum, but claimed this was a business transaction. Mr. Felder declared he could prove that $2 was paid, half of which went to the dispensary directors.

The cases of Catherwood, Cook & Bernheimer and Gallagher & Burton were abandoned by Mr. Mordecai, who said he had not been able to secure the information on which to base representation. The stenographer was instructed to enter on the record that the State claimed judgment by default— forfeiture of full amounts of three claims.

Col. Felder opened the investigation by introducing a salesbook of the Lanahan concern containing stock takings in the back and quoted from this to show that the stuff the company has been selling to the State for $10.50 to $13 a case was manufactured at a cost of less than half this, the profits showing up $8 a case in some instances. This was the same kind but not the same stuff shipped to this State. The books showing these sales to this State had not been produced.

Mr. Clark objected on the ground of irrelevancy.

The commission overruled the objection.

Calling for the book showing the company's transactions with this State, Col. Felder said that he would prove by these books so much desired here that the company never during the entire period of its dealings with the State shipped a drop of pure liquor to South Carolina.

Bury the Croaker.

Bury the croaker out in the wood in a beautiful hole in the ground, where the woodpecker pecks and the bumble bee bums and the straddle bug straddles around. He is no good to the city push; too unpractical, stingy and dead, but he wants the whole earth, and all of its crust, and the stars that shine overhead. Then hustle him off to the bumble bee's roost, and bury him deep in the ground; he's of no use here, get him out of the way and make room for the man that is sound.—Exchange.

CORPORATION AND INCOME TAXES.

President Taft Sends Special Message to Senate on the Subjects.

Washington, June 16.—The message of President Taft, recommending the incorporation of a provision in the tariff bill for the taxation of the earnings of corporations and the adoption of a resolution looking to an amendment of the constitution so as to permit the levying of an income tax without interference from the courts, which was received by the Senate today was generally regarded by Senators as of such transcendent importance as to place in the shade all questions pertaining strictly to the schedules of the tariff bill. The message was received early in the afternoon and, after brief discussion on the method of proceeding, was referred to the committee on finance.

Child Drowns in Six inches of Water.

Carthage, N. C., special in Charlotte Observer: The pathetic drowning of the little 14-months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ritter, eight miles south of here yesterday evening, is reported here today. It seems the little fellow was playing around the house near which a little branch runs. The child wandered from the attention of its parents for a few minutes and when search was made it was found face down in about six inches of water in the branch with life extinct.

WIND MOVED HIS HOUSE.

Dwelling of Farmer Near Scranton Given New Location in Storm

Scranton special in the News and Courier, June 16: Yesterday afternoon the Liberty section, about seven miles from here, was visited by a heavy wind storm, lightning and some rain. The only damage so far as this correspondent has been able to ascertain, except slight damage to crops, is that Mr. Josiah Cockfield, a son of the late Capt. James A. H. Cockfield, a prosperous young farmer, had his residence lifted from the blocks and carried some distance away, and the piazza completely torn from the body of the house. Mr. Cockfield was away at the time, and his wife and young babe, being frightened, went to a near neighbor's house for shelter. Just at this time the accident is a heavy loss as Mr. Cockfield will be compelled to rebuild, besides the damage to all his household goods. During the storm lightning struck the old gin house of the late Capt. James A. H. Cockfield and demolished the old building to a considerable extent. So far this correspondent has not heard of any injuries or lives lost.

Why Men Wear Trousers.

(From the Providence Journal) No living man of this age ever deliberately chose to "adopt trousers." He was forced into them and all other eccentricities of dress by woman. In the very earliest sartorial experience of every man he is swathed in a queer bundle of incoherent bandages by a woman. Later she puts him into cute little dresses so that the neighbors can't tell him from his little sister. Still later she cuts off his curls and puts him into knickerbockers, and he puts on "long pants" when she gives the word and not before. That is all that man has to do or ever had to with wearing trousers. Woman forced him into them in the first place, and now he is afraid to wear anything else for fear of making a sensation.
