No Room for Traitors. (Spartanburg Herald.)

The infamous traitor who sneaks about setting fire to food supplies in this time of starving millions abroad should be given short shift and hot lead or the rope within a few hours. It is certainly not a time to deal gently with such ruthless enemies of mankind.

100 per cent. Roughage

BUCKEYE HULLS are real roughage in every particle. They are free of everything that has no value as forage. They are free of lint. They are free of trash. They are free of dirt and dust. When you buy you are paying for nothing but roughage, and you are feeding your stock nothing that is worthless or injurious. Buckeye Hulls look like a real feed and are a real feed. Their very appearance will convince you that you should use them.

Even if Buckeye Hulls cost as much as old style hulls it would still be to your advantage to use them. Selling at several dollars per ton less, they put old style hulls beyond consideration.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of other food. They are sacked—easy to handle. They take half the space for storage.

They mix well with other forage. Every pound goes farther. 2000 pounds of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.

Mr. S. L. Jones, Jackson, La., says:

"I have been feeding my dairy cows Buckeye Hulls and find that they do as well on Buckeye Hulls as on old style and that they like the Buckeye Hulls better than the old style."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.
