

Agricultural Societies.—We believe that all the counties of this State (says the N. York Columbian) with the exception of Richmond, Rockland, Putnam and Broome, have established Agricultural Societies; and the experience of two years has effectually convinced the wavering of their great utility. Experiments in culture have been made—the comparative difference in breeds of animals have been tested—a spring is given to household manufactures of the utmost interest. The men chosen to preside in these societies are generally those distinguished for practical knowledge, and having a high rank in experimental agriculture. Above all we are happy to hear that the spirit of party is unknown in these most interesting associations—and wherever it has heretofore existed, these associations have a tendency to remove its asperity and to revive those social and benevolent feelings which adorn our nature.

The quantity of potatoes exported from Portsmouth, New Hampshire, for 2 months up to the 23d October last, amounted to 97,500 bushels. The exports for the whole of the present season, is estimated at 250,000 bushels. The price opened at 25 cents, rose to 30, and has settled at 27. At this rate, 40,000 dollars will be realized by the New Hampshire farmers in that part of the State, on that single article.

The export from Savannah of upland cotton for last year (from 1st October, 1817, to 1st Oct. 1818) was 116,781 bales; this year 95,427—making a difference of 21,354 bales; that of sea-land was 7029, and that of this year 7450, making an increase of 422 bales. The total amount of general exports of last year was $14,123,118 1/2 cts. that of this year $9,825,460 1/2 cts.—This difference arises principally from the prices of cotton.

There were exported from New-Orleans from the 1st to the 30th Sept. 1853 bales of cotton—549 bales went direct to Europe, and 808 coastwise. There were shipped in the same time 708 hds. of Tobacco, all of which except 281, was shipped to foreign ports.

Foreign Ministers.—M. de Neuville, minister from France, has not left the United States, as he had prepared to do, but received counter orders and is now at Washington—as also M. Poletica minister of Russia, and Baron Stackelberg charge des affaires of Sweden.

His Excellency John Branch is elected Governor of the state of North Carolina for the ensuing year, without opposition.

Judge Yates, of New-York, has been mentioned in the newspapers of that State, as a candidate for the office of Governor, in opposition to Mr. Clinton. The New-York Advocate says Vice-President Tompkins is also much spoken of for the same situation.

In the course of a month, we have seen announced in the public prints, the decease of the following distinguished citizens of the Republic:
Governor Rabun, of Georgia;
Governor Strong, of Massachusetts;
Governor Molleston, of Delaware;
Governor Snyder, of Pennsylvania;
Governors Johnson & Lee, of Maryland.

A library of between 12 and 1800 volumes lately bequeathed by the rev. Wm. Richards (of Lynn Eng.) to Brown university, in Providence, R. I. was received at the university a few days since.

Mr. Connolly has advertised in Boston, that he gives lessons in the art of making pens. He communicates the art in six lessons, so that the learner will be able to make three good pens in a minute.

The people of the Territory of Michigan have determined to petition Congress to indemnify them for losses sustained under the breach of the capitulation entered into by Hull and Brock, the American and British Generals, on the 16th August 1812; and also for losses sustained by them in consequence of quartering the American troops, during the war.—The good people of Michigan are rather tardy in preferring their claims; not that on that account, however, if the claims be just, they ought to be rejected.

We perceive by the Northern papers that Mr. Binns has at length completed his splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence. The execution is spoken of in the highest terms. Mr. B. has reduced the price to ten dollars.

PROPOSALS
FOR PUBLISHING A PERIODICAL
In the Town of Columbia, (S. C.)
A WEEKLY MISCELLANY, TO BE CALLED THE
SOUTHERN LITERARY REGISTER.
BY ANDREW J. OLIVE.

THIS paper will be principally devoted to History, Biography, Criticism, Moral and Religious Essays, Poetry, and the Fine Arts. Agricultural, Medical, and other articles, which may be thought of general interest, will likewise be admitted, together with such matter of wit and amusement as may be judged useful or entertaining. A general Summary of Politics will be added each week, and a Monthly List of New Publications at the end of every fourth number.

The inducements which have led the editor to issue proposals for a publication of this nature, are such as he believes to be of sufficient weight and importance to warrant the undertaking. The wealth, refinement, and literature of the southern states; the genius and erudition of numbers, who either hold important offices under government, or are at the head of the literary institutions established among us; and the rapidly increasing taste for learning and the arts, which is spreading among all classes of people, are the proud evidences of a flourishing and improved state of society, and afford him abundant encouragement to hope for a successful prosecution of his plan. It is not a little remarkable, perhaps, that an undertaking of this kind has been so long delayed, and that while, in many instances, our daily newspapers have attempted to blend literary articles of interest and merit with the dry detail and confusion of political matter, no one should have thought of separating the two, and establishing a general repository for the reception and circulation of useful and polite literature. As far as the editor has the means of information, he is acquainted with no paper published south of Baltimore which bears the character of the one he has in contemplation; and as Columbia is nearly the central situation between North Carolina and Georgia, this place embraces superior local advantages to many others, and particularly favorable to the wide distribution of such a paper through this and the neighboring states.

In prosecuting this work it will be the editor's constant aim to furnish it with such matter only as may be of general utility, or interesting and important on account of the ability and merit which it may display. He will firmly resist any importunity from private friendship or individual worth, (whatever importance he may otherwise attach to these considerations) when or a subject presented for publication shall be deemed unfit for the pages of the Register. A constant regard will be had to the moral tendency of every article, whether original or selected; and however striking the wit and imagery of a writer may seem, these will never be considered as making up for a general looseness of expression, or a want of fitness and propriety in the management of his subject. Party disputes, either in religion or politics, will be carefully avoided.

CONDITIONS.
The Register will be published every Friday, on a fine super-royal sheet of paper, in an octavo form, each sheet to contain sixteen pages, at four dollars per annum, if paid within thirty days after the delivery of the first number, four dollars and fifty cents if paid after that time and within twelve months, and five dollars if not paid until the year has expired.

At the end of every six months a title page and index will be added, for the accommodation of those who may wish to have their numbers bound into volumes.

Advertisements will be inserted on the two last pages only, at the usual rates.

No subscription will be received for less than a year, nor discontinued until all arrearages shall be paid.

The first sheet will be issued as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers is procured to encourage its publication.

Letters addressed to the editor, post paid, will be punctually attended to.

Subscriptions received at this office, by the different post-masters throughout the state, and the publisher's agents in the principal southern towns and cities.
