What Others Say.

"It is a curious fact that we are establishing a code of conduct in the political arena that is not only different from but antagonistic to that of the moral rule which governs the individual in his private transactions. The man who would resent as an insult the proposition even to commit a swindle or aid in a theft will swing his hat with cheers over a successful criminality of his party. The average member of Congress will tell you frankly, without thinking, that it cost him not less than five thousand dollars to secure his seat. That same member would knock you down for intimating that he had the like sum, obtained through the same process, in his dwelling or business. When, for example, the heaviest manufacturer of agricultural implements in Ohio called his workmen together previous to the late election and said, "My men, I have no wish to influence your votes, but if Grover Cleveland is elected President, no more smoke will issue from those chimneys," he was applauded by his party for having done a clever thing. That same man, when charged subsequently with putting his company's money in a rascally wheat deal, that sent the president of a bank to the penitentiary, resented the charge with the indignation of an honest man. And yet the moral turpitude of the two transactions is greatly in favor of the Fidelity Bank."

The Christian calls attention to a suggestive fact: "Has any noticed how few hymns are quoted in these days? One minister has said that about the entire body of Christian truth with which his people were acquainted, was contained in the hymn-book. The hymns they sung had fastened themselves on their minds. But there is a recent and large class of hymns which are scarcely ever quoted; indeed they are hardly remembered; for there is little or nothing in them to remember or quote. Flighty jingles, vain repetitions, rattling choruses, and jumbled fugues may tickle the ear and please the crowd, but when one settles down to read them in cold, plain, simple English, the interest felt in them vanishes, and they appear stale and stupid, flat and unprofitable.

New York Christian Advocate.

A young lady friend wishes the new minister would adopt "Hands off" as a motto. He may carry it out as far as he pleases; a little formality in social intercourse is not at all objectionable. Some husbands do not like their wives addressed by their Christian names, some girls do not like it, and almost none of them like to be touched unnecessarily on elbows, shoulders, or wrists, or nudged by persons of the other sex who are not related to them. At this picnic season, when people are thrown together often in parties whose charm lies in their apparent freedom, it is not well to overlook little matters in which personal dignity and the dignity of the Gospel are involved. "Hands off!" always, no matter how gay and jolly and lovable she may be, is the way this girl puts it.

Evangelist.

We do really think that the Church is suffering more than she herself may be aware of suffering, from a plague of organizations — organizations that swarm within her own great and all-sufficient organization, and prey upon her proper life. There are some people who seem incapable of going about any charitable or religious work in a quiet and informal manner. For every thing they attempt they must have a "chairman" and a "secretary" and machinery of rules and committees; and there must be a periodical blare of reports, which are often nothing better than a form of boasting.

Any Church can be an evangelistic center, and any pastor an evangelistic preacher, if there be a will. Wesley's motto, "All at it, and always at it," is the key to the problem. The preacher must lift up Christ. Let us not be afraid of the repetition which Sidney Smith regarded as the secret of impression. The word "inclination" is full of ethical suggestion. It means to tread in with the heel (incalx). Men never tire of hearing the old, old story. It is the old, but only, remedy for sin and sorrow.

New York Advocate.

Some men seem to think that they have a special mission to rebuke sin and point out faults. They never see the bright side of life, nor of anything in the world. Their attitude with reference to their neighbors and the Church leads them to exaggerate the evil, and they become unreliable in judgment and speech. Such men think they are following out their convictions, when they are only following out their prejudices. They have such a horror of moral cowardice that they become social nuisances.

Nashville Christian Advocate.

You are responsible for what you read as for what you say. The evil that reaches your brain and heart through your eyes is self-invited. Beware! Moral suicide lies that way.

THE NATIONAL "FLOUR."—We printed some opinions last week in regard to the choice of a national flower. Here is a little story which shows that one man voted for a white "flour" which was neither calla nor water lily, and more useful than ornamental:

A grocer not long ago heard some of his customers talking on this subject. Now he had a particular kind of flour for sale called the Haxall brand, and when he was asked what he thought would be the best flower for the nation to adopt, he said:

"Why, that Haxall brand is way ahead of every thing else, and is the only kind that's fit to be the national flour."

One of the most common mistakes made in putting up new belts is in getting them entirely too tight. The man knows that new belts stretch a good deal for a time after being put into use, and unless made very tight at first soon require taking up: so he makes them as tight as they can be made to go on the pulleys, regardless of the fact that this excessive tension pulls the belt into short crooks, destroys its elasticity, injures the machine on which it runs, and is very wasteful of power.

AN EXPERIMENT WITH GRIT.—You may suppose that because your hens have the run of a range, they procure all the gravel they desire, and so they can—of round gravel—but as the run may have been searched over for months, and perhaps years, the supply of sharp material may be scarce. To test this, break up some glass, old china or other brittle material, and notice the avidity with which the hens will eat it. It is just as necessary to supply the hens with grit as it to provide them with food.

Reflections for January 1st, 1890.

Dear Neighbor:

Almost every day brings with it incidents confirming the necessity of your existence, and vindicating the wisdom of disseminating the principles upon which that existence is based, in order to develop and bring out a higher order, and a better type of manhood, and Christian civilization.

Only the other day in Barnwell occurred an incident as black, brutal and diabolical as anything could well be, even beyond the borders of Christendom, and if any thing should impress itself upon the better class of citizens among us, it should be the importance of giving growth and force to the sentiments vindicated year after year in the columns of the NEIGHBOR, "Peace on earth and good will toward men."

If Christ had sway among us, and the principles of the NEIGHBOR controlled the actions of man, we would not have men murdered, and then as a sequel to that, men led out by brutal mobs and lynched under the sable mantle of night.

Christ's kingdom is a kingdom of light, and contends for peace on earth first last and all time. Some method must be adopted to realize this end. Arbitration would bring to the world a system of law and government, if once made a law, which would do more to lessen crime, lessen expense, and vindicate justice, than any thing that could be done. It would greatly lessen the temptation felt by most lawyers, to play sharp tricks, and win if they can.

We would soon have less lawyers, less expensive court, less dissatisfaction after the adjournment of court, and less lynch law.

O that the sentiment of the NEIGHBOR could be given more force, and have a greater circulation among men, and thereby make Christ's kingdom the dominant kingdom of this world.

It is the need of our times, and too much emphasis cannot be given to it, as an all important demand.

One of the noblest and best utterances in W. W. Wadsworth's new book, "The Coming Kingdom," is when he says, Christ's "plan and work for Israel, were pre-eminently spiritual, and came in direct conflict with the prevalent view.

The maintenance of this Truth to the end cost him His life. Christ before Pilate saying, 'My kingdom is not of this world, for then would my servants fight,' shows conclusively that His conception of the universal reign of peace, with the white-winged dove hovering above its spotless banners, could never have been born of the spirit of the times, when the eagle with outspread talons, ready to devour, stood as a royal emblem of the dominating power of the world."

Dear NEIGHBOR, may this be to you a year of great growth and prosperity, and may the day be not far off, when the motto and sentiment under which you are working, shall be the motto and sentiment of every paper in this great Commonwealth.

W. SMITH MARTIN.

Trusts.

The newspaper trusts is the most extensive and universal trust in this country, and instead of making monopolists and millionaires of publishers, it makes them dependent paupers. To trust a thousand subscribers from one to five years each, is virtually lending a thousand dollars a year to Tom, Dick and Harry, without security and no prospect of ever getting it back again. Yes, trusts are bad things.—Trindid (Colo.) Advertiser.

La Grippe has a fatal grasp on New York. January 4 there were 231 deaths, the total for the week 1,262. The previous week numbered 762 deaths. At Buffalo the disease is spreading, and at Amsterdam in the same State there are 1,000 cases. Three telegraph offices there are closed by reason of the prostration of the employees ,by influenza. Boston's death rate is unequalled for that city being 327 of which 40 per cent are due to acute lung diseases. From 20 to 50 per cent of the public school children are absent with La Grippe. There are 1,000 cases in New Brunswick, N. J. At Brockville, Ontario, three factories have shut down because of the disease among the employees. The schools at Berlin have been closed and the epidemic is now severe in several cities of France, Toulon, Nancy, Rouen, and Algiers. The appearance of the disease in Liverpool is clearly traceable to letters which came there from Russia.

The Conference of Colored men last week—(150 or 200 present) in reference to the Barnwell lynching was, on the whole, conservative—in part not so much so. The point seemed to be condemnation of killing "innocent" men in jail, but rather only incidentally conemning the killing of men not in jail. But the former was the avowed object of the meeting and the conference pretty well stuck to that line.

Rev. Thomas M. Joined, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church (North) and a member of the North Carolina Conference, with his wife, has met rough treatment at the hands of a mob. Getting no redress from the State authorities the two have gone to Washington to lay the case before the British Minister and the State Department.

The Committee on education instructed Senator Blair to make a favorable report on his educational bill That does not indicate that they will vote for it.

Rev. J. T. Wightman, D. D., has resigned the pulpit of Chatsworth Independent Methodist Church and proposes to join our Conference at the next session. We bespeak for him a cordial reception.—Baltimore Episcopal Methodist.

JOHN ALEXANDER,
CONGAREE
IRON WORKS,
Columbia, S. C.
Agent for
CHAPMAN'S
PERPETUAL EVAPORATOR

THESE WORKS WERE ESTABLLSAED in 1847 by Messrs. Geo. Sinclair and James Anderson and purchased by me in the year 1856, and from that time till now carried on successfully by myself. My friends and customers will bear witness of the large and stupendous jobs executed by me. It was at my works where the largest and almost only job of its class ever executed in this city was done viz: the making of the pipes for the City Water Works in the year 1858.

My stock of patterns for ARCHITECTURAL WORK, COLUMNS for Store fronts, is large and various, and in RAILINGS for Balconies, Gardens, and Cemeteries I have the largest variety and most modern patterns; many of these are patented and have purchased the right for this State.

In the machine line I can furnish my patrons with STEAM ENGINES and BOILERS of any size and description. My CIRCULAR SAW MILLS have carried off the prize at every State Fair held in this city, and in their construction I have taken pains to combine simplicity with the most useful modern improvements, and may flatter myself that my CIRCULAR SAW MILLS find favor with every sawyer who understands his business.

The many orders I am steadily receiving for SUGAR CANE MILLS prove that the public appreciate the mills of my make, and so it is with my GEARING for HORSE POWERS, GIN WHEELS, GRIST MILLS and other MACHINERY.

I have the manufacturing rights of many PATENTS such as castings for COTTON AND HAY PRESSES, HAWLEY CORN SHELLER and three or four FEED CUTTERS and other implements.

I will be pleased to send my circulars to any applicant, together with price list or estimate. My prices are moderate, and I assure the public that they are lower even than those of Northern manufacturers, and that my work will compare favorably with that of any other maker. Address
