

BEAUTIFUL DANCE.

LOVELY WOMEN AND HANDSOME MEN
MAKE A CHARMING TABLEAU.

The Beauty and Intelligence of Abbeville Assembled in the Court House Last Night, to Witness the Young People in the Poetry of Motion.

Last night was a memorable night for the young people of Abbeville. The annual dance of the Abbeville Social Union was held at the Court House last night. The tables were filled with ladies and gentlemen. The music was furnished by the Abbeville Musical Society. The dancing commenced early in the night and was kept up until half past one o'clock. The dance was a very successful one and was attended by a large number of the young people of the town.

Business of the Court.
The following cases are docketed for trial at the June Term of the Court, which begins next Monday:

Robert Partlow, burglary, grand larceny and rape.
George Young, United States prisoner serving six months sentence for violation of revenue law.
John Haddon, assault and battery of a high and aggravated nature.
May Cowan, arson.
John Cowan, carrying concealed weapons, riotous conduct, and resisting an officer.

Death of Mrs. Reid.
Mrs. Maggie Reid, the wife of James A. Reid, of the Means Chapel neighborhood, died last Monday at the residence of her father Dr. J. T. Raskin.

Building Up.
Mr. Z. G. Spratt has the contract for remodeling the stores of Messrs. P. Rosenberg & Co. and will build for them a large house on Washington street, opposite Messrs. A. M. Hill & Son's place.

The Census.
We are in receipt of printed letters from the Census Bureau, with request to publish them and send a copy of the paper containing them to the editor of the Press and Banner. The Census Bureau has issued a circular, but no mention is made of the cost of setting the type. As this expense would probably be greater than the value of the letters, we will not print the censuses, either.

The Way It Came About.
Izale Chansler died suddenly at Abbeville on the 15th inst. He was a young man, a doctor, a coroner's jury was organized to enquire into the cause of her death. The jury rendered a verdict that he died from an overdose of opium and hyperty of the heart. There is nothing like making a plain statement, so there is no need of knowing exactly what the old negro did.

Death of a Good Woman.
Mrs. Herndon, the wife of the late Col. R. Z. Herndon, died at Oakesbury last Saturday evening, and was buried on Sunday at Tabernacle burying grounds. She was a devoted mother, a conscientious and greatly beloved by all who knew her. She leaves several children.

NEW INDUSTRY AT ABBEVILLE. A Factory for the Manufacture of Doors, Sash and Blinds to be Established.

Through the active efforts of Mr. R. P. Hill the town of Abbeville will soon have a factory for making doors, sash and blinds. It is by such efforts that the town must be built up, and as our people have an abundance of the future of Abbeville, it is only necessary for any one to take the lead and make the effort, when the money will be forthcoming. The following paper explains itself: The undersigned being desirous of establishing in the town of Abbeville, S. C., a factory for the manufacture of doors, sash and blinds, which are so much needed in this section, and with a capital stock of five thousand dollars, to be divided into one hundred shares of fifty dollars each, hereby agree to pay for so many shares of said capital stock as may be placed upon their names respectively, the sum of the last day of January, 1891. Provided that no part of such subscription shall be called for until the whole number of the proposed stock is subscribed for. The undersigned are: W. C. McGowan, 6 shares; W. J. Smith, 4 shares; W. H. Thomson, 4 shares; P. Rosenberg & Co., 8 shares; High Wilson, 2 shares; P. B. Speed, 2 shares; E. A. Templeton, 4 shares; H. H. Walker, 4 shares; W. J. HONEST NEWSPAPERS NEEDED. What Mr. Tillman Says About Boy-cotting.

In his Riceway speech Mr. Tillman is reported to have said:
If there be a paper, no matter whether its friends are of color or whether they are white, they will come right after awhile. They are just now off on the wrong foot. They will see them catching speed. You need not read honest newspapers, because I say to you that we are too ignorant in this state to read the paper and that is one cause of the trouble in this party today."

The times are sadly changed, said a gentleman not long ago, who felt that everything was going wrong and that he himself in particular was being sadly neglected. "In what respect?" he was asked. "In that you are now what you once were," he said. "O that is plain," he said. "no regard is paid nowadays to people of quality." "Well, to be sure," said the friend, "it isn't so much the people of quality we pay attention to nowadays as it is the quality of people."

Where the rent-day fixed by a lease falls on Sunday the day is not counted, and tender of the rent on the following day is a legal performance. The law does not recognize Sunday as a day for the transaction of ordinary worldly affairs. It has no existence in the legal calendar, in the computation of time, when it happens that parties have agreed that certain acts shall be performed on a day which, perchance, falls on a Sunday.

The Church of to-day needs less antiquity, but more Gospel; less ecclesiasticism and ritualism, but more humility; less literary, but more practical work; less dogmas, but more divinity; less drawing of Church lines of demarcation, but greater liberality and charity.

Notice.
The Abbeville County Democratic Club will hold its regular meeting at Abbeville Court House on Saturday in June at 10 o'clock A. M. The County Clubs are earnestly requested to send full delegations to said convention as there are matters of grave importance to be considered by the County Club. Well Done, Mr. Blaine.
Whatever else may come of the deliberations of the Pan-American Congress, the agreement arrived at hereafter settle all national disputes between any two of the Republics of North, South and Central America and Haiti by arbitration will be esteemed as more than justifying all the labor and expense that have attended the signing of the delegates. The only exception from matters of dispute which must be arbitrated is in case a nation may believe its independent existence at stake, when arbitration may be declined. The agreement of the Congress is at once binding upon all the parties to it except the United States, the assent of which will not have been completed until ratification in the Senate. The treaty is to remain in force twenty years after ratifications shall have been exchanged. After that time any nation dissatisfied with its terms may withdraw upon one year's notice.

This assurance of good understanding among the States of America ought to have its effect in greatly reducing military and naval expenditures. It might also have an impressive lesson for the older States of Europe, which are wasting the resources of their people in maintaining vast military organizations to insure peace by perpetual readiness for war. An agreement of the great Powers to arbitrate their difficulties would be the longest stride toward the millennium that Christianized nations have ever made.—Philadelphia Record.

The Representatives of nine nations have already (May 1) signed the Arbitration Treaty, which was one of the most important fruits of the All-American Conference, and the signatures of three more are promised. The only difficulty liable to be experienced is with Chili and the Argentine Republic. But even these two countries can hardly hold out when arbitration has been formally accepted as the governing policy by all the remaining independent Powers of the continent. The treaty, when approved by the representatives of the contracting States, will go to the several Governments for ratification. The New York Tribune says: "The United States and Brazil, having taken the initiative, can impart a powerful impulse to the international movement by prompt and decisive action in ratifying the treaty."
