This is the month of roses, and picnics are being held all over the county. On Friday, Anderson, of Barnwell, preached a fine sermon last Sabbath in the Baptist church from the text, "We will see Jesus." He has a call from the same church.

Mrs. Carrie Latimer and Mr. Parker, of Augusta, visited their relatives in this city last week. A. H. W. Moore, of Darlington, visited his niece, Miss Maggie Latimer. These ladies accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Latimer, left last Saturday for Lowndesville, where they will spend some time visiting relatives and friends.

Our merchants are generous and kind in their efforts to get the clock in the afternoon and giving their clerks the needed recreation. Oh! how happy the boys are, and what a time they will now have with the girls.

The election of officers in the Women's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church will take place at their regular meeting next Friday afternoon. A full meeting is earnestly requested.

Miss Willie and Miss Margarette Bays are spending the week at Mrs. J. H. Latimer's. Mrs. Cunningham of Lowndesville is visiting Mrs. W. A. Hill.

Owing to the sick time with our farmers just now, there was a good crowd in town last Friday and Saturday.

Children's Day for the Methodist Sunday school will be on the 21st inst., and a picnic Friday before next.

Mr. A. M. Hill has planted the largest watermelon patch in the county.

The Iron Foundry is now in full working order, and being something new, is visited by numbers of ladies and gentlemen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watson were in the city last Monday.

There are ten murder cases in the Abbeville jail, waiting trial at the June term of court.

Wm. Green and David Collier, charged with the murder of Isaac Ware last December, on the Mars plantation, were captured last week in Chattanooga, Tenn., and are being held in the Abbeville jail by Sheriff Nance last Monday.

Miss Willie Wardlaw and Miss Southernland of Mt. Carmel, were shopping in town last Friday.

Miss Ida Hammond has just returned from a pleasant visit to friends in Eberton.

Strawberries are selling on our streets at 20c per quart.

Rev. W. F. Pearson, for nearly twelve years the beloved pastor of Upper Long Cane church, died at his home in Darlington, West last Monday afternoon about four o'clock. As he was faithful on earth, so may his crown in heaven be radiant with jewels won. Hosts of friends will mourn with his bereaved family over his death.

Mr. T. Quarles, who has been busy buying cotton in Darlington, is home for the summer.

Timely and much needed showers fell Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The Kings Daughters will give an entertainment at the residence of Mr. L. W. White next Friday evening. Strawberries and loss will be served. The public are cordially invited.

Mrs. Fannie Jones of Mt. Carmel, is in Abbeville with her daughter, Miss Annie, who is quite sick.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Knox, of Mt. Carmel, and Miss Rose and Miss Annie McNeill, were shopping in the city yesterday.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Testimony Taken, and the Verdict of the Jury, as to the Killing of David A. Wardlaw.

Troy, May 2, 1893.

Editor Press and Banner:—By request of some of the many readers of the Press and Banner I send you the evidence at the coroner's inquest. I hope you will publish it.

SHERIFF NANCE is back from Chattanooga, Tenn., whence he went for the M. Carmel negro who slew the church deacon last Fall.

Gov. TRILLER sent check on $1,000 to day for the fine imposed by the United States Court on the Sheriff in the railroad cases, omitting only to pay Sheriff Nance's fine and costs.

Prayer.

From The Baptist Courier.

Standing at a pier in a great city I became interested in watching the work of rescuing the valuable from a vessel that had sunk a few feet from the pier. I saw some tubes passing from the pier into the water out of sight, and some men were pumping away steadily at a small pump. Presently a man, encased in a diver's suit, came up from a depth of forty feet bearing valuables in his hands. I then saw that the tubes aforesaid were connected with the casing about his head, and supplied him with fresh air and water that surrounded and would otherwise have been death of him. I asked the pierman why there was such a difference between the fields. "Oh," said he, "those green patches are irrigated; could not raise anything in this dry country without irrigation, and the irrigation ditch has been cut off from the dried-up patches." I fell to thinking, and said to myself, here is an explanation of the difference in the vigor and usefulness and fruitfulness of Christians. This one is connected with the source of supply—the living streams of grace flowing from the throne of God by the irrigation ditch of prayer. He like the tree planted by the living waters, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season, his leaf also shall not wither, and what-where he doth shall prosper. The other has cut the irrigation ditch by neglecting prayer, and his life withers and he brings dishonor upon the Lord he professed to love. Take heed, dear brethren; cut not the ditch of prayer. Remember.

Restraint prayer we cease to fight, Prayer makes the Christian's armor bright, The feeblest saint upon his knees.

A friend of mine had a vicious dog that seemed fearless. If any entered the premises he would certainly assail you if he were not chained. You might try by sticks and stones and torch and water to defend yourself. He was undaunted. There was only one way to scare this dog and make him take to his heels. That way was to fall down on hands and knees and pray. This terrified him, and he ran for dear life. The prayer of faith is the only way to make Satan take to his heels.

Sir Farwell Buxton said to his son when he was leaving home: "Whatever negligence may creep upon your studies or into your pursuits of pleasure or of business, let there be one point, at least, on which you are always watchful, always alive; I mean, the performance of your religious duties. Let nothing induce you, even for a day, to neglect the perusal of Scripture. You know the value of prayer; it is precious beyond all price. Never, never neglect it."

The brightest, the most blessed, the most loving, the most obedient and the most fruitful Christians are those who have most to do with God in prayer.

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 5.

For many years previous to her marriage Mrs. Barnes was a teacher in a young woman's college. She observed that when her pupils were in the transition period, passing from girlhood to womanhood, they were of very little account as scholars. This was in the South, where maturity comes earlier than in the latitude of New York. In the freshman year she could stimulate her pupils with good effect, and require a high degree of excellence in their recitations without injuring them. But as they passed through the sophomore year the whole aspect of affairs changed. Some of them kept on without flagging, but the majority would have been very trying if she had known the underlying reasons of their failures and made allowances for them.

Headache, nose-bleed, nervous depression, fitfulness, capriciousness, sentimentality, fits of crying or laughing, these were constantly found in various degrees, and manifestations of the sophomore year. The "dignified juniors" was the favorite epithet applied in that institution to the members of the third year class, and they deserved it.

Mrs. Barnes resolved then that if she ever had daughters to educate she would take them out of school during the sophomore year and occupy them in something besides books. So years after, when her daughter Mary began to learn her dress-making, she was struck in all the mysteries of dress-making. They took measures, had a chart, and all the facilities for cutting and fitting with accuracy, and were taught to put together and finish perfectly one dress.

In the management and care of the younger children Mary took many lessons during the year in home.

When it was over she was in fine health, and ready to take up her studies with diligence and assiduity. The year which, if spent in study, would have been largely lost, or have permanently impaired her health, was one of the most profitable years of her life.

Let us never forget that every station in life is necessary; that each deserves our respect; that not the station itself, but the worthy fulfillment of its duties, does honor to a man.

The most tired people are those who never do any work. They are positively tired of doing nothing, and are too lazy to cure themselves.

The precepts of the law may be comprehended under these three points: To live honestly, to hurt no man willfully, and to render every man his due.
