Turned the Tables on His Butcher.

A wild hog belonging to John Holmes escaped from Daniel Hawley's slaughter pen at Diamonddale, Mich., and started to swim the Grand River. When it reached the middle the beast turned, and, swimming to shore, attacked Hawley. The man fought with all the vigor he possessed, but finally turned and ran for his life. Twice the brute overtook Hawley, the first time tearing his trousers and the second time throwing him down. The small of blood seemed to make the hog even more furious and he would have killed Hawley had not half a dozen men, armed with pitchforks and shovels, come to the butcher's rescue. Hawley escaped with a few bruises.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Amulets now worn by noble families in India are believed to have been handed down 3000 years.

'Tis Strange But True.

We read of strange happenings and rumors sometimes, like that of a man who was caught by a revolving wheel and so thrashed against floor and ceiling his body turned blue from the bruises. A doctor writes if a man who fell from a ladder and was covered with bruises. He, the doctor, applied St. Jacob's Oil, in the morning, he says, all the blue spots had disappeared. There is another way of feeling this all over, and that is after the endurance of pains and aches or a long time without relief. Use the spat remedy for pain at once; it will cure and change the color of your woe.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs. Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

"SUPERIOR NUTRITION—THE LIFE"

IMPERIAL GRANUM

THE GREAT MEDICAL FOOD Has justly acquired the reputation of being The Savior for Invalids and The Aged.

AN INCOMPARABLE ALIMENT for the GROWTH and PROTECTION of INFANTS and CHILDREN. A superior nutritive in continued fevers, and a reliable remedial agent in all gastric and enteric diseases; often in instances of consultation over patients whose digestive organs were reduced to such a low and sensitive condition that the IMPERIAL GRANUM was the only nourishment the stomach would tolerate when LIFE seemed depending on its retention.—And as a FOOD it would be difficult to conceive of anything more palatable. DAINTY BODICES.

THEY ARE THE IMPORTANT FEATURE OF COSTUMES.

Two Waists and One Skirt Are Enough—A New Semi-Masculine Hat—Proper Coats for Winter Wear.

DESPITE the fact that textures are costly and modish trimmings are expensive and that elaborate details seem to be absolutely necessary adjuncts of stylish costumes, those who have that enviable and desirable gift of economy—that has a certain element like real genius in it—may dress handsomely, becomingly and appropriately this season with comparatively little expense.

The love of dress, of color, of choice fabrics, of ornament is not to be despised as much as some philosophers would have us believe, for in dress can be expressed just as much as in other things, high ideals of beauty, grace and excellence.

The lavishness and splendor of the toilets of this day stimulate even the most righteous woman of limited wealth with a desire to dress somewhat in the mode of her richer sister. Class distinctions seem to be more easily recognizable by dress this year than heretofore. In the beautiful time—perhaps, nearer than most people think—when courtesy, kindness, mental and moral wealth will be the chief claims to distinction, splendor of raiment will be subservient to higher attributes of face and form. But until that period reaches its noonday, it behooves the prideful woman, who knows what extraordinary value the majority of people place upon dress—to look well to the ways and stays and material and cut and trimming of her bodice. The bodices is the masterpiece of the costume this year. In all years a beautifully hanging skirt is desirable—and there are many who will consider this season's full skirt worthy of more than a passing notice. But fine skirts, like good manners, should be, and let us hope are—"such a matter, of course," as to need no word to distinguish them. But the bodices! In them is victory or defeat. The world belongs to the wise. One black skirt and three bodices—even two—will enable a woman who understands herself to appear perfectly well dressed and with the ease that always comes with the consciousness of being well dressed at any of the numerous social functions of the winter.

No. 1, in the double column illustration, is a charming bodice adaptable also for demi-toilette or full evening dress. It is composed of soft green silk draped around the figure so as not to reveal the seams. The yoke and under sleeves are of bright cyclamen pink velvet outlined back and front by Bruges lace, the color of old ivory. It is peppered with tiny jet beads and is draped very effectively in a cascade at the right side, ending in a bow and single scarf end. The yoke and sleeves of velvet may be removed at pleasure, and the visiting costume be thus instantly transformed into a concert dress or dinner gown. The fully puffed upper sleeves are of green silk adorned with lace. A chiffon yoke and under sleeves of yellow might also be used with artistic results. This bodice could be appropriately worn with a black, a green, or cyclamen pink skirt.

No. 2 is distinctively an evening bodice, but an economical genius can adapt it easily to afternoon requirements if occasion requires. It is white, of a fine satin. The insertions of white lace that trim the corsage in diagonal laid bands are brought out in pretty relief by the pale green silk over which the insertions are made. The décolletage is finished with an exquisite berthe of tulle and lace. A most artistic touch of color is given to these pale tints by the clusters of velvet dahlias toned from pale pink to deepest purple—which decorate the corsage. A neckband of velvet, tint of the dahlias which ornament it on either side, is a pretty adjunct of this bodice.

SEMI-MASCULINE HAT.

is the new semi-masculine hat now so much in vogue. Really, it can't be called "pretty" perhaps, it has a pretty face, and even then it is more to make the pretty face look as if it were enhanced by the hat. All the same, it is a mode, and it is of black silk with a shining as a silk brush can and has a wide reaching bow velvet, with a plain silver lined square in front, and a black ostrich plume standing up the crown at the side. It may not be a band of the crown, and likewise you can lay some lace over the velvet, but the strict idea is to leave it entirely masculine, except for the bow in front. The collarette is one of the newest designs, with a delicate little silver throat buckle, through which a three-inch ribbon is run, with two loops of the same standing out at the sides.

FANCIES IN FUR.

Muffs are enormous, and the reticule bags are now made of sealskin or fancy velvets. Bows are decidedly short, to replace the idiotic little sables, whose numberless legs and tails we have grown so tired of. Victorines in quaint new shapes are being made in sealskin with borders of grebe, or vice versa, in chinchilla, skunk and caracul. Very large capes of fur are grateful to maistrons who prefer comfort to smartness; they are to have slits, to let out the arms, which, if not

PROPER COATS FOR WINTER.

A plain tailor finish is preferred for all cloth coats, the only garniture being velvet or fur, if any kind is used at all. But for the coats of richer fabrics, almost anything in the way of garniture is permissible. So it is that

A BANK DEFaulTER.

The Cashier Takes $30,000 From the Central National, of Rome, N. Y. John E. Bielby, the cashier of the Central National Bank, of Rome, N. Y., is a defaulter to the amount of nearly $30,000. The discovery of the default was made by United States Bank Examiner J. Van Franklen of Rochester. Two or three weeks ago Mr. Van Franklen came through Rome on a regular trip and made examinations of all the banks, as usual. At the Central he found what he felt was the cashier broke down, and an attempt to cover up the traces of the crime. The culpable man was John E. Bielby, the trusted cashier of the institution. He confronted Mr. Bielby with the proofs of his guilt and the cashier broke down. He admitted that he had speculated in stocks. He got caught in a downward market and used the bank's funds to save himself. A large part of these were lost. It is said that Bielby has been in Chicago and Manhattan Elevated. Bielby confessed that he had taken about $27,000. His bonds are for $20,000.

JOHN CRONIN HANGED.

First to Be Executed on Connecticut's Automatic Gallows.

John Cronin was hanged in the prison at Hartford, Conn., at exactly 1 o'clock a. m. The new automatic gallows worked without a hitch. This was the first execution under the new law requiring that they take place in the State prison, making the warden the hangman. Warden Woodbridge perfected a new automatic gallows from the Colorado machine, by which the prisoner hangs himself. In this invention he does not, but the mechanism is at all times under the executioner's control. A system of levers enables him to spring the weights or stop the machinery under way.

Death Caused by a Pimple.

Lawrence W. Hooker, aged twenty, a senior in Yale University, died at New Haven, Conn., from blood poisoning. Four days ago he complained to his room-mate that a pimple on his hip bothered him very much. The next day the pimple became a sore, and he went to a local physician, who covered it with court plaster and told the young man it would be all right in a few days. The trouble increased, however, and he was sent to the hospital. When the sore was made, the trouble then took on a horrid aspect, as his face turned black and he grew rapidly worse until his death. Hooker was a grand nephew of the late Professor W. D. Wood, and the case was given authority in manuscript, and a son of John E. Hooker, of Los Angeles, Cal.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY,

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

MONROE, IOWA, Nov. 25, 1894. DEAR SIR, MR. KENNEDY:—In '64 I began taking your Discovery for Chronic Rheumatism; suffering so much pain till I used to call some one to sit on my limbs to deaden the pain. I had doctors for six years. No use. I then began with your Medical Discovery. The first bottle went to every joint and gave me pain. My husband said, "Keep on, till you see it spring the joints." So two and one-half bottles cured me so that I was able to walk two miles. Had not done it for six or seven years. I have kept it in the house ever since. I opened the 22d bottle today, for I take it instead of doctoring. I have never had a doctor since I have taken your Discovery. I am a widow 74 years of age, and a well woman.

Yours truly, MRS. ELIZABETH HILLS.

SCROFULA.

LLOYD, TEXAS, Oct. 8th, 1894. DONALD KENNEDY, ROXBURY, MASS, KIND FRIEND:—I will now give you the particulars about my little girl. She was five years old the 2nd of last May. When she was less than a year old a kernel came under her right eye on her neck. I asked the best doctor what to do, and he told me to grease it with old bacon grease, and it might rise and run which it did, and I tried everything, but it kept running for nearly two years. I came to Texas, and was at Aubrey, Texas, where I saw the present postmaster at Aubrey. I noticed his face had a bad scar, and I asked him the cause and how he got it cured. He said Scrofula was the cause and Kennedy's Medical Discovery cured it and I would get some for my little girl it would surely cure her. I got one bottle and she was soon better. I picked white lumps out of her neck as big as peas, and almost as hard as a bone, and after being mashed up they looked like burnt bone crumbled up. In less than a week the swelling was gone, and had quit running. She is still taking it, but apparently she is as well as ever, and as gay as any child.

Yours truly, S. L. JACKSON.

CATARRH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15, 1894. DONALD KENNEDY, DEAR SIR:—I know the worth of your Discovery, for three years ago, before I was married, I had the Catarrh in my head and throat very bad, and my mother, who always gave it to all of us, made me take three bottles, for which I am thankful to God, for it cured me and many others that we have recommended it to.

MRS. ELLEN SHELLEY, 217 39th St., Chicago.

FOR MOTHERS.

EDMUN, N. Y., Oct. 25, 1894. DR. KENNEDY, DEAR SIR:—I have taken your Medical Discovery all through my Pregnancy, and our boy, now three months old is, and has been, in perfect health, while we have three other children, all of whom had eczema and sore mouths. Our attending physician speaks very highly of your Discovery.

Yours sincerely, MRS. G. W. HAMMOND.

DROPSY.

HUGHVILLE, IOWA, Nov. 21, 1894. DONALD KENNEDY, DEAR SIR:—Your Medical Discovery has made a wonderful cure in a case of Dropsy of my neighbor, after four or five good doctors told him he could not get well. But your Discovery fixed him all right.

Yours truly, SAMUEL NUGENT.

MALARIA.

ST. XAVIER, MONT., Nov. 12, 1894. DR. KENNEDY, DEAR SIR:—I must inform you of the good effects of your famous Medical Discovery. One lady who was much afflicted with a constant Malarial Trouble declared herself relieved in a few days, and was entirely cured in a few weeks, and this is only one of many.

Yours gratefully, SISTER M. MAGDALEN.

KIDNEY TROUBLE.

NEW YORK CITY, May 9th, 1894. DONALD KENNEDY, DEAR SIR:—In using your Medical Discovery I find it good for the general system and especially for the Kidney Trouble. And the reason I can speak for it is this: After coming from South America, in 1880, I was troubled with my back, which the doctors claimed was Kidney Disease. After using many different medicines—and I might just as well have drunk cold tea—I bought two bottles of Kennedy's Medical Discovery, and took it according to directions as given in your book, and my kidneys have not troubled me since.

Yours with thanks, CHAS. W. ALLEY, 26 East Fourth Street.

Pisa's Leaning Tower.

I wheeled round and round the tower, gazing up its rusty-looking shaft, and then struck out into the country. Next morning we went over to the Campanile and tramped to the top. I more than half expected the thing would take that very time to complete its fall. The sensation while climbing it is very queer—something as on a shipboard when the level changes and you lurch forward unaccountably and ungracefully, and fetch up suddenly where you didn't intend to. So on to the steep side of the tower we went laboring on round the winding way till the upper side of the spiral reached, we would have to walk in that disagreeable way. Indeed on the sharply descending side I sometimes feared I would run right out of the openings in the sides. I would find myself going faster and faster toward the opening, holding back all I could, and just getting my balance in time. But after you get pretty well up it is not so bad, as the upper part is not so much inclined and the last story is level. It is a queer old structure, and the wonder is that—though it settled so much (thirteen feet out of perpendicular) after they began building it—yet it never cracked.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Dead Sea of America.

The dead sea of America or Medical Lake, as it is called, because of its medical qualities, is situated on the great Columbian plateau in Southern Washington. It measures a mile in length, and from a half to three-quarters of a mile in width, and has a maximum depth of sixty feet. It stands at an altitude of 2300 feet above the level of the sea. The chemical composition of this lake is nearly identical with that of the Dead Sea of Palestine, and like its eastern counterpart, it is almost devoid of life, and no plant has yet been found growing near its edges.—Scientific American.

PAINLESS CHILD BIRTH.

Mrs. FRED HUNT, of Glenville, N. Y., says: "I read about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription being so good for a woman with child, so I got two bottles. Last September, and December 13th I had a twelve pound baby girl. When I was not sick in any way. I did not suffer any pain, and when the child was born I walked to another room and went to bed. I kept your Extract of Smart-Weed on hand all the time. It was a true very cold weather and our room was very cold but I did not take any cold, and never had any after-pain or any other pain. It was all due to God and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. This is the eighth living child and the largest of them all. I suffered everything that flesh could suffer with the first babies. I always had a doctor and then he could not help me very much, but this time my mother and my husband were alone with me. My baby was only seven days old when I got up and dressed and left my room and stayed up all day."
