Sunshine.

Whenever the soul grows weary,
And the world seems full of sin,
Just open the casement window,
And let the sunshine in.

The beautiful, laughing sunshine,
Dancing o'er land and sea,
Filling the earth with gladness,
God's rarest gift to thee.

Then keep the heart filled with sunshine,
'Twill drive out malice and strife,
'Twill soften and lighten each sorrow,
'Twill sweeten and purify life.

The stage was decorated with evergreen and rousing fires were built in every room and all went merry as a marriage bell. The teachers, jurymen and others are delighted to know that an Act was passed by the General Assembly authorizing the County Commissioners to borrow money to defray the current expenses of Abbeville county. Our teachers are, perhaps the poorest renumerated in the State and it is nothing but just that they should be paid in full promptly at the end of each month. N. O. Pyles.

Make State Banks Safe.

Charleston Sun.

The present call of the comptroller of the currency for a statement from the national banks, revives the question often mooted, but never settled, the State's supervision of her own banks. The national bank system is safe for depositors and stockholders, the State system is safe just so long as the management of the bank is good, but the opportunities for covering defects in the management are too many and too good not to be sometimes taken advantage of to tide over a tight place. For instance, a State bank may carry perfectly worthless paper from year to year, showing up in its assets and proving the bank statement of healthy condition, while as a matter of fact it is not so, and there is no way to contradict it unless the directors make a personal and careful investigation, and they are not the ones to declare their own bank in unsafe condition, while the national bank is subject at all times without notice to inspection by the agents of the government. The State for the protection of its credit and the safety of its people should have, and should have had for years, a system of bank examination similar to that of national banks.

Advertising and Money.

A trade journal published at New York has undertaken to discover the effect of the financial troubles upon advertising. Nine advertisers whose names are known from one end of the country to the other were interviewed, and of the number only one has decreased his space. Five of them have gone on expending the usual amount, while three of the largest firms are making contracts for greater outlays than ever before. To the small advertiser, who has not studied the subject, and who loses no time in cutting off his advertising at the first unfavorable sign, this is a revelation. The big fellows with the nerve to use their best judgment take advantage of the temporary lull to place themselves more firmly in control of the market, and so reap rich harvests. From which it appears that we have another science of which the ancients knew nothing—the science of advertising.

BIG PAYMENT.

One Thousand Dollars Paid Yesterday from Five Cents Cotton.

Mr. Joseph D. Nance is one of the prosperous men of Abbeville County. He has been farming near Due West for several years. Last Saleday Day he bought a farm at one of the official sales, and yesterday came to the Court House and planked down the thousand dollars in solid cash for his purchase. This was money made at farming.

Mr. F. M. Allen, dealer in furniture, made an assignment here last night to Mr. P. S. Dey. Liabilities about $4,000. Assets estimated at $5,000.

A valued mule belonging to Mr. J. W. Scott, of Verdery, froze to death last Friday night.

Mr. Lez Canfield of Callison has moved to Greenwood and occupied the Lyon house, formerly occupied by Dr. J. B. Britt, who has recently moved to Wideman.

Mr. William Miller of Ninety-Six is visiting friends in Verdery.

The young folks of Verdery and vicinity gathered at the residence of Mr. J. V. Scott on Friday in January, 1895, at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose or organizing a literary society and everybody cordially invited to attend and take part in the exercises.

Miss Lizzie Morrow, one of Verdery's pretty young ladies, is visiting relatives at Troy.

Mr. Bullock and Seymour of Greenwood were visitors in Verdery during Christmas week.

WEST END.

Happenings and Incidents of a Week Around the City.

Last Friday night Mrs. W. P. Ferguson entertained a number of her friends with an elegant whist party. Miss Lucia McGowan, Miss Florence Henry, Miss Florie Henderson, Miss Agnes Quarles, Miss Kate and Miss Sallie Marshall, Miss Mahie Tusten, Miss Elese Bowie, Miss Corrie McClung, Mrs. Dr. Harrison, Messrs. Lambert White, L. R. Dargan, J. A. Allen, J. W. Bullock, T. T. Quarles, W. C. Cothran, J. D. Kerr, H. B. Stokes and T. G. Perriu made up the party. The evening past most delightfully, and after delicious refreshments were served, the party dispersed to their several homes, with another bright and happy memory to cherish.

Miss Florie Henderson, a beautiful and accomplished young lady of Covington, Ga., is in the city. Miss Henderson will for several days be the guest of her friend Mrs. P. B. Speed. Would our sister State send us more of her fair daughters.

Abbeville now has ten passenger trains a day. Six on the S. A. L. and four on the Southern No place in the up country has better facilities for travel.

Mr. J. Van Straaten has sold out his butcher business to Mr. T. L. Douglass. Mr. Van Straaten we hope will find some other employment and not leave our little city.

The snow Monday afforded the young people lots of amusement, and no doubt an equal amount of bad colds, ear-aches and other little ills will be the consequence of the frolic.

Messrs. Sidnes and Sol Boley, the former of Athen, the later of Winder, Ga., spent Sunday in the city, the guests of their sister Mrs. J. Van Straaten, returning to their homes on Monday.

Capt. W. T. Branch returned Sunday from a two weeks' stay in Alabama.

J. S. Cothran, Jr., went up to the Mountain City Monday.

This has been the dullest Christmas, socially speaking, that Abbeville has seen for years. The hard times has been one cause of this, but several deaths lately in our little city have cast a shadow of gloom over many families, and Christmas has been a time of sorrow and mourning, whereas usually only happiness and merriment has made the holiday season only too short.

Rev. Father Rudd preached a sermon on Christmas last Sunday night. There were no services in either the Presbyterian church or the Court House at night.

As is usual there were many "new leaves turned over," many good resolutions made yesterday, and let us hope that at least a part will be carried into effect this new year.

Recently two attempts have been made to "hold up" railroad employees. In each instance the highwaymen selected, as the place to do their work, the road near Judge Cothran's, at the branch crossing the road below Klugh's Park. Neither attempt was successful.

Miss Jeannie Perrin, having spent the holidays very pleasantly at home, will return today to her school in Columbia.

Mr. Hovy Smith's friends were glad to see him in our town last week.

School opens to-day. The absent teachers having returned, and the school work resumed for the new year.

Mr. H. W. Lawson, who has been with Aug. W. Smith, will open a brand new stock of groceries in the building recently occupied by Mr. J. Van Straaten. Mr. Lawson is thoroughly up on the grocery business, and will sell the very best goods for the lowest cash prices.

Judge McGowan and Mr. Christie Benet left last Saturday to visit Mrs. W. C. Benet of Charleston. Mr. Christie Benet will remain in Charleston with his parents.

Mrs. Matthews, after a stay of several weeks with her daughter Mrs. W. C. McGowan, left on Saturday, accompanied by her little grandson, Master Sam McGowan, for Charleston.

Mrs. James D. Chalmers is in Newberry with friends.

Mr. C. Matthews and his brother Mr. Teddie Matthews, have returned to their home after spending the holidays with their sister Mrs. W. C. McGowan.

Mr. J. C. Weir of Ninety-Six was in the city yesterday.

Miss Lizzie May Speed, a pretty young lady of Hartwell, Ga., is visiting the family of her uncle Mr. P. B. Speed. Miss Speed arrived Monday and will be here for some days.

Col. Parker Jordan was up yesterday from the city of Greenwood.

Visiting and receiving visitors, turkey dinners and "sociables" have been the sources of enjoyment this week.

Prof. Reid and his school gave an entertainment at Walnut Grove, Friday 21st, instant, which was very well attended, and a snug little sum realized to be invested in school desks. Pompey.

PRETTY WEDDING.

Happy Young People are United in Marriage.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large number of people assembled in the Second Presbyterian church of this place last Wednesday evening and witnessed the marriage of Miss Annie M. Brown to Mr. Theodore Percival, being the handsomest and most fashionable wedding occuring here for sometime.

The church was very tastily decorated with potted flowers, with a magnificent evergreen arch before the altar, and underneath which the contracting couple stood, and according to the usages of the Presbyterian church, were joined in holy matrimony by Rev. Wm. H. Paden, assisted by Rev. Thos. H. Amos.

The bride was beautifully attired in cream silk, trimmed with pointed lace and watered silk ribbons, while a large veil of white illusion fastened to her head and decorated by orange blossoms floated gracefully behind. Brilliantly reflected lights from exquisite gems penetrated the shades of natural flowers either side of the bride's neck, throat and waist, while upon her hands were white kid gloves.

At the left of the bride were six bride-maids, Miss Mary Richie, Miss Sallie Hunter, Miss Sarah Harper, Miss Laura Kennedy, Miss Mattie Barr and Miss Willie Brown. These were beautifully attired in cream crapon.

The groom wore a clay worsted double breasted prince albert suit.

At his right were comely styled Messrs. James Shives, Geo. Barr, E. F. Gilliard, Glasco Barr, Wm. Ellison and J. T. Percival, groomsmen.

Two fashionably attired and polite ushers, Messrs. Aaron Hodges and Willie Jones, escorted the guests to seats and endeavored to make all comfortable.

At the close of the ceremony the organ under the refined touch of the bride's sister, Miss Laura S. Brown, pealed forth its harmonious music of the wedding march, and assisted the steps of the maids of honor, Miss Gennie Gantt and Miss Hattie Percival, to lead from the altar Mr. and Mrs. Percival. The ceremony finished the wedding party and a large number of guests took a victoria at the church and were driven to the residence of the bride's parents, where was extended to them a magnificent reception.

Among the visitors present were, Miss Laura Kennedy, of Columbia, S. C.; Miss Julia Perrin, of Due West, S. C.; Mrs. D. T. McDaniel, of Newberry, S. C.; Miss Jennie Rutledge, of Anderson, S. C.; Messrs. George Barr, of Augusta, Ga; Glasco Barr, of Atlanta, Ga.; J. D. Wardlaw, of Anderson, S. C.

The popularity of the couple was tested by the great number of beautiful, valuable and most useful presents they received.

The bride and groom went over to their very desirable and comfortable home here Thursday afternoon, where a most entertaining reception was given to their special guests from 9 o'clock p. m. to 12 p. m.

Mrs. Theodore Percival is still a teacher of Ferguson Academy, and carries with her our most cordial wishes to them for a life of peace, prosperity and happiness. W. H. P.
