Hard Hit.
Senator McLaurel made a speech last week in Atlanta. He presented the side of the ship-subsidy and the canal in a manner to strike the obstructionists amid ship. The obstructionists, as far as we have seen do not make an effort to refute McLaurel's statements, facts or conclusions, but resort to the cheapest sort of spite work. They seem to lack the ability to discuss a question, but must descend to misrepresentation or personalities.

Cruelty to Horses.
It is no unreasoned expectations that are many years have passed, the use of binders, bearing reins and cruel bits for horses will be given up except for animals whose vicious temper make it necessary to employ severe restraints. Old fashioned notions that most of these docile and intelligent servants of mankind should be handled with suspicion and distrust, and should be maltreated until their spirits and courage are broken, are being ground in this generation as they should do. In most instances the well bred horse responds generously to kind treatment, and does not abuse the confidence which may be placed in him. Dockings and barbaric cuttings are out of place in the era of enlightenment.
