A Certain Cure for Croup.

When a child shows symptoms of croup there is no time to experiment with new remedies, no time to hear how highly they may be recommended. There is one preparation that can always be depended upon. It has been in use for many years and has never been known to fail, viz: Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. M. F. Compton of Market, Texas says of it: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in severe cases of croup with my children, and can truthfully say it always gives prompt relief." For sale by L. A. Commandments of the Home Maker.

- 1. Make your household one harmonious whole, no matter how small the scale. 2. Use only what you can comfortably afford in good quality and ample quantity. 3. Let your home appear bright and sunny. It is not easy to be unpleasant in a cheerful room. 4. Treat your servants wisely and kindly, and it will be impossible for them impose or oppose. 5. A certain formality is necessary to save every-day life from triviality and freedom from looseness. 7. Do not forget that "society" is the death of home life—hospitality its flowers. 8. Know how to talk and how to listen, how to entertain and how to amuse. 9. Have many intended and no studies. 10. Do not forget—your home should not only be well-conducted dormitory and boarding place, but truly a home—the centre and focus of all interests pleasure and happiness for every-body connected with it.—Harper's Bazaar.

WAR CLAIMS.

Letter from Quartermaster General to Hon. Wyatt Aiken. Washington, D. C., December 16, 1904.

War Department, Office of the Quartermaster General. Hon. Wyatt Aiken, M. C., (92789) U. S. House of Representatives.

Referring to the letter herewith from Mr. E. H. Barton, Adjutant, Camp Jasper Hawthorne, Easley, S. C. dated December 12, 1904, brought by you personally to this office, I have the honor to inform you that I know of only one existing law under which claims can be paid by the Government for property by U. S. troops during or subsequently to the Civil War, and this law is the Act of Congress approved February 27, 1902, (expiring April 27, 1906) which authorizes the Quartermaster General of the Army to investigate and pay claims of paroled ex-Confederate soldiers for their own army horses, mules and equipment taken from them after the surrender by Federal troops acting or presumably acting under order.

For the investigation and adjustment of these claims, certain regulations were promulgated by the Quartermaster General and approved by the Secretary of War. Under these regulations the following is required: 1. Each claimant must state his own claim under oath (the Department furnishes no blank forms for this purpose), mailing it to the Quartermaster General, U. S. A., Washington, D. C. 2. In his affidavit he should state his name, rank, company and the regiment in which he was serving at the time of the surrender, and by whom officered. 3. The date and place of surrender, and to whom surrendered. 4. That he was paroled at or after the surrender, naming the paroling officer, time and place. Written paroles, if in existence, should be filed with claims; otherwise, the sworn testimony of two credible persons (preferably soldiers), knowing the facts, must be submitted as proof. 5. That he was required to be mounted for the performance of his military duties, and that the property taken was his own and that it was being used in the Confederate service at the time of the surrender and was taken by U. S. troops acting or presumably acting under orders, stating how, when and where (and by whom if it is known) it was taken. State value of each horse or mule, saddle, bridle, blanket and side arms. 6. At least two credible persons (soldiers preferred) must corroborate all the claimant's statements in essential particulars, stating how their knowledge thereof was obtained. 7. If the soldier be dead, his widow may make the claim. If both be dead, his child, or children jointly; or if no children survive the soldier, a parent may make the claim. Allowance for only one horse and equipment is made to a private soldier and two horses, equipment and side arms to a commissioned officer. 8. All statements by the claimant and witnesses must be under oath. The credibility of each must be certified by the official before whom they make oath and his official seal must be affixed to each affidavit. Respectfully, C. F. Humphrey, Quartermaster General, U. S. Army, By Geo. E. Pond, Assistant Quartermaster General, U. S. A.

Pointed Paragraphs.

The quicker the lunch the slower the digestion. When a man's down he thinks it's all up to him. A thoughtless man loses a lot of time when he hurries. A girl thinks she's a first-class cook if she can make fudge. Diplomacy is often a knife in the hand of the underhanded. It takes a swift man to pursue a success career nowadays. Age brings a man knowledge of many things he would rather not know. Lazy men like to fish and hunt—fish for suckers and hunt for snaps. As a rule, a girl who is self-possessed can be induced to transfer the title. Many a man who thinks he's ready money resembles a dollar minus seventy cents. A good neighbor is one who lacks interest in affairs that are none of his business. While the average man isn't bad enough to need reforming he is not good enough sometimes to make a desirable husband. Kindness thrives on kindness. Charity begins at home, but soon gets away. Money is often best invested when given away. When a man wants to be can generally concoct an excuse. Envy is always looking for empty heads wherein to lodge and grow. Whenever we hear a boy calling his father "the old man" we yearn for a paddle. The best times are those which permits us to look back at them without regrets. We feel sorry for the man who is always too busy to remember he was once a boy. Did you ever think that perhaps the heavenly music we read about is only the laughter of little children? There are business men who scorn to turn a dishonest trick in their their business who act on the theory that everything is fair in politics. To lift all the burdens you can form shoulders that have grown stooped in waiting upon and working for you. Never to intimate by word or deed that your world and hers are different, or that your feel in any way superior to her. To treat her with the unvarying courtesy and deference you accord to those who are above you in rank or position.

Notice to Tax-Payers.

For the Purpose of Accommodating the Public in the matter of making Their Tax Returns, I Will Visit the Places Mentioned Below on the Dates Indicated in Schedule.

ALL RETURNS MUST BE MADE UNDER OATH, AND ALL PERSONAL property returned at its true market value. Persons not making their returns between January 1st, 1905, and February 20th, 1905, are liable to a penalty of 50 per cent. This penalty will be enforced against delinquents; for the failure to enforce it heretofore has put a premium on neglect of the law.

The returns of those who conform to the law are placed before the Township and County Boards, while those who disregard the law come in after the meeting of the Boards and return to suit themselves. The enforcement of this 50 per cent. penalty will correct this evil.

Employers are requested to return all their employees after notifying them and getting a statement of their property. Returns will not be taken by mail unless they are sworn to before some proper officer. This does not apply, however, to persons returning only land. All improvements on or transfers of real estate must be reported to the County Auditor.
