Glampses of British Honduras-Pine

Trees For a Cent Apiece.

A special correspondent to the Hartford Courant, in a letter to his paper, gives an interesting account of the resources of British Honduras. Belize is the capital of British Honduras-a singularly neat and tidy city at the mouth of the Belize River, with swamps for some miles EVERY AMENDMENT REJECTED about it, and beyond those a rich agricultural tableland to the north and a little way south, while still further south the country is terra incognita. The houses are all white. The water edge is lined with graceful cocoanut palms. In every garden hibicus of various shades and many other lovely flowers are in full bloom; here and there the royal poinciana is tipped with flaming blossom, though it is too early for all the trees to be out; and in the garden of the Government house, more resplendent than all the flowers of the town, a great macaw of brilliant red and yellow and abundant blue and black, with a tail a foot and a half long, shone out through the green foliage, more gaudy than any Easter suit of the day on gay Fifth avenue. Belize has a great key locked harbor which abounds in fish, from catfish and shark to red snapper and tarpon. Ships have to anchor a mile and a half from shore and lighter their freight in by sailboats.

It is a question whether Belize was settled by shipwrecked Englishmen or by English shipwreckers. The weight of tradition has it that buccaneers did the settling and then found that cutting their own mahogany and logwood trees paid better than cutting other people's throats and was less hazardous. For over 200 years this has been a great deport port for these valuable woods. Mahogany does not grow like walnut or pine in groves. They only find about one tree to the acre. The logs are hauled to the river bank and floated down in floodtime. Of course, far the greater part of the timber is unavailable, as it is too far from the river to be handled. There is talk now of a railroad into the interior which will develop this and other industries.

The whole province of British Honduras covers about 7500 square miles, not half as large as Connecticut, and has, so far as known, 30,-000 inhabitants. Of these one per cent., or 300 people, are whites. All the rest are colored, and some of the white folks trace their origin back to the time the buccaneers came under the subduing influences of the shade grown beauties of the native forests.

It is interesting to come to a part of the world where demand exceeds supply, and where philosophers talk of possible exhaustion, down to this new-old region where everything is yet to be done. The Government recently sold 1,250,000 pine trees, standing in the forest, to an American syndicate for, it is said, one cent a tree! That means a little money. but it means no end of pine timber. which we are told, is disappearing. The Government made the sale on the ground that the work of lumbering would bring in people and business. The serious lack here is laborers; there is plenty of vineyard. Indeed, there is talk of importing natives from India to help in the development. All laborers now drift to the mahogany district, where they are paid not to work as they can by the month but by the job-so much cutting or hauling or trimming each day-and often they get their day's work done before 9 in the morning. We are sailing from Belize to Porto Barrios, in Guatemala, to go thence, part by rail and part by road, to Guatemala City. From Guatemala we go by rail to the Pacific, said to be one of the most picturesque rides to be found, and then back to Barrios and the ship for home.

UTILITIES BILL PASSED BY

Voted by Senate in Shape Republican Caucus Wanted It and With Only Six Dissenters, All Democrats-Synopsis of Bill.

Albany, N. Y. - After a debate which lasted less than two hours the Senate passed the Governor's Public Utilities bill, as approved by him, by a vote of forty-one to six. Ten minutes later the Assembly by unanimous vote had concurred in the bill as amended by the caucus of Republican Senators.

Bound by the caucus rule, the Republicans voted for the bill as a unit. The Senators who voted against the bill were:

Thomas H. Cullen, Third District, Kings.

James J. Frawley, Twentieth District, New York. Conrad Hasenflug, Ninth District.

Kings. Patrick H. McCarren, Seventh District, Kings. Thomas J. McManus, Fifteenth District, New York. James A. Thompson, Fifth District,

Kings. Several amendments were offered by the Democratic opponents and other Democrats who voted for the bill on final roll call. All these were voted down Senator McCarren offered two amendments. One of these provided for the appointment of the Commissioners for the New York City District by the Mayor. The other amendment was for a broad court review. Senator Cohalan (Tammany) offered an amendment providing for one commission for the entire State, and making that commission elective. A synopsis of the Public Utilities bill is as follows:

1-Two public service commissions of five members each, one for New York, Kings, Queens and Richmond Counties, the other for the rest of the State; each empowered to provide for the control of common carriers, gas and electric corporations, with full power to subpoena witnesses, and all proceedings prosecuted by it to be preferred. Its orders shall take effect at a specified time and shall remain in force as long as the commission may direct, provided they do not violate any provision of the constitution. 2-The obligations of common carriers and the rights of shippers are defined in Art. 2, which is self-operative, no action by the commission being required to render it effective.

3-Safe and adequate service is required from common carriers; switch connections for shippers and with lateral roads being made obligatory

4-The publication by railroads of schedules of rates, in such a form as to make rebates impossible. Before any rate can be changed, notice must be published for thirty days. All preferences are prohibited, as well as all devices for securing rebates. False billing is also prohibited, and a shipper who takes a rebate is liable to punishment as well as the railway enced by the prosecution. that gives it.

Mayor Schmitz Delegates His Powers to a Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO'S GRAFT WAR

Rebuilding of the City Practically at -a Standstill Because of Strikes-Ruef's Confession Challenged.

San Francisco, Cal.-The Committee of Seven, which has undertaken to restore confidence and reconstruct the city government, held a long session. The meeting was secret, but it was announced that a resolution had been agreed on calling on Chief of Police Dinan to resign because of failure to protect the interests of the city during the street car strike.

The committee has procured from Mayor Schmitz a written agreement to execute any recommendations agreed upon, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The committee will gradually extend the scope of its actions to the works board. Street Department and other branches of the municipal government.

"We hold Mayor Schmitz's written promise to carry out the wishes and instructions of the committee in administering the affairs of the city," said F. W. Van Sicklen, a member of the Committee of Seven. "The committee's agreement with Mayor Schmitz is short, barely embracing ten lines of writing, but it contains his sweeping promise to act absolutely and completely as the committee may direct. Mayor Schmitz has not resigned. The only hold we have on him is his promise. If he disregards that we can do nothing, but I believe he will do anything the committee asks. I believe he is not only willing, but anxious to do what we want. When spoken to on the statement by Mayor Schmitz, that Ruef had 'lied" in stating that he had paid bribes to the Mayor. Ruef declined to make any comment, beyond saying that his statement was made under oath and could be depended upon. All the electricians in the employ of the United Railroads struck in sympathy with the striking car men. There is direct authority for the statement that the electricians employed by the San Francisco Gas and Electric Company will not strike, as to do so would be a breaking of the union's contract with the corporation. Governor Gillette and his aides held a meeting in the Ferry Building. Adjutant-General Lauck said: "The strike of the electricians unquestionably complicated the situation. I am informed that the Electrician's Union will not attempt to interfere with the serving of power to the United Railroads and that Mr

Calhoun is able now to replace all of the sixty electricians who quit.' All the brewery workers and brewery wagon drivers in San Francisco went on strike. They demand an in-crease from $20 to $27.

San Francisco is at a standstill as far as rebuilding is concerned. Work is progressing on some structures which actually have been begun, but on others work is suspended. Materials are cheaper than they were a few months ago, but labor grows dearer all the time.

There is little public confidence in the truth of Abe Ruef's confession to the Grand Jury. The public cannot tell how far Ruef's confession is voluntary or how much of it is influ-

Famous Lawyer Convicted of Conspiracy Sent to Penitentiary,

Had His Head Shaved and Mustache Cut Off Before He Gave Himself Up.

New York City .- Abraham Hummel, aged fifty-six, put aside his snug fitting cutaway coat and dark, striped trousers, his kid gloves and his spring overcoat, pulled off his tiny, highheeled shoes without assistance, removed his silk underwear and delivered himself into the hands of a keeper of the Blackwell's Island Penitentiary to be taken to the bath which the regulations prescribe for prison-ers when they first don the stripes. The lawyer had started on his oneyear term for conspiracy in the Dodge-Morse divorce case.

Hummel had shaved off his mustache, and the little rim of dark hair around the great expanse of bald cranium had been cropped close to the scalp in his own home at 52 East Seventy-third street so that he would avoid at least one infliction of prison shears and steel.

Otherwise Hummel made no protest. He showed no signs of ner vousness or sorrow. The one-time miniature Beau Brummell of Broadway allowed himself to be led to the shower bath, from which had stepped a pickpocket a few moments before. He accepted the coarse cotton underwear provided for the convicts. It was the smallest suit available, but it proved far too great in length and girth for the new prisoner. He did not object, but tucked the garments about his form as best he could. Then the striped trousers were handed him. He stuck his little legs into them and found them half a foot too long. He rolled them up so that he could walk without stumb-The prison shirt and the ling. striped coat would have made two of His shoes were all high heeled, built to give him a coveted half inch of height. The smallest pair of the flat, heavy brogans provided the prisoners on the Island were to Hummel's feet as the exaggerated shoes of a minstrel dancer.

The man who represented the end of the famous law firm of Howe & and manipulating securities and in Hummel, who had marked his departure from the gay life of New York for prison with a banquet to his friends in his home, staggered with the greatest difficulty from the desk of his prison keeper, holding up his sagging, striped garments to enter Cell No. 23 as the crowds at the race track were chering the winner of the Brooklyn Handicap, a turf event he had not before missed in many years. The commitment papers merely related that he had been convicted of conspiracy and that he had been sentenced to serve one year.

The Cast-Off Baby.

The stork had been a recent visitor to the home of Mrs. Smith, who already was the mother of a year-old baby boy. A chance meeting in the corner market was the opportunity for Mrs. Smith's neighbor, Mrs. Jones, to break the news to her friend Mrs. Brown.

Dorothy Jones, five years old, paused in her task of arranging the covers about her new doll. She had experienced difficulty recently in finding in the person of a less fortunate neighbor girl a mother for a doll with a broken nose and one arm that had been her former favorite, and for which there was no room in her diminutive establishment when the new doll came. She pulled at her mother's skirts inquiringly.

"Mamma," she asked, "did you say Mrs. Smith had a new baby?"

"Yes, dearie, a brand-new baby," answered the mother.

"Well, mamma," came the unsatisfied query, "what's she going to do with heroldone?"-Chicago Tribune.

FIT THE GROCER Wife Made the Suggestion.

A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

He says, regarding his own experience: "Two years ago I had been drinking coffee and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves.

"Particularly in the morning I was so irritable and upset that I could hardly wait until the coffee was served, and then I had no appetite for breakfast and did not feel like attending to my store duties.

"One day my wife suggested that inasmuch as I was selling so much Postum there must be some merit in it and suggested that we try it. 1 took home a package and she prepared it according to directions. The result was a very happy one. My nervousness gradually disappeared and to-day I am all right. I would advise everyone affected in any way with nervousness or stomach troubles, to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee." "There's a Reason." Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Era of Great Strikes Passing.

Washington, D. C.-According to Carroll D. Wright, who was commissioner of labor for a number of years, and is now president of Worcester University, the era of great strikes is passing away. In the place of in-dustrial strikes the conciliation plan s being adopted.

In an interview here Mr. Wright says the tendency is against the great strikes which were numerous from the early seventies onward. He believes the tendency is against them more strongly than it has ever been in recent years, but that they served an effective purpose-that of teaching capital what labor wanted and teaching labor more about capital. The effect of such strikes was loss both to employers and employed. Mr. Wright contends that while little is heard of it, all over the country omployers and laborers are getting together in a spirit of conciliation. Greater efficiency on the part of the man who has an industrial duty to perform is another tendency of the times noted by Mr. Wright.

control of public utilities. "This same thing is true of the management of corporations and the manipulation of securities, to which attention has recently been called sharply by the testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding the reorganization of the Chicago and Alton Railroad. Thirty or forty years ago, when the manage-ment of the Erie Railroad and the Atlantic and Great Western and the Union Pacific Railroad attracted public attention, the things done by corporate managers were so much worse that the Chicago and Alton affair would not have received any notice. The railroad wrecker was a common type of railroad manager, and the rules did not go much beyond the exclusion of ordinary forgery, larceny and fraud at common law. Georgia Farmers Protest Against Movement to Import Labor.

Atlanta, Ga .- The Farmers' Union of Georgia, with a membership of 80,000, went on record as being bitterly opposed to bringing foreign immigrants into the South. At a largely attended convention a resolution was unanimously adopted condemning the immigration move-ment and asking the Legislature to make no appropriation to bring foreigners to Georgia. The Union opposes immigration on the ground that undesirable citizens will be brought into the State; that they will crowd the native Georgians out of the factories by working for lower wages, and that the admission of so many will increase the production of cotton and lower the price. All the speakers paid tribute to the negro as a laborer, and stated that he was infinitely preferable to such foreigners as it was proposed to bring South.
