How to Buy Good Shoes

You can't get good shoes just anywhere. There are lots of poor shoes made and some stores must sell them. Only the BEST, at their prices, are good enough for us, or for you, if you know. Don't take chances. Don't speculate in shoes. Our methods are a surety of satisfaction. Prices isn't everything, though from the lowest of ours one might think we thought so. Quality, style and comfort count more, of these you can get more here at a specified amount than anywhere we know of.

An Ordinance

To Raise Supplies for the City of Abbeville, S. C., for the Fiscal Year 1908.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND Aldermen of the City of Abbeville, S. C., in Council assembled and by authority of the same, That a tax for the sums and in a manner hereinafter named shall be raised and paid into the treasury of the City Council for the use and purposes thereof for the fiscal year 1908.

Notice is hereby given that the office of City Treasurer of Abbeville, S. C., will be open for the collection of taxes for said fiscal year 1908, from Friday, November 1st, 1907, until Wednesday, January 1st, 1908, without penalty. Rate per centum of taxation are as follows: City Tax 3 mills Water Works Tax (interest on Bonds and Sinking Funds) 2 1/2 mills Sewerage 1 1/2 mills

That when the taxes and assessments or any portion thereof charged against the property or party on the tax books of the City for the fiscal year 1908, shall not be paid on or before the first day of January, 1908, the City Treasurer shall proceed to add a penalty of one per cent. on the tax book, and the City Treasurer shall collect the same; and if the said taxes and assessments and penalties are not paid on or before the first day of February, next thereafter, an additional penalty of one per centum thereon shall be added by the City Treasurer; and if said taxes, assessments and penalties are not paid on or before the first day of March next thereafter, an additional penalty of five per centum thereon shall be added by the City Treasurer and be collected by him; and if the said taxes, assessments and penalties are not paid on or before the 15th day of March next thereafter, the said City Treasurer shall issue his tax execution for the said taxes, assessments and penalties against the property of the defaulting taxpayers according to law. A commutation road tax will be collected the same time as other taxes of Two Dollars from all male citizens between the ages of eighteen and fifty-five years, except those exempted by law. Unless said tax is paid on or before the 1st day of January, 1908, six days' work upon the public highways and streets of the City, will be required under the Street Overseer.

All persons falling or refusing to pay the commutation tax or to work six full days, shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than Thirty Dollars or be imprisoned not longer than thirty days. Done and ratified in City Council this 8th day of October, 1907. JAMES McMILLAN, Mayor. JAMES CHALMERS, City Clerk. Oct. 8, 1907.

GEMS IN VERSE.

Opportunity. Master of human destinies am I, Name, love and fortune on my footsteps walk. Cities and fields I walk. I penetrate Deserts and seas remote, and, passing by Hotel and mart and palace, soon or late I knock unbidden once at every gate. If sleeping, wake; if fast, rise before I turn away. It is the hour of fate, And they who follow me reach every state. Mortals desire and conquer every foe. 'Tis death, but those who doubt or hesitate, I answer not, and return me none. —John J. Ingalls.

Speaking From Experience. War ain't any jokin, so don't you pack you traps. Bath rest in peace at home an cultivate the crops. Been erlong with Longstreet, spent some time with Lee, An peace I want ter tell you's satisfactory ter me.

War ain't any jokin. They talks it low as high. But it changes its complexion when you see the bullets fly. It's fine fun in the papers—but when I see the shine O' bayonets right in front o' me I'll just take home in mine.

Ain't no fun in fights. A feller does his best, But he always wears the victor's 'ol' his loved ones on his breast. An then ter kiss an leave 'em, never more ter meet, Ter listen through a lifetime fer the unreturnin' feet!

War ain't any jokin. Ef it comes, it comes. An I reckon that I'd answer ter the roll call o' the drums. But I ain't in any hurry fer packin up my traps. Rather rest in peace at home an cultivate the crops. —Frank L. Stanton in Atlanta Constitution.

Having Company. The letter read: "My dearest Sue, Next Thursday I will spend with you. I won't enjoy my visit, though. If any trouble I bestow."

"Oh, I'm so glad," cried Mrs. White. "For company is such delight!" But looking round her in dismay, "I must get ready right away."

Armed with a duster and a broom, She went to work in every room. She oiled and polished, cleaned and rubbed, And mended, scoured, washed and scrubbed.

She toiled and worried, cooked and baked. She hurried, fretted, stewed and ached. When Thursday came, she, nearly dead, Just managed to crawl out of bed.

And Mrs. Company came too. They kissed and hugged like women do. And then began tired Mrs. White To make excuses, never right: "Oh, dear, my house (then wasn't clean) Is most too dirty to be seen. So shut your eyes! You're looking stout. Take off your things. I'm just worn out."

"You must excuse my cooking too. It isn't fit to offer you. (Twas fit for kings.) Too bad you come Just when I'm up and down at home!"

And thus she welcomed and distressed And spoiled the visit of her guest. Who wished she hadn't come to be A tired woman's "company." —Farm and Fireside.

Near, but Yet So Far. We talked of life and death. She said, "Whoever of us two first dies shall Shall come back from among the dead And teach his friend these mysteries."

She died last night, and all this day I swear that things of every kind Are trying, trying to convey Some message to my troubled mind.

I looked up from my tears awhile. That white rose dying in the cup Was gazing at me with her smile. It blushed her blush as I looked up.

It paled then with an agony Of effort to express my sight That would, I think, bring peace to me. Could I but guess, and I cannot.

And when the wind rose at my door It clamored with a plaintive din. Like some poor creature begging sore To be let in. I let it in.

It blew my light out. Round my head It whirled and swiftly in my ear Had whispered something ere it fled. It had her voice, so low, so clear.

The looking glass this evening day Has worn that curious, meaning air. I feel it when I look away. Reflecting, things that are not there.

For hours no breath of wind has stirred. Yet bends the lamp's flame as if fanned. The clock says 'tis day and 'tis not word. But—O God!—can't understand. —Gertrude Hall in Independent.

He Writ a Book. Fonder, sir, where you see them high weeds grow An briar wraps about the slab that's broken. They buried a man there three-to-two time ago That writ a book.

Don't seem to me I ever heard his name. But pap, who is the sexton here, he spoke To me one day about him. All the same, He writ a book.

What was the book about? I never knew. Pap never told me that an never took Interest in him further 'n I've told you— He writ a book. —Frank Bell in Nashville Sun.

Everybody Going to The State Fair

Advices for Accommodations Show Greatest Fair Gathering Ever Known.

With good crops and good fellowship existing throughout the State the crowds at the State Fair will be bigger and livelier than ever before. And Columbia will be in better shape to receive her guests than ever before. More boarding houses and homes have been listed than ever and the bureau of information is in position to take care of everybody.

As for the fair itself, it will be greater, grander and gayer than ever before. No better Fair ever known in the South than the State Fair at Columbia this year—Oct. 23 to Nov. 1. There will be more to see, more to enjoy, more to profit by than ever known anywhere outside of the national exposition and the agricultural stock, poultry and implement exhibits alone will more than repay anyone's visit to the Fair.

Besides these marvelous exhibits for which over $3,000 premium money will be paid, the races will attract thousands of people. Just think of purses for these races aggregating nearly $4,000. And some of the best scheduled running horses in America will race for these purses.

In the way of amusements, it is almost impossible to chronicle all the contests and games of all the functions scheduled for Fair Week. The big football games between Citadel and Welch Neck on Wednesday and Clemson and University of North Carolina will be held on Thursday, Oct. 31. Field athletics and other contests will be held nearly every day.

Theatres and the Midway will give pleasure for everybody, children and grown people. Tell your friends to meet you at the State Fair.

Real Estate Notice.

Parties wishing to buy or sell will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Am prepared with terms to satisfy every one. Have a number of city lots to dispose of and can furnish hundreds of acres in small or large lots throughout the county. M. E. Hollingsworth, Miller Hotel Kitchen.

C., at 10 o'clock, a. m., and on the same day will apply for a final discharge from my trust as such. All persons having demands against said estate will present them for payment on or before that day, proven and substantiated, or be forever barred. J. D. NEEL, Executor.

Notice of Partnership Dissolution.

Take notice, that by mutual consent the partnership composed of G. A. Harrison and W. C. Ward heretofore doing business under the firm name of Harrison & Ward, has been dissolved, that I have sold my interest in said firm to W. C. Ward and retired therefrom. October 1st, 1907. G. A. HARRISON.
