To the Public.

It gives me pleasure to announce that I have connected myself with the firm of The L. W. White Co., and to assure my many friends who have been so loyal to me in the past that I shall renew my efforts in this new firm to merit their continued confidence. Please call on me in my new place of business and be assured of a hearty welcome.

A STRONG FIRM.

C. A. Milford & Co., Druggists.

Dr. C. A. Milford who has been so long and so invorably known to our people as a good druggist and a good citizen has organized a general drug and book and stationery business of which he is the head, under the firm name of C. A. Milford & Co. Capt. Milford has associated with him some of the best young men of this day and time, and they bring to the firm the best ability, the highest integrity and an indomitable will to succeed. The new firm is composed of C. A. Milford, J. R. Power, J. R. Devlin, and George Penney.

Dr. J. R. Power is a son of Mr. H. J. Power of Antreville, and he is not only one of the best young men in the county, but he stands at the head of his profession, that of pharmadist. Some ten years ago he was graduated from the University of Maryland where he took the degree of Pharmaceutai Druggist. Eight years ago Dr. Power entered the sjore of Dr. Milford, and his conduct has won for him the respect and confidence of all of our people.

Mr. J. R. Devlin comes from Due West, be-Dr. C. A. Milford who has been so long and of Dr. Millord, and his conduct has won for him the respect and confidence of all of our people.

Mr. J. R. Devlin comes from Due West, being a son of the late John A. Devlin. He is a first honor man at Erskine College, and is first in the esteem of his fellow townsmen We will not print all the good things which his Due West neighbors say of him. It might make him vain. But we will say this, that some of them say that he has no superior as a good citizen. The college folk elected him to a Associate Professorship in Erskine College, which position be declined.

Dr. George Penney is a worthy son of a worthy sire, and, like his father, Dr. Wm. T. Penney, has the confidence and goodwill of all mankind. For nearly half a century his father was the honest, the competent and the faithful druggist. And his son, George, inherits the character, the ability and the fidelity of his honored father. In his father's drug store and in Dr. Milford's drug store he has been in the drug business for twenty years. And in all these years be has been correct, courteous and kind to everybody.

The place of business of C. A. Milford's Co. is in the stores formerly occupied by Dr. Milford and by Dr. P. B. Speed. Dr. Millord have the stores formerly occupied by Dr. Milford and by Dr. P. B. Speed. Dr. Millord have the stores formerly occupied by Dr. Milford and by Dr. P. B. Speed.
